MEDICAL AND MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL.

Calcutta, the 26th May 1881.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report on Calcutta Medical Institutions for 1880.

The public health of Calcutta was much better in 1880 than in any one of the five previous years. Deaths from cholera were less than half as numerous as in 1875 or 1876, and numbered only two-thirds of the deaths from this cause in 1879, itself the healthiest of the five years. In diarrhœa and dysentery, and in fevers, the mortality was also much lower in 1880 than in any of its five immediate predecessors. The general death-rate per mille was only 27·1, against 30·1 in 1876 and 30·3 in 1879, 31·9 in 1877, 32·7 in 1875, and 38·1 in 1878. Under these circumstances, it might be expected that the returns would show a falling off in the number of persons resorting for treatment to the Calcutta hospitals during the year. Such, however, is not the case. The following statement shows the number of deaths recorded in the town since 1875, and the number treated in the hospitals in each year:—

1876	12,964	267,914
1877	13,704	277,707
1878	16,396	263,575
1879	13,044	248,972
1880	11,681	258,123

2. The number of in-door and out-door patients treated during the past two years at each of the hospitals, whose working is reviewed in the report, was—

An increase is shown in the number of in-door patients at all except the Campbell and the Howrah hospitals. The decrease in the former was due to the reduction of the available space while the buildings were under repairs. Probably this circumstance contributed to the increase in the Medical College Hospital, but it is stated that the wards of the latter institution are nearly always full. Fluctuations in the actual number of persons treated must therefore depend very much on the severity or mildness of disease, and the consequently longer or shorter period of the average stay in hospital. At Howrah the decrease is attributed to improved public health, and to care in the selection of patients for admission. This hospital is not controlled by Government. At the two Calcutta hospitals which receive out-door patients there was an increase in the attendance—6,667 at the Medical College Hospital, and 3,443 at the Mayo Hospital and its attached dispensaries. A part of the increase at the Medical College Hospital was doubtless due to the opening of the new out-door dispensary on 1st July. The general death-rate at the Calcutta hospitals was 134·17 per mille against 155·62 in 1879. If the Howrah figures are included, the rate was 138·17 against 162·2. A decrease is shown at all except the Mayo hospital, where the rate rose from 139·36 to 143·19.

3 The figures showing the races and sexes of the persons treated in the different years are of little value for the purposes of comparison. The native races appear to resort to the hospitals in much the same proportion year after year. The proportion of male to female adults is about 4 to 1. Out of 163,925 adult males treated 15,584, and out of 40,563 adult females 4,298, were in-patients. Only 1,069 children out of 68,537 were treated in hospital. The death-rate among adults was 138·6, and among children only 133; but the number of the latter was so small that the general death-rate is only reduced to 138·17.

4. The following table shows the mortality in the hospitals during each of the past eight years:—

Years.	All Diseases, except cases treated in Eye Infirmary.			Cholera.			Death-rate, excluding cholera.	Number of deaths registered by the Municipality	Rate per mille of population
	Treated	Died.	Died per mille.	Treated.	Died	Died per mille.

The general death-rate was lower than in any year except 1877. The proportion of deaths from cholera was only lower in 1874 and 1875. If cholera deaths are excluded, the general death-rate among all races was 131 per mille against 150 in the previous year. If moribund and cholera cases are both excluded from the list of deaths among natives, the true native death-rate was 146·6 against 169·5 in 1879. The Surgeon-General makes the following observations on the general features of the statistics of disease in the hospitals :—

Regarding particular diseases, I may mention a marked reduction of cholera, corresponding with that of the town. The disease was fatal in an ordinary proportion of cases on the whole. The variation in this respect followed a well known law. Where cases were few and scattered mortality was high ; where they were more numerous the disease was less fatal in proportion. Of small-pox 97 cases were received into hospital and 26 died. There were 114 deaths recorded in the town, and if these bore the same proportion to the entire numbers of cases of diseases, they would represent nearly 400 such cases in the town alone. Inasmuch as the admissions to the Sealdah Hospital include cases from the Suburbs and Howrah, it would seem that a very small proportion of the town cases were received into hospital, which is unsatisfactory. Malarious fevers in the Medical College Hospital were, both in quantity and quality, much the same as in 1879. In the General Hospital they were reduced to less than half the number, and the mortality was very small. In the Mayo Hospital there was an increase both in number and severity. At the Campbell Hospital number and fatality were both reduced. The influence of reduced accommodation affected the numbers without doubt. At the Police Hospital numbers fell and mortality was nominal. At Howrah there was no great difference of quantity, but mortality fell largely among Europeans and rose among Natives. On the whole, there was considerable reduction both in prevalence and fatality of malarious fever. Respiratory affections presented no great variations in 1880. They were somewhat less fatal than before. Dysentery and diarrhœa showed jointly some reduction both of prevalence and death-rate. It is under these headings that the majority of hopeless cases are admitted into hospital. For child-birth women were received in greater number, and the deaths were fewer than in the previous year.

5. At the Medical College Hospital 2,426 European in-door patients were treated against 2,126 in the previous year, and 2,147 native in-door patients against 2,165. Of the former 169 and of the latter 419 died against 147 and 412 respectively in 1879. The death-rate was thus 69·66 among Europeans and 195·15 among natives as compared with 69·14 and 190·30. The general death-rate of all races was 128 of every 1,000 treated against 130 in 1879, 135 in 1878, 108 in 1877, 136 in 1876, 152 in 1875, and 125 in 1874. Though there was an increase in the number of persons treated in the European wards, there was a decrease in the purely European element, the sailors from the port resorting chiefly to the General Hospital during the year. The increase took place among the more weakly classes of East Indians, Chinese, Jews, and Armenians, so that the death-rate was doubtless less favourable in consequence than it would otherwise have been. The native death-rate of 195·15 is calculated on all cases. If moribund and cholera cases are excluded, the native death-rate was 146·6 against 140·6 in the previous year. It is stated that the native death-rate was affected by the circumstance that fewer pauper patients could be transferred to the Campbell Hospital owing to want of accommodation. The number transferred was only 537 against 902 in the previous year. Of the 588 persons who died, 69 were children. The children died at the same rate as the adults. Of the 169 deaths among Europeans, 22 were caused by fever, 14 by phthisis, 13 by diseases of the respiratory organs, 11 by dysentery, and 11 by diarrhœa. Of the 419 natives, 28 died of fever, 29 of cholera, 18 of phthisis, 35 of respiratory affections, 48 of dysentery, 14 of liver diseases, 22 of poisons and poisoned wounds, and 47 of injuries.

6. In the General Hospital 3,168 persons, all indoor patients, were treated against 3,115 of the same class in 1879, and 3,207 the average of the past ten years. The total number of deaths was 102 against 142 in 1879. The death-rate was 32 per mille against 45 in 1879 and 44 the average of ten years. There were 21 cases of cholera with 13 deaths, against 39 with 25 deaths in 1879, and 40 with 30 deaths in 1878. If cholera cases are excluded from consideration, the rate was 28 of every 1,000 treated, against 38 in 1879 and 33 the average of ten years. The death-rate among children was as high as 85 per mille, several being brought to the hospital in a dying condition ; but the total number of deaths was only 17, and the general death-rate was but slightly affected. There were only 415 cases of fever, against 994 in the previous year. The number of cholera cases, and the number of deaths from this cause, were both smaller than in any year since 1864. Of 76 persons treated for phthisis 17 died. In the previous year 11 out of 57 cases ended fatally. Dysentery and diarrhœa were both less common and less severe than 1879. Of the former there were 178 and of the latter only 157 cases against 200 and 207 respectively. The death-rate from dysentery was only 16, and that from diarrhœa only 25, against 65 and 72 in the previous year. Only five cases of liver disease out of 59 ended fatally against 12 out of 54 in 1879.

7. In the Campbell Hospital 12 Europeans and 6,869 natives were treated against 234 Europeans and 8,059 natives in 1879. Of the Europeans 10 were small-pox patients, and of these 2 died. The native death-rate was 230 per mille, against 263 in 1879 and 253 in 1878. Of 273 children treated, 41 died. The death-rate among adults was really 234. If cholera and moribund cases are excluded, the native death-rate was 204 against 235 in the previous year. There were 23 native deaths from small-pox out of 76 cases. Phthisis was more common than in 1879, though not so fatal. There were 233 cases against 169, and the death-rate was 44 per cent against 55. Dropsy caused 115 deaths out of 208 cases, against 165 out of 289 in the previous year. Of dysentery 844 cases with 408 deaths were treated, against 975 with 500 deaths, and of diarrhœa 580 with 315 deaths against 867 with 478.

8. The circumstances of the Police Hospital, as was observed in the Resolution on the last report, are quite exceptional. The true death-rate in this hospital was only 7·7 per mille.

9. In the Mayo Hospital, and its allied hospital of the Chandney, only natives are treated. The number was 2,130 against 2,045 in 1879. Of 103 children treated 16 died. The death-rate among adults was only 142. The general death-rate was 143 against 139. After exclusion of cholera and moribund cases, it was 98 against 91. In this hospital, unlike the others, there was an increase in fever cases. The number treated was 532 against 444, and the mortality was 80 per mille against 54. There were 137 cases of cholera with 61 deaths, against 186 with 88. Cases of chest affection rose from 134 to 173, and the deaths from 23 to 43. Dysentery shows 124 cases with 28 deaths, against 78 with 14.

10. In the Howrah Hospital 612 Europeans and East Indians, and 945 natives, were treated, against 594 and 1,176 respectively. Of 56 children treated, 12 died; the rate was thus 214 per mille. The death-rate among adults was 186. The general rate was thus raised to 188. The death-rate among the European class was 29 against 53 in 1879, 55 in 1878, and 39 in 1877. Among natives the death-rate was 292, against 332, 346, and 252 respectively in the three previous years. More than one-fifth of the deaths among native patients occurred during the first 24 hours after admission. It is notorious that coolies from the interior, who have been employed in the mills and workshops at Howrah, generally go to the hospital only in the last extremity. If cholera and moribund cases are excluded, the death-rate is reduced to 243 in 1880 and 287 in 1879. Of the 18 Europeans and Eurasians 4 died of cholera, 3 of phthisis, and 3 of dysentery. Among natives 33 died of fever out of 202, 18 of cholera out of 29, 8 of dropsy out of 22; 53 of dysentery out of 111, 101 of diarrhœa out of 197, and 8 of debility out of 18.

11. The death-rate in cases of major operations in the hospitals, exclusive of eye cases, was 166 against 175 in 1879, 121 in 1878, 204 in 1877, 255 in 1876, and 295 in 1875. Such figures, however, give no reliable information as to the actual relation between operation and death. The condition of the patient, the idiosyncrasy of the operator, local circumstances antecedent or subsequent to operation, and a number of influences which cannot possibly find arithmetical expression, affect the details of any table of operations and their results. Numbers of cases are entered as deaths in the operation list, which must have ended fatally whether operation had or had not been performed. As Dr. Payne remarks, operation is a process of treatment, not a disease; and the Lieutenant-Governor accepts his view that no detailed examination of the list as a whole need be undertaken.

12. It is chiefly in its relation to the question of septic disease in the hospitals that an examination of the results of some of the operations is of interest. Dr. Payne gives the details of four classes of operations, surgically simple, but particularly liable to be followed by septic affections. These are amputation through the thigh, the leg, the arm, and the forearm :—

	Thigh.			Leg.			Arm.			Forearm.
	Operations.	Deaths.	Deaths per mille.	Operations.	Deaths.	Deaths per mille.	Operations.	Deaths.	Deaths per mille.	Operations.	Deaths.	Deaths per mille.
1873 to 1876	.....	.....	694	.....	.....	500	.....	.....	414	.....	.....	182
1877	16	10	625	13	4	307	9	4	444	26	.....	.....
1878	7	3	428	16	7	437	8	... ..	.....	13	3	230
1879	12	6	500	20	9	450	8	1	125	15	3	200
1880	16	4	250	13	3	230	12	4	333	7	1	143

From this table it appears that, in the most dangerous of these operations—amputation of the thigh—the results of the past year were singularly good. The number of cases was the same as in 1877, while the deaths were less than half as numerous as in that year. The leg and forearm operations were also very successful; while in arm amputations there were 4 deaths out of 12 against only 1 out of 16 in the two previous years. In the Medical College Hospital the results of the thigh operations were particularly striking. Here only 2 cases out of 10 ended fatally. The year before 2 out of 4 resulted in death, while the average death-rate from 1870 to 1877 was no less than 667 per mille. In the same hospital death supervened in 2 out of 5 cases of the much simpler operation of amputation of the arm, though 7 cases were operated in the two previous years without a single death. It may at once be said that 10 cases of thigh amputation could not be conducted with only 2 deaths, if there was anything in the construction of the building that necessarily fostered septic disease. In cases of scrotal tumour, a class of operation specially prone to the disease, there was also a reduction in mortality. Six persons died out of 54 treated, and the death-rate per mille was 111 against 123 in 1879 and 142 the average of the years between 1865 and 1875. That the general improvement has been the result of a decrease in septic affection is clearly established. Whether that decrease has or has not resulted from the employment of Professor Lister's system proper is not so clear. Dr. McLeod treated to conclusion 20 cases of scrotal tumour—11 on Lister's system, and 9 otherwise. Of the former 2, and of the latter 1, died fatally. Dr. Raye treated 14 cases with ordinary dressings, and of these 3 resulted in death. The Surgeon-General reports that the strict antiseptic system compared with the results of the five years 1875 to 1879, when modified antiseptics were used, represents a mortality in excess of the latter by 3·72 per cent. The comparative merits of the two systems can only be established by lengthened experience. Meanwhile, there can be no doubt that antiseptic practice has brought about great improvements in regard to general care and cleanliness in dealing with cases. So long as it is found that difficult cases can be successfully treated under the old system with due attention to these points, it will not be sufficient, in order to establish the efficacy of strict Listerism, to show that similar cases are also successfully treated according to it. Dr. Raye admits that Lister's dressings are very valuable in certain cases, and it appears that he uses them in all severe operations But there is much practical truth in what he says in defence of his use of a less elaborate system, combined with cleanliness, in minor cases It is important to bear in mind that the hospital is a teaching institution. Most of the students will be called upon in the course of their practice to treat a class of patients who will not be able to afford the expensive appliances required for strict Listerism. For the purposes of these students, it will be of little advantage that they should learn how to cure people with such means only as must in the majority of cases be out of their reach. Dr. Raye says: "For minor cases I used the ordinary and less elaborate dressings commonly employed in surgery, partly because I did not consider antiseptics needed in such cases, partly also because the cases in the wards being used for teaching purposes, I thought it desirable that the students should learn the more simple methods, and not imagine that no wound would heal without antiseptics, and with the object of impressing upon their attention that manipulative skill and cleanliness were in reality all that was necessary in most cases to secure perfect results." Without desiring in any way to fetter

the discretion of the surgeons of the hospital in the use of appliances for the relief of the sick, or the pursuit of science, the Lieutenant-Governor considers that the practical view of the case should not be lost sight of. As regards septic disease generally, it appears that 56 cases of blood-poisoning in its various forms were treated in the surgical wards. Of these, only 17 originated in the Hospital—nine in Dr. McLeod's ward, and eight in Dr. Raye's ward. Of the former, four were cases of scrotal tumour. Of the latter, two were wholly beyond control, both being affected with "surgical kidney." Of the number of deaths after operation, 6, or 12·5 per cent, as against 20·9 per cent in 1879 were due to blood-poison, and in one of these the disease was present when the patient was admitted.

13. The number of patients treated by the Obstetric Physician shows a steady increase. The figures are—1875, 1,004; 1876, 1,153; 1877, 1,109; 1878, 1,238; 1879, 1,204; 1880, 1,277. There were 296 deliveries against 247 in 1879 and 216 in 1875. Of the women confined, 23 were Europeans, 88 East Indians, and 185 natives. On the recommendation of Dr. Charles, who administered the Obstetric Hospital for many years with remarkable success, the Lieutenant-Governor has decided to establish a certain number of stipends to enable women to study midwifery in the wards. There can be little doubt that the want of trained nurses in the interior of the country is severely felt.

14. The Ophthalmic Hospital shows a slight decrease in the number of in-patients and a considerable increase in the number of out-patients. The former numbered 516, against 523 in 1879 and 546 in 1878. The latter numbered 6,312 against 6,054 in 1879. The figures of results of operations which the Surgeon-General gives include apparently all eye operations at the different hospitals. It will be better to examine the statistics of the Ophthalmic Hospital only in future.

15. Enteric fever only appeared in the General and the Howrah Hospitals during the year. There were 6 cases in the first-named hospital against 11 in 1879, and 13 the average of the previous eight years. In Howrah there were 2 cases against 4 in 1879, 2 in 1878, and 4 in 1877. Before 1877 no cases of fever were recorded as enteric in this hospital. In the Mayo and Chandney Hospitals there have been no cases since 1876, and in the Campbell Hospital none since 1874. There was no enteric fever in the Medical College Hospital. There were 2 cases in 1879, and from 1871 to 1877 cases were regularly recorded. It is doubtful if these were all really cases of enteric fever.

16. The use of the cinchona febrifuge in substitution for quinine continues to increase. Of the former, 161lbs and of the latter 19lbs were used. In 1876 the proportions were 1lb and 195lbs respectively, and in 1877 47lbs and 101lbs. The value of the febrifuge has now been definitely established, and the public demand for it is increasing daily.

17. With reference to paragraph 31 of his report, the Surgeon-General should inform the officer in charge that it is not desirable that any experiments to test the fuller efficacy of Dr. MacCormac's prophylactic against cholera should be made in the hospitals. Attention can best be confined to the treatment of existing disease. The object of the Secretary of State in forwarding Dr. MacCormac's letters to the Government of India was merely that all medical officers might be made aware of the fact that in the year 1854 fifty cases of cholera occurred in a public institution in Belfast, that a mixture of dilute sulphuric acid and peppermint was administered to all the inmates as a prophylactic, and that the cessation of the outbreak was synchronous with the dosing of the establishment. This circumstance has been made known to all medical officers under this Government; and nothing further is required. The Surgeon-General very correctly remarks that the administration of sulphuric acid to persons under treatment for other diseases might be open to serious objection.

18. The total expenditure at the Medical College Hospital was Rs. 1,06,750 against Rs. 1,01,453 in 1879. The former sum, however, includes a charge of Rs. 10,872 for repairs, while the expenditure under this head in 1879 was only Rs. 2,887. The charge for medicines was reduced by the transfer of the out-patients to the Choonee Lal Seal Dispensary in the second-half of the year. The amount expended from the funds of the dispensary on this account was Rs. 2,712. The total cost of diets was Rs. 29,753 against Rs. 30,854 in 1879. In 1875 the cost was Rs. 48,209, and in 1876 it was Rs. 46,303. The average cost of diet, calculated on the number who actually consumed it, was 6 annas 6 pie for Europeans and 2 annas 10 pie for natives. The cost in 1879 was 6 annas 7½ pie and 3 annas 1 pie respectively. In the Mayo Hospital the average cost of native diets during the year was 2 annas 11 pie. The cost of stimulants was Rs. 531 against Rs. 806 in 1879, Rs. 814 in 1878, Rs. 3,530 in 1877, Rs. 4,607 in 1876, and Rs. 6,488 in 1875. Dr. Coates reports thus: "We have plenty of money to spare for any and everything required in the way of necessaries and delicacies, and we do not hesitate to spend freely in such cases. Every item that every officer has ordered for his patients has been supplied without question or enquiry; interference was not needed. The many lady visitors to the hospital, the various clergymen and scripture-readers, and the friends of the sick who stream into the hospital at all hours and converse freely and separately with the inmates, have in no one instance brought to our notice any deficiency or inferiority in the quality of the food and comforts given to the patients throughout the year." Arrangements have been made to secure unadulterated milk for the patients. It is quite clear that the existing rates are ample to secure a sufficient supply of wholesome food and stimulants for the patients. The Lieutenant-Governor remarked in the resolution on the last report that the funds of the special endowments should be fully utilized for the benefit of the poor patients discharged from the hospital It is not stated why the disbursements from these funds only amounted to Rs. 834 in 1880 against Rs. 2,311 in 1879. The actual cost of the hospital to Government, exclusive of the salaries of the medical officers who are Professors of the College, was Rs. 97,829 against Rs. 94,933 in 1879. The expenditure in the Choonee Lal Seal Dispensary was Rs. 3,342. The income from the endowment is about Rs. 2,000. The excess of expenditure over income was met from the cash balance that had accumulated. The Lieutenant-Governor is informed that there was a good deal of initial expenditure on instruments and the like that need not be repeated.

19. The total expenditure at the General Hospital was Rs. 1,02,352 against Rs. 94,664 in 1879. The increase was chiefly the result of the increase in the daily average number of sick from 134 to 152. It was also found necessary to replace the old stock of clothing during the year. The receipts from private patients and from the Port Hospital Fund on account of seamen treated in the hospital amounted to Rs. 65,168 against Rs. 61,241 in 1879. The net cost to Government was Rs. 37,183 against Rs. 33,422. There was an increase in the expenditure on diet and stimulants from Rs. 23,908 in 1879 to Rs. 28,417; but the average was practically the same in both years, 7 annas 11 pie in 1880 and 7 annas 10 pie in 1879. The average expenditure on European medicines for the year was Rs. 34 against Rs. 50 in 1879. It is explained, however, that there was a considerable quantity of medicines in store at the beginning of 1879.

20. In the Campbell Hospital the expenditure of the year was Rs. 69,296 against Rs. 69,132 in 1879. Of this, Government contributed Rs. 37,562 and the Calcutta Municipality Rs. 30,000. Petty receipts from paying patients, the Port Hospital Fund, sale of grass, &c., aggregated Rs. 1,733. There was some increase in the expenditure on extras and stimulants, owing to the number of cases of severe accidents admitted during the year. The average cost of European diets was 7 annas 9 pie, 2 pie less than at the General Hospital. The average cost of each patient during the year was 2 annas 7·6 pie against 2 annas 7·3 pie in 1879, 2 annas 6 pie in 1878, and 3 annas 8 pie in 1877. There was an increase in the cost of European medicines, but it appears that here, as at the General Hospital, the wants of the hospital in 1879 were to some extent supplied from the surplus stock of the previous year.

21. The Mayo Hospital shows a reduction in gross expenditure from Rs. 59,774 to Rs. 55,159 and the Governors were able to add Rs. 2,500 to their vested capital of the Institution, while retaining a floating balance of Rs. 3,515 at the close of the year. The contribution from Government was Rs. 37,370, inclusive of Rs. 7,000 which the Lieutenant-Governor has, with the concurrence of the Governors, fixed as the annual grant to represent the value of medicines and forms previously supplied.

22. The Howrah Hospital opened the year with a cash balance of Rs. 13,191. The income of the year, Rs. 40,413, was made up of Rs. 8,650 from Government, Rs. 2,929 from Municipal Funds, Rs. 875 from interest on investments, Rs. 27,447 subscriptions from Europeans, chiefly from the East Indian Railway Company, British Indian Steam Navigation Company, Limited, and the manufacturing companies of the neighbourhood, and Rs. 512 subscriptions from natives. The hospital expenditure was Rs. 34,950 against Rs. 28,434 in the previous year Investments to the amount of Rs. 17,251 were made, and the year closed with a cash balance of Rs. 1,403. There was an unexplained increase of Rs. 616 in the expenditure on European medicines, and the charges for diet were higher by Rs 497 than in 1879. The average cost of European diets was 7 annas 11 pie,—the same as at the General Hospital,—and of native diets 1 anna 7 pie.

23. The daily average number of in-patients throughout the year in all the hospitals was 1,110 5 (303 5 Europeans and 807 natives), and the daily average number of out-patients was 1,960 (122 Europeans and 1,838 natives.) The total expenditure was Rs. 3,13,477, made up of Rs. 1,37,700 for establishment, Rs. 36,020 for medicines, Rs. 1,00,994 for diet, extras and stimulants, and Rs. 38,763 for miscellaneous charges, chiefly for repairs to buildings. Of the total amount of Rs 3,13,477, Government contributed Rs. 2,33,642.

24. The changes in hospital administration, which were introduced by the Lieutenant-Governor on the report of the Committee on Medical Expenditure, have now been in operation for three years, and it is interesting to note their results as presented in the hospital returns. It is shown that while the expenditure has been largely reduced, there has been a considerable increase in the number of patients treated in the different hospitals and a decrease in the rate of mortality among them. The question of the sufficiency of the scales for the wants of the sick in hospital has now passed beyond the range of controversy, while Dr. Coates' report, quoted above in paragraph 18, shows how false were the assertions that the medical officers were stinted in the supply of articles necessary for the health and comfort of the sick. The value of the allegations that the hospitals would lose their attractiveness for the sick, and that the latter would suffer from want of necessaries, because a check was placed upon wasteful expenditure, may be seen from the following figures. The year 1877 is omitted as it was one of transition:—

Both 1875 and 1878 were unhealthy years. On the other hand the Campbell Hospital was partly closed in 1880 for repairs, and there was consequently a decrease of 1,190 in the number of indoor patients. The following are the figures under the head of diet and stimulants. Separate figures are not available for 1874. The cost of medicines in each hospital was not regularly given in the earlier reports, so that materials for exhaustive comparison under this head are wanting.

Thus, while the number of patients increased and the ratio of deaths decreased in the three years 1878-80, there was a large decrease, instead of a corresponding increase, in expenditure.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution and of the Report be submitted for the information of the Government of India, in the Home, Revenue and Agricultural Department.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Surgeon-General, Bengal, for information and guidance.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution and of the Report be forwarded to the Chairman of the Corporation of the Town of Calcutta, and to the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, for information.

Ordered also that the foregoing Resolution, together with the reports from the First and Second Surgeons of the Medical College Hospital on the subject of Antiseptic Surgery, be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

APPENDIX I.

Report by the First Surgeon, Medical College Hospital, on Antiseptic Surgery.

THE number and varieties of septic diseases treated during the year were as follow :—

Pyæmia ...	... 3 cases.	3	deaths.
Septicæmia ...	... 3 „	3	„
Erysipelas ...	... 7 „	2	„
Gangrenous cellulitis	... 2 „	1	„
Total	... 15 „	9	„

The number of cases treated in the wards during the year was 577, and the number of deaths which occurred amongst these, 63.

2. Out of these 15 cases, six, namely two cases of pyæmia, one of septicæmia, two of erysipelas, and one of gangrenous cellulitis, were admitted into hospital with the disease fully developed. That disease of septic type occurs in Calcutta, beyond the precincts of hospitals, I have had abundant evidence in practice. I have lately met with a case of erysipelas of the face following removal of a wen from the scalp by operation, a severe case of "idiopathic" cutaneous erysipelas affecting the general surface, and a fatal case of facial erysipelas of very severe type and rapid course.

3. Of the remaining nine cases, seven followed operation and were unquestionably caused thereby. Of these, four were cases of erysipelas, three of which occurred in cases of scrotal tumour. A case of pyæmia followed removal of an osseous tumour of the lower jaw; septicæmia followed tracheotomy and necrosis of the larynx, and sloughing cellulitis supervened on a scrotal operation. Four out of the seven were cases of removal of scrotal elephantiasis. These have always been found very specially prone to hospitalism. The wound is a very large one, the period of its repair very protracted, the constitutional rigour of the subjects of the disease generally below par, and sources of contamination exist adjacent to the sore. Of the remaining two cases, one was a wound which had been inoculated with filth and went rapidly "wrong," and the other was a case of ulcer in process of healing, which seemed in some mysterious way to be the starting point of erysipelas.

4. Having been in charge of the Second Surgeon's wards from 1st April 1874 to 15th June 1875, I am in a position to compare, on the grounds of personal experience, two periods separated by an interval of five years. I have no hisitation in stating that the prevalence of "hospitalism" has been very decidedly less in the year 1880 than in 1874-75. Erysipelas then prevailed epidemically in the hospital, and almost every entry of the knife into tissue was succeeded by cellulitis or erysipelas, and occasionally by the graver form of septic infection. I practised what I thought was antiseptic surgery, and was grievously disappointed with the result. It was not until I went to Edinburgh in 1876, and followed Professor Lister in his wards, that I became aware that what I had been doing was not in full accord with his tenets and teaching, and that a "modified antiseptic" system is a delusion.

5. This leads me to offer some remarks on antiseptic surgery with special regard to its preventive control over "hospitalism." The fact that "hospitalism" has decreased with the increased use of antiseptics is undeniable. Other influences may have been in operation, but I am inclined to attach to these a secondary value. Not one of the cases in which I have succeeded in carrying out strict "Listerism" since I rejoined the hospital in April 1879 has manifested any sign or form of septic infection. In the seven post-operation cases referred to in paragraph 3, either Listerism could not be employed (cases 3, 4, 7), was not employed (case 15), or having been tried failed (cases 11, 12, 13). In the treatment of the other cases, "Listerism," for various reasons, could not be established. Short of rigid "Listerism," however, that is maintenance of a perfectly aseptic state of wound or sore, and complete prevention of putrefaction from beginning to end of the case, the "modified antiseptic" or disinfectant plan of treatment must exercise an advantageous influence on the patient by way of diminishing the risk of septic infection, and a still greater on the ward and hospital by way of preventing contamination of the atmosphere, &c., with septic impurities.

6. But I believe that the practice of strict antiseptic surgery confers other very substantial advantages in addition to the prevention of septic infection, by aborting the development of septic products in a wound or sore. It reduces mortality, diminishes suffering, and accelerates repair and recovery. When it succeeds, local inflammation and general febrile disturbance are absent, and the natural reparative processes are fulfilled without hinderance. The practice is rather preventive of mischief than corrective of it. When mischief, local or constitutional, does set in, the disinfectant plan may limit its harmful influence, but the aim of antiseptic surgery is mainly preventive, and the scope of its operation embraces a large portion, but not the whole, of the field of practical surgery.

7. It is difficult from bare figures to prove absolute reduction of mortality in operative surgery. So many circumstances, which cannot be represented arithmetically, enter into the question. In 1879 I find that the mortality of operations in the Second Surgeon's ward, of which I was in charge for nine months, was 18 per cent. In 1880 the mortality of operations similarly tabulated in the First Surgeon's ward has been about 10 per cent. I attribute the reduction to the more careful and successful practice of antiseptic surgery. The operations were not less severe, nor the circumstances demanding them less serious, in the one period than in the other. The statistics of particular operations support the general conclusion: 13 amputations, including four of the thigh, two of the shoulder joint, three of the arm, two of the leg, one of the forearm, and one of the hand,—all recovered. In some of these cases the conditions—injuries and diseases—necessitating removal of limb were severe, and the constitutional condition of the patient by no means promising. The cases in which the antiseptic system succeeded best recovered best and fastest. In one case, that of a child of two and a half years, in which amputation of the arm was performed for an enormous sarcoma of the forearm, I allowed the friends to take the little patient home. The child was brought to hospital every second or third day to be dressed, and the result was perfect repair in 13 days. There was no death among 10 operations for removal of necrosed and carious bone, in which the sound bone surrounding was freely divided. In two cases of scirrhus of the mamma I cleared out the axilla, thoroughly removing all its glands, and both recovered satisfactorily. I shall not carry the analysis further, as I intend publishing a précis of all the cases in the Indian Medical Gazette. The general result of the year's experience is greatly in favour of strict antiseptic surgery.

8. I have already remarked on the great difficulty experienced in keeping the large wounds resulting from the removal of scrotal tumours aseptic, and the special proneness of these to become the nidus of septic infection. In 1879 five of these cases contracted erysipelas, and in 1880 three. I have endeavoured to treat these cases during the past six months in accordance with strict Listerism. In all cases in which I have succeeded in arresting putridity, the result has been most satisfactory as regards rapidity of repair and avoidance of constitutional disturbance. Surgical fevers may roughly be classed as reactive, irritative, or absorptive. Listerism abolishes the last, which is also the most severe and dangerous, and this has been remarkably illustrated in these scrotal operations. Only one case in which septicity was thwarted has died, and that from causes which I could not associate with the state of the wound. Indeed, so speedy and perfect was the repair in this instance that I removed the parts after death, and exhibited them to the Medical Society as a good illustration of rapid repair of a severe injury under antiseptic precautions. Failures will occur in many of these cases, owing to circumstances which it is difficult to anticipate or control; but my experience has taught me that even here strict antiseptic practice is capable of saving much suffering and some lives.

9 I am not so sanguine as to believe and assert that Listerism is capable of abolishing hospitalism entirely. Septic diseases, according to the most recent doctrines, possess a threefold causation,—constitutional, hygienic, and local. In so far as the practice of antiseptic surgery prevents putrefaction and other septic changes in wounds, it removes the local cause and tends also to minimize the hygienic cause. Over constitutional defects it exercises less influence. But if secondary fever is added to original constitutional debility, vital resistance is thereby lowered, and by obviating secondary fever antiseptics also attack and weaken the third causative factor. It is necessary, however, to guard against neglect of the personal and hygienic elements of the question in working at and discussing the local element.

10. On the whole, the experience of the past year has impressed me with a conviction of the immense value of strict antiseptic surgery in procuring the recovery of persons afflicted with wounds or sores, and preventing the occurrence of conditions retarding cure or causing death. I have come to consider it a sacred and imperative duty to endeavour, to the best of my ability and means, to prevent every breach of surface, whether wound or sore, from becoming the seat of septic change; and if it has already done so, to correct the vice and restore it to sweetness. In slight cases the process is easy and inexpensive; in severe, it requires greater trouble and involves more cost. It is impossible, however, in the most trivial case, say a small stab, or slight scalp wound, to be certain that septic contamination of the wound may not result in profound and fatal septic infection; on that account I teach and practise in every surgical case which I treat, as close an approach to absolute Listerism, which may be called the perfection of surgical cleanliness, as possible.

11. The appliances used are now all prepared in the hospital; and, looking to the comparatively infrequent change of dressings, the speedier convalescence and the diminished consumption of alcholic stimulants, I suspect that the strict pursuance of antiseptic surgery does not, on the whole, materially add to the cost of treating patients in the surgical wards. I have very seldom found it necessary to prescribe alcohol in any form to patients during the past year, and when I have ordered stimulants it has mostly been in consequence of septic fever having somehow occured.

Professor of Surgery and First Surgeon.

APPENDIX II.

Report by the Second Surgeon, Medical College Hospital, on Antiseptic Surgery.

I USE the word septicæmia in its fullest sense, including pyæmia proper, and even the mildest forms of erysipelas.

By antiseptics I mean the method of dressing wounds introduced by Professor Lister, and mainly consisting of a free use of carbolic acid in various ways.

Using the word antiseptics in this full sense, I should mention that I have not employed them indiscriminately in all cases, but only for the more severe operations, such as amputations, hernias, and large chronic abscesses, &c. For minor cases I used the ordinary [illegible] elaborate dressings commonly employed in surgery, partly because I did not [illegible] antiseptics needed in such cases, partly also because the cases in the wards being [illegible] for teaching purposes, I thought it desirable that the students should learn the [illegible] methods and not imagine that no wound would heal without antiseptics, and [illegible] object of impressing upon their attention that manipulative skill and cleanliness [illegible] reality all that was necessary in most cases to secure perfect results. The practical [illegible] ing of such a doctrine is, I consider, of great importance amongst students who [illegible] will hereafter be amongst people unable to give such large fees as would secure the [illegible] somewhat expensive appliances necessary for carrying out Listerism in every-day [illegible]

The number of cases of septic poisoning, mild and severe, treated has been consid[illegible] and, were I to attend merely to figures, I could not say that in my hands antisept[illegible] been very successful, but figures notwithstanding, I think I may safely state the fo[illegible] opinions:—

1. In severe recent open wounds, whether following operations or accidents, antiseptics thoroughly applied do afford the patient a considerable degree of safety and materially reduce the chance of his contracting the severer forms of septic disease. I shall adduce but one fact bearing on this point. There were 16 amputations of all sorts performed by me during the year, all dressed antiseptically; amongst these 16 cases so treated, osteomyelitis occurred but once, and in that case it was doubtful whether the bone was not affected before the operation.

2. I doubt if antiseptics have much effect in controlling the spread of simple erysipelas, for I noticed that, when once introduced into the wards, this disease attacked patients dressed antiseptically or non-antiseptically with about equal impartiality.

3. When severe septicæmia has once been established in the system, I believe that antiseptic dressings to a wound have absolutely no effect in controlling the progress of the disease. Whether by disinfecting the discharges in such cases they may protect other patients is a different question, and I am inclined to think that they might do so.

4. In treating large chronic abscesses, such as iliac and psoas abscess, Lister's dressing seems to me invaluable. In the few such cases which came under my care, putrefaction of the abscess contents was controlled in a way that surpasses any other dressing with which I am acquainted.

It is a matter of difficulty to fairly estimate the value of any solitary measure or mode of treatment in controlling septic diseases; for not only are the causes of such diseases probably various, but now-a-days no single precautionary measure is, I fancy, ever trusted to; general cleanliness of the wards and beds, as well as of the dressings, antiseptic or otherwise, needing much care.

As an instance of the effects of cleanliness, I would point to the first five cases in the table appended. Finding the disease (erysipelas) spreading, I had all the dressings in use changed, and Dr. Smith had the sacking of the beds destroyed, as they were old and greatly soiled. After this the disease ceased. Here no antiseptics were used. Cleanliness alone, combined with careful dressing in the ordinary way, and isolation of the dressers to individual cases, seemed sufficient.

Some of the cases of erysipelas which occurred during the year were clearly imported from outside; some seemed to originate in the tents and wards, but by isolation of patients and dressers, and cleanliness in the dressings, the disease never assumed any formidable proportions.

Having had no personal experience of the hospital in former years, I cannot compare the results attained by the present more close attention to antiseptic surgery with what was attained in former years, except by statistics, and for such a purpose crude figures would not be of any value.

It should not be overlooked that our predecessors at this hospital also used antiseptics of various kinds before the present elaborate use of carbolic acid became the general fashion, and many of the leading London surgeons stoutly maintain that some of the older antiseptic media are quite as good as the new, and publicly challenge Professor Lister and his disciples to a practical comparison of the results. The difficulty therefore of judging of the effects of Listerism, as opposed to the other methods of dressing wounds, is obviously very great.

I append a tabular statement of all cases in which any form of septic disease appeared in my wards during the year. It should be noticed that this table includes mild cases of transitory erysipelas and other mild septic diseases. A large number of these patients were admitted for diseases other than septicæmic, and hence would not appear in an annual return as having suffered from septic poisoning. For instance,—a patient is admitted suffering from abscess; he gets mild cutaneous erysipelas for a few days while under treatment for the abscess. Such a patient would appear only as a case of abscess, and the erysipelas would not be noticed any more than if he had had diarrhœa for a day or two.

The inclusion of such cases swells the table appended considerably.

Excluding milder cases, which must, I fear, always be expected to appear from time to time in hospitals, the severer cases numbered 17. These 17 cases are of two classes—those occurring primarily in the hospital, of which there were eight; and those admitted already suffering from blood poisoning, numbering nine.

Of the eight severe cases which originated in the hospital, two were wholly beyond control,—namely a lithotrity and a lithotomy case, both affected with "surgical kidney," and neither therefore capable of being saved by any hygienic or antiseptic means. This reduces the number of possibly preventible severe cases occurring in the wards to six.

In conclusion, although I would never hope to absolutely prevent septicæmia—for it occurs even in cases in which there is no wound nor injury—yet I think that a careful use of antiseptics combined with hospital cleanliness may reduce the number of cases occurring in hospital to smaller figures.

Offg. Second Surgeon.

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE JUTE WAREHOUSE AND FIRE-BRIGADE ACT IN CALCUTTA.

No. 29, dated Calcutta, the 2nd June 1881.

From—H. L. HARRISON, Esq., Offg. Chairman of the Corporation of the Town of Calcutta,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

MY predecessor in his letter No. 76, dated the 24th of June 1880, reported on the working of the Jute Warehouse and Fire-brigade Act from 1st of January 1879 to the 31st of March 1880, and I have now the honor to submit the following report for the year ending 31st March last.

2. The report showed that 75 jute warehouses had been licensed within the town of Calcutta on the 31st of March 1880. In the month of April 1880, the premises Nos. 56-57, Strand Road, were divided, the number therefore that stood in the register for the year 1880-81 was 76, but only 68 owners have taken out licenses for the entire year, showing a decrease of 8, which is accounted for as follows:—

1. No. 24, Hurro Chunder Mullick's Lane was refused a license as the premises were not in a satisfactory state; a license was, however, granted from the third quarter, after the necessary repairs had been effected and approved of by the Engineer to the Corporation.
2. No. 6, Beniatollah Street.
3. Nos. 93 to 96, Chitpore Road.
4. No. 178, Upper Chitpore Road, &c.

5. No. 113, Bowbazar Street.
6. No. 202, Durmahatta Street.
7. Nos. 1 to 5 and 10 to 15, Manick Bose's Ghât Street.
8. No. 27, Strand Road.

Licenses were not applied for for the above four premises as it was stated that jute was not stored in them. The godowns No. 113, Bowbazar Street, however, took fire on the 8th November last, when it was discovered that a quantity of jute had been surreptitiously stored in them. The parties were convicted and fined Rs. 50. The remaining three were kept closed.

3. Five new warehouses were completed, but only four licensed from the dates on which business was commenced up to the 31st March. The total number therefore of jute warehouses licensed on the 31st of March 1881 was 73, as per list annexed.

4. During the year there were only three prosecutions under the Act. One, as above stated, against the occupiers of No. 113, Bowbazar Street, and two under section 6, clause 2, for drying jute on the roofs without sanction of the Commissioners. The parties were fined Rs. 50 each, but the amount does not appear in the accounts as it was not remitted from the Police Office till after the close of the year.

5. Orders were passed during the year to extend the operations of the Act to warehouses for hemp and flax, but no income is anticipated from this source. A list has been prepared of all the cotton shops liable to pay for a license, but the receipts from this source will be very trifling. The question of how to raise the income of the jute fund so as to equal the expenditure is now before the Commissioners, and will shortly form the subject of a separate report.

6. The following statement shows how the account stood at the close of the year ending 31st March 1881 :—

REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF CIVIL JUSTICE IN THE SONTHAL PERGUNNAHS DURING THE YEAR 1880.

JUDICIAL.

Dated Darjeeling, the 6th June 1881.

READ—

The Annual Report on the Administration of Civil Justice in the Sonthal Pergunnahs for the year 1880.

Read again—

The Reports for 1878 and 1879, and the orders of Government recorded upon them.

The progress of litigation in the Sonthal Pergunnahs during the past three years is shown in the following statement :—

2. As regards civil suits, the year was in every respect a normal one, and there was no cause operating to any extent either to repress or stimulate litigation. The excitement and fear that prevailed in connection with the census prevented the people in some parts of the district from attending the courts in order to file their plaints ; but this was not until the middle of December, and the litigation of the year was therefore not materially affected. The preparations for the census, however, interfered very considerably with the disposal of the judicial work before the courts, and the result was a falling off in the number of each class of cases disposed of as compared with the returns of the previous year. Altogether the number of cases—civil and revenue suits and executions of decrees—disposed of in the past year fell short of the number disposed of in 1879 by more than two thousand cases, and short of the number disposed of in 1878 by more than four thousand cases. Owing, however, to the great decrease in the past four years in the number of revenue suits, the total number of cases pending at the close of the year 1880 was only 453 in excess of the number pending at the close of the previous year and 379 less than the number pending at the close of the year 1878. Of the total number of cases pending at the close of the year, 921 were civil suits ; but as there is now no special work to engross the attention of the local officers, the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the return for the present quarter will show that a large proportion of these cases has been disposed of. Of the total number of civil cases on the file during the year, 79 per cent. were for unredeemed credit, as compared with 76 per cent. in 1879. The number of cases for damages and mesne profits was 313, for marriage expenses 153, and for breach of contract 67. The percentage of civil suits disposed of on their merits was 63, the same as in the previous year, and one per cent. more than in 1878. The percentages in the different sub-divisions were 58, 66, 70, and 66 in Doomka, Rajmehal, Deoghur, and Godda respectively ; the percentages of cases dismissed in default of the plaintiff's appearance in the same sub-divisions being 25, 20, 13, and 25 respectively. Of the 3,842 cases tried on their merits in the different courts in 1880, 3,082, or 79 per cent., were decided in favour of the plaintiffs, as compared with 78 per cent. in 1879. Treating cases dismissed on default of the plaintiff's appearance as determined in favour of the defendant, and cases compromised as in favour of the plaintiff, the percentage of cases disposed of in which the result showed that there was good ground for action was 64 in 1880, against 62 in 1879.

3. The following statement of the number of revenue suits instituted in the past seven years shows the return of this class of litigation to its normal condition after the extraordinary stimulus of the settlement :—

1874.	1875.	1876.	1877.	1878.	1879.	1880.
3,431	7,518	18,254	10,990	6,767	5,070	4,652

The decrease was general throughout the district, except in the Godda sub-division, where there was an increase in suits for arrears of rent owing to special causes mentioned in the Commissioner's report. Even including the returns of Godda, there was a decrease of 607 in the total number of suits for arrears as compared with the returns of 1879. This result is satisfactory, and the Lieutenant-Governor sees no reason to doubt that the cause assigned for the decrease—the certainty which has followed the settlement—is the true one. Of the 5,281 revenue cases on the file during the year, 2,992 were for arrears of rent and 1,660 for possession of jote land. The percentage of cases decided on their merits was 72, against 68 in 1879 and 67 in 1878. The proportion of cases decided in favour of the plaintiffs also rose by 5 per cent. during the past year, and there was a considerable decrease in the number of cases dismissed in default of the plaintiff's appearance. These facts appear to indicate, as remarked by the Commissioner, that the falling off has been mainly in the number of trivial and groundless cases instituted. As usual, the highest proportion of cases decided in favour of the plaintiff and the lowest proportion of cases struck off in default of the plaintiff's appearance were in the Deogarh sub-division.

4. The number of appeals preferred against the decisions of the Subordinate Civil and Revenue Courts bears a very small proportion to the number of original suits. Including cases pending from the previous year, there were only 94 appeals in civil cases and 127 appeals in revenue cases preferred to Sub-Divisional Officers from the orders of their subordinates; in 36 of the civil cases and 26 of the revenue cases the decisions of the lower courts were modified or reversed. There were 115 appeals in civil cases and 18[illegible] appeals in revenue cases preferred to the Deputy Commissioner, and in [illegible] former and 37 of the latter cases the orders of the lower courts were [illegible] or reversed. The Commissioner heard 13 appeals from the decisions of the Deputy Commissioner in civil suits and 14 appeals from his decisions in revenue suits; in ten of the civil appeals and eleven of the revenue appeals the orders of the Deputy Commissioner were upheld. Nineteen appeals were made to the High Court in cases above Rs. 1,000 in value, but only eleven of the cases were disposed of during the year, with the result that the orders of the local courts were confirmed in six cases, reversed in four cases, and modified in one case.

5. The provisions against usury, in section 6 of the Settlement Regulations, were enforced in only 28 civil and 13 revenue cases, against 133 and 96 cases respectively in 1879, and 271 and 94 cases respectively in 1878. As has been noticed in former Resolutions, the effect of the law against usury is now almost entirely preventive, nearly all the old bonds charging excessive rates of interest having fallen in. The operation of the Usury Law resulted, so far as the courts were concerned, in the remission of only Rs. 552 in civil suits and Rs. 64 in revenue suits.

6. The remarks of the Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner on the several officers who took part in the administration of civil justice during the past year will be noted in the Appointment Department of the Secretariat. By the retirement of Mr. Wilmot, the district of the Sonthal Pergunnahs has lost an officer whose promptitude and firmness in judicial work have for many years been favourably noticed by both the local officers and Government.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

HORACE A. COCKERELL,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT ON THE STATE OF THE SALT MARKET FOR THE FOURTH QUARTER OF THE YEAR 1880-81.

No. 434*B*, dated Fort William, the 1st June 1881.

From—A. FORBES, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

I AM directed to submit the following report on the state of the salt market for the fourth quarter of 1880-81, comprising the months of January, February, and March 1881.

MR. REYNOLDS.

2. The quantity of salt of every description cleared during the quarter under report amounted to 20,82,471 maunds 16 seers 4 chittacks, against 17,42,749 maunds 19 seers 8 chittacks in the previous quarter, and 21,57,835 maunds 21 seers 4 chittacks in the corresponding quarter of the previous year; and the amount of duty levied thereon was Rs. 55,47,941-4-0, against Rs. 46,84,755-15-6 in the previous quarter, and Rs. 57,71,696-8-7 in the corresponding quarter of the previous year.

3. The quantity of excise salt sold in the districts of Cuttack, Balasore, Pooree, and 24-Pergunnahs during the present quarter from the stock of the different seasons' manufacture, and the quantity which remained in store at the close of the quarter, are shown in Table I.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the barograph and thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

o overcast, g gloomy, d drizzling rain, p passing temporary showers, t thunder, continued rain.

Decrease.

Firewood ... ... Mds 12,101
The decrease is due to less imports at Basra and Canning ghâts.

Paddy ... ... Mds. 1,177
This decrease is due to less demands at selling stations owing to abundant crop all over Bengal.

Rice ... ... Mds. 2,329
The decrease is due to the stoppage of the rice mills for repairs.

Increase.

Wooloo and straw ... ... Mds. 2,905
The increases are due to greater demands at selling stations.

Coal ... ... Mds. 7,729
This increase is due to greater demands at rice mill and Magra extension works.

Revenue stores ... ... Mds. 398
This increase is due to same not having been charged for in previous year.

Railway materials ... ... Mds. 4,443
The increase is due to the Sonapur and Magra extension.

Sundries ... ... Mds. 1,863
The increase is due to greater demands of sundry articles at Sonapur and Canning stations.

Calcutta, the 14th June 1881.

The total traffic exhibits a falling off of 3½ per cent.

A comparative statement of the passenger traffic is appended—

Coaching traffic for four weeks ending 23rd April 1881, and four weeks ending 24th April 1880.

In goods the weight carried has increased, but the receipts have fallen by 7 per cent., and this is to be attributed to have staples having largely increased in weight carried; but owing to the short distance conveyed over this line, the receipts many not risen in proportion.

The staple statement shows the following fluctuations :—

REMARKS.

Cotton.—Despatches from Cawnpore and Agra to Howrah improved slightly.

Coal, upwards.—There is an increase of 20,000 maunds of coal sent upwards from Giridi.

Firewood.—Principally despatched from stations on the Jubbulpore line adjacent to Allahabad to that place for local consumption.

Rice.—The demand in Calcutta for export was fair, but not so good as last year; carriage of rice to up-country stations continued during the month.

Other grains and pulses.—Show an increase which may be attributed to the demand in the North-West.

Iron.—Prices in Calcutta being favourable to buyers, advantage was taken to obtain supplies.

Jaggree.—The unusual demand for this article in Rajpootana and the Central Provinces has led to large despatches chiefly from Oudh and Rohilkund and Gya divisions

Salt.—A small increase as compared with last year, but of little moment.

Seeds.—The increase in traffic vid Jubbulpore is obtained chiefly from Kutnee, Sutna, and Allahabad stations.

Tobacco.—Owing to plentiful crops the movement of tobacco has been unusually brisk.

DECREASES.

Coal, downwards.—Limited demand in Calcutta for country coal led to reduced despatches from most of the collieries.

Government Ordnance and Commissariat stores.—Show a falling off of Rs. 32,000 owing to the cessation of Military operations.

Wheat.—A considerable decrease is shown against this staple, owing to the export trade during April having been very dull.

Hides.—Calcutta market reports explain that business was restricted, and exports small owing to short arrivals.

Piece-goods.—The depression seems to be owing to the absence of demand in the interior of the country.

Railway material, foreign.—Has a decrease of Rs. 21,220 in receipts, although the weight carried has increased.

Sugar.—Has decreased probably owing to the large demand for jaggree, and the absence of the enquiry there was last year in the Punjab.

The train mileage for the period has been, excluding maintenance and locomotive coal—

NOTICE.

The 21st June 1881.—Under Section 4, Act I (B.C.) of 1880 (the Calcutta Tramways Act), it is hereby notified that the Commissioners of the Town of Calcutta have approved, and the Lieutenant-Governor has sanctioned, the proposal of the Calcutta Tramways Company, to run, in connection with the Chowringhee line of tramways and in lieu of the connecting line along Bentinck Street, a fresh line along Dalhousie-square, East, and thence along the said square south till it connects tramway No. 5 at or near the junction of Old Court House-street and Dalhousie-square.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 21st June 1881.—In exercise of the powers conferred upon him by section 314 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1876, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to confirm the following Bye-laws, which were made by the Commissioners of the Municipality of Nuseerabad, in the district of Mymensingh, at a meeting convened expressly for the purpose, of which due notice had been given ; and in exercise of the powers conferred by section 315 of the same Act, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to sanction the penalties which have been declared by the said Commissioners, for the breach of the said Bye-laws :—

For regulating the time and mode of collecting rates and taxes.

1. The following shall be deemed to be the first day of the quarter in which each instalment of the tax or rate shall become due :—

The instalment payable on account of the quarter ending	may be levied on or after
30th June,	1st April,
30th September,	1st July,
31st December,	1st October,
31st March,	1st January of each year.

2. From the list prepared under the provisions of section 79 of the Act, the collecting officers shall prepare the bill prescribed by section 111. The bill so prepared shall be issued under the seal of the Commissioners to the subordinate officers or the collecting establishment, and shall be by them presented to the persons named therein in the manner hereinafter described.

3. Every collecting officer shall be provided with a certificate of his authority to collect, and every such certificate shall bear the seal of the Municipality and the signature of the Chairman. Every collecting officer, at the time of demanding payment, shall be bound to show his certificate if required.

4. The officer to whom a bill may be issued for presentation shall receive the amount of such bill at the time of presentation.

5. Every person required in writing to furnish any schedule or return which the Commissioners may lawfully require him to furnish, shall send such schedule or return to the office of the Commissioners within two weeks from the date of service of the requisition in the manner described in section 367 of the Act. Any person failing to do so shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding Rs. 5 for the omission, and to a penalty not exceeding Re. 1 for every day the omission shall after warning continue. Any person submitting a false or incorrect schedule or return, shall be liable to a penalty of Rs. 5; provided that nothing in this bye-law shall be held to prevent the institution of a criminal prosecution under the Penal Code, should the facts appear to warrant such a proceeding.

6. Every distraint made under the Act shall be executed by the collecting officer.

7. Payment of purchase-money for property sold, and delivery of the property shall be made immediately after the sale; and if the purchaser fails to pay the full amount of his bid, it shall be lawful for the distraining officer, at his discretion, to sell the property again on the same or any other day, and the first purchaser shall in such a case be responsible to the Commissioners for any loss which shall be recoverable as a debt due to them.

For regulating the Conduct of persons employed by the Commissioners.

8. All persons employed by the Commissioners, whose services may be no longer required, shall be liable to discharge after receipt of previous notice, or pay in advance, for the period of one month, and no such person shall withdraw from the duties of his office without having given previous notice for the period of one month on pain of forfeiture of one month's salary.

9. All persons now holding, or who may hereafter be appointed to any office under the Commissioners, shall, when required so to do, furnish good security to such amount as the Commissioners may from time to time fix, and any person failing to furnish such security within such time as the Commissioners may appoint, shall be held to have thereby forfeited his appointment, and may be removed from office.

10. Nothing herein contained shall be held to debar the Commissioners from instituting proceedings in any Civil Court having jurisdiction against any person being or having been in their employ, with a view to the recovery of damages for any loss or injury which they may have sustained in consequence of any act done or omitted to be done by such person.

For regulating the disposal of offensive matter, rubbish, and dead bodies of animals.

11. Every person within whose premises any animal may die shall, within six hours after its death, or if the death occurs at night, within four hours after day break, either remove, at his own expense, the carcass to such place as may be set apart by the Commissioners for the receipt of such carcasses, or report its death to the conservancy overseer of the division within which such premises may be situated, and in such latter case shall pay to the said overseer the expense of removing the carcass at such rate as the Commissioners may determine; provided that where the said person is not the owner of the animal, and the owner is known, the owner shall alone be responsible for the payment of such expense, and such expense shall be recoverable as a debt due to the Commissioners. No overseer, when called upon, shall neglect to remove a carcass.

The penalty for neglecting to remove carcasses, as required above, shall be a fine not exceeding Rs 10.

12. No person shall deposit or cause to be deposited any carcass or any part of a carcass in any place other than such places as may from time to time be appointed by the Commissioners for the reception of such carcasses. The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 10.

For the regulation and management of privies.

13. Every owner or occupier of any house, land or premises shall, after six hours from the receipt of a notice in writing, and between sunrise and sunset, as may have been fixed on by the Municipal Commissioners, after notice being duly served on him under section 200, Municipal Act, give free access to all servants of the Municipality authorized in that behalf to his house, land, or premises for the removal of any night-soil or filth.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 5.

14. Every person shall construct his privy above ground, and shall provide his privy or premises with a suitable movable receptacle of metal or earthenware.

The penalty for infringement after notice shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

15. On receipt of a notice from the Municipal Commissioners, every owner or occupier of any house, land or premises, in or on which any well-privy or other noxious or improperly constructed privy may be situated, shall fill up, close, or otherwise alter the construction of the said privy as may be directed in the notice, and if the orders contained in the notice be not carried out within fifteen days the Commissioners may fill up, close, or otherwise alter the said privy, and any expense incurred in so doing shall be recoverable as a debt due to the Commissioners.

16. No owner or occupier of any house, land or premises, in or on which any privy may be situated, shall allow night-soil or filth of any kind to flow or to be discharged from such privy into any drain, water course, river, tank, hollow, or excavation (or any place containing waste and stagnant water), or into any other receptacle but one of the nature described in bye-law No. 14.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

17. No person shall throw, deposit or discharge any night-soil, sewage, or the contents of any drain, privy or cess-pool into any river, tank, khal, water-course or receptacle for water, or dispose of the above mentioned kinds of offensive matters in any other way than as the Municipal Commissioners may from time to time direct.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

18. The Municipal Commissioners may direct the use of lime, coal-tar, corbolic acid, or other deodorants or disinfectants in any privy or premises if at any time it seems to them necessary for the preservation of public health, or for the prevention of infection or spread of disease; provided that the Municipal Commissioners shall be bound to supply such deodorants, &c., at cost price, and the price shall be recoverable as a debt due to the Commissioners.

19. No person shall carry night-soil through the streets, except during the hours fixed by the Commissioners, otherwise than in a closely covered receptacle.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

For regulating traffic in the streets.

20. Every carriage or cart plying in the streets after one hour after sunset shall carry sufficient light, except when there may be enough moonlight to render such light unnecessary.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 5.

21. No person shall, without the permission of the Commissioners, take an elephant along any of the public roads within the limits of the Municipality, except by such routes as shall be fixed for the purpose by the Municipal Commissioners.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

For regulating and prohibiting the use of fire-balloons, fire-works, fire-arms, or missiles, in the vicinity of public roads.

22. No person shall, without the permission of the Commissioners previously obtained, let off fire-works or fire-balloons, canons or bombs within the limits of the Municipality.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

For regulating the burial and burning of corpses.

23. No person shall bury, or cause to be buried, any corpse or part of a corpse in any burial ground, in a grave constructed of masonry, in such a manner that the top of the coffin, or the body, where no coffin is used, shall be at a less depth than five feet from the surface ground.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs 10.

24. No person shall bury, or cause to be buried, in any burial-ground, any corpse or part of a corpse in a grave not constructed of masonry, except in such a manner that there may be at least five feet of earth between the corpse or part of a corpse and the surface ground.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 10.

25. No person shall build or dig, or cause to be built or dug, any grave in any burial-ground at a less distance than two feet from any other existing grave.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

26. No person shall build or dig, or cause to be built or dug, a grave in any public burial place in any other line than that marked out by the Commissioners.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

27. No grave once used shall be opened for the burial of another body without the permission of the Commissioners.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

28. No person, when burning, or causing to be burnt, any corpse or part of a corpse in any burning ground, shall permit the same or any part thereof to remain without being completely reduced to ashes, or shall permit the clothes or other articles connected with the burning of such corpse to remain at or near such burning ground unless the same be completely reduced to ashes.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

29. Every person who shall bring or convey, or cause to be brought or conveyed, any corpse or part thereof to any burning ground, shall burn, or cause the same to be burnt, within six hours after its arrival at the said burning ground.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

General Bye-laws.

30. No boat shall be anchored within Municipal limits except at such places as are fixed by the Commissioners.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 10.

31. No person shall construct or place over, or by the side of any public drain, any bridge, platform, building, or structure of any kind, except by and with the written permission of the Commissioners, and in such manner as they shall direct.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 10.

The penalty for continued infringement after notice shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 5 daily.

32. No person shall steep in any public tank, river, khall or ditch, within municipal limits, any jute, hemp, bamboos, or other vegetable matter likely to render the water of such river, khall, tank or ditch offensive or noxious to the neighbourhood.

The penalty for infringment shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 5.

33. All dirt, dust, and rubbish of every kind, the removal of which is undertaken by the Municipal Commissioners, shall be deposited on the side of the road near the entrance of the premises from which it has come between the hours of 6 A.M and 8 A M.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 5.

34. No one shall carry a corpse through any highway unless it is decently covered and totally concealed from public view.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 10.

35. No person, while carrying any corpse or part of a corpse through the precincts falling within municipal limits, shall deposit it on or near any public highway except for the purpose of ordinary relief.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 10.

36. Every corpse, or part of a corpse, that has been kept or used for purposes of dissection must be removed in a closed vehicle, which should be provided by the Municipality.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

37. No person shall picket animals, or collect carts, or form any encampment upon any public ground without the permission of the Commissioners.

The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 10.

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 21st June 1881.—The following Rules have been passed by the Lieutenant-Governor under Section 33, Act V (B.C) of 1880, for the Town of Calcutta:—

(a)—Rules for determining the qualifications to be required of Public Vaccinators.

No person shall be recognized as a public vaccinator who does not possess a certificate of competency signed by a Superintendent of Vaccination.

No such certificate will be granted by such Superintendent of Vaccination unless he has satisfied himself, by oral and practical examination, that the candidate possesses sufficient knowledge and skill.

Every person applying to be examined must submit evidence that he has been employed in vaccinating, in the capacity of an apprentice or assistant, for a period of at least six months.

The object of the examination is to test the candidate's—

(1)—Knowledge of the phenomena of the vaccine disease.
(2)—Knowledge of the methods of performing vaccination.
(3)—Knowledge of the methods of collecting and storing lymph.
(4)—Power of recognizing a good vesicle and cicatrix.
(5)—General acquaintance with the phenomena of small-pox.
(6)—Knowledge of the provisions of Act V of 1880, in as far as they relate to the duties of a vaccinator.
(7)—Acquaintance with the forms and certificates required to be kept and granted under Act V of 1880.

The certificate will be written on parchment in accordance with the following form:—

I hereby certify that I have examined.....and find him qualified for the office of public vaccinator.

Dated } Superintendent of Vaccination.

(c)—Rule for regulating the gratuitous vaccination of such females as are by the custom of the country unable to attend at the public vaccine stations and are too poor to pay fees for house vaccination.

IF the head vaccinator considers that any female, who from the custom of the country is unable to attend at the public vaccine depôt, is too poor to pay the fee for house vaccination, he should report the matter to the Superintendent of Vaccination, and the latter may, if he considers necessary, remit the whole or any portion of the fee.

(d)—Rule for providing for the supply of lymph.

THE lymph shall be invariably taken from the arm of the vaccinated subject, and transferred at once to the arm of the unprotected person or child. It shall be taken only from perfectly healthy subjects. No child having a skin eruption should ever be used as a vaccinifer.

(e)—Rules for regulating the books and forms to be kept by the public vaccinators or by Registrars and also all such forms as shall be required for the signature of medical practitioners under the provisions of this Act.

The following register shall be kept at each vaccine station :—

(8) The forms of notices under sections 11 and 18 are given in Schedules D and E.

(9) The form of register of postponed vaccinations under section 22 is given in Schedule F.

(f)—Rules for the guidance of public vaccinators and others in all matters connected with the working of the Act.

A. Instructions for the guidance of public vaccinators under the provisions of Act V (B.C.) of 1880:—

Periods within which vaccination of unprotected children should be procured.

1. According to the provisions of this Act, the parent or guardian of every child born in the Town of Calcutta shall, within one year after the birth of such child; and the parent or guardian of every unprotected child under the age of 14 years brought to reside, whether temporarily or permanently in the said Town, within six months after such child's arrival at Calcutta, or if the child be at the time of its arrival less than one year old, within one year and three months after its birth, and the parent or guardian of every unprotected child living in the Town of Calcutta at the date of this Act coming into force, and whose age at such date exceeds one year, but does not exceed fourteen years, shall, within six months from the said date, take it, or cause it to be taken, to a public vaccine station to be vaccinated, or shall within such time as aforesaid, cause it to be vaccinated by some public vaccinator.

2. Whenever a public vaccinator finds that a child, who ought to have been vaccinated according to the above provisions, remains unprotected, he should ask the parent or guardian of such child to have it forthwith vaccinated, and explain to him the liabilities he would incur if he declines to do so; and if the parent or guardian of such unprotected child does not comply with the vaccinator's requisition, the latter should at once bring the matter to the notice of the Superintendent of Vaccination that legal proceedings may be taken against the parent or guardian of such unprotected child.

Action to be taken by public vaccinators when they find unprotected children, who ought to have been vaccinated according to the provisions of the Vaccination Act.

3. The public vaccinators must be very careful to supply the Superintendent of Vaccination with correct information, for if they fail to prove their statements before the Court they shall be liable to pay any damages which the Magistrate may order for the unnecessary trouble of the person whom they have caused to be thus prosecuted.

Vaccinators must be very careful to supply Superintendent of Vaccination with correct information.

4. Whenever a public vaccinator finds that a person whose age exceeds 14 years is still unprotected, he should ask such unprotected person to get himself forthwith vaccinated, and in the event of the latter's declining to do so, the public vaccinator shall bring the circumstance to the notice of the Superintendent of Vaccination, that the said unprotected person may be served with a notice in form of schedule (D) annexed to the Act, requiring him, within fifteen days after the service of the same, to submit himself to a public vaccinator to be vaccinated.

Action to be taken by vaccinators with reference to unprotected persons.

5. Vaccinators should endeavour to ascertain—

(a.) Whether children born in the Town of Calcutta have had their births registered at the police station of the section, and been served with notices. Information ought at once to be given to the Registrar in cases in which this duty has been neglected.

(b.) Whether any child under 14 years of age, not protected by vaccination, inoculation, or small-pox, has been brought to reside in the Town of Calcutta. In such case also information ought to be given at the police-station in order that a notice may be served.

6. In order to facilitate the vaccination of all these unprotected persons, public vaccine stations have been opened in the different parts of the Town. The days and hours of public vaccinators' attendance at these public vaccine stations have also been fixed. Public vaccinators attached to each of these vaccine stations must attend at them on the specified days and within the specified hours, with virus child, and vaccinate all unprotected persons free of all charges. A list of the public vaccine stations, and the days and hours of vaccinators' attendance at them, is appended below—

Public vaccine stations opened at different parts of the Town to facilitate vaccination of all unprotected persons.

Vaccinators are bound to vaccinate all unprotected persons that resort to public vaccine stations free of all charges.

Public Vaccine Stations in the Town and Port of Calcutta.

Stations.	Police sections.	Days of attendance.	Hours for vaccination
1 Chitpore Dispensary	A & B	Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7 to 9 A. M
2 Mayo Hospital	M & G ..	Tuesday and Saturday	Ditto.
3 Beadon Street (Deputy Supdt.'s house) ..	C, D, & F	Monday, Wednesday, and Friday ..	Ditto.
4 Medical College Hospital ...	H and I	Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday	Ditto
5 Municipal office	J, K, L, M, &c. ...	Monday, Wednesday, and Friday .. .	Ditto.
6 South Collings Street Dispensary .	N, O, P, & Q ...	Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday	Ditto.
7 Hastings Hospital	R	Monday and Friday	Ditto.
8 Kola Ghat	The Port ...	Wednesday	9 to 11 A. M.

7. The name, age, caste, &c., of all persons vaccinated at these public vaccine stations should be carefully entered in the vaccine register provided for the purpose.

Vaccinators to enter name in the vaccine register.

8. Vaccinators shall instruct the parent or guardian of every vaccinated child to bring it back at these stations on the fourth or fifth day after the operation, that they may see whether all the points of vaccination have taken. If there be a failure of one or more points, they should be careful to repeat vaccination at those points, and enter the same on the remark column of the vaccine register. The vaccinators shall again direct the parent or guardian to bring these children once more on the seventh or eighth day that they may ascertain and enter in their register the final result of the operation.

Vaccinators to grant certificate of successful vaccination.

9. If the operation proves successful, the vaccinators must deliver to the parent or guardian a certificate to that effect in the form of schedule (C). If it proves unsuccessful, the vaccinators must forthwith again vaccinate the child, and issue instructions for its inspection as before.

When unsuccessful vaccination to be repeated.

10. If a vaccinator finds that a child whom he has three times unsuccessfully vaccinated is insusceptible of successful vaccination, he should deliver to the parent or guardian of such child a certificate in the form of schedule (B).

Vaccinators to grant certificate of insusceptible vaccination.

11. If a vaccinator shall be of opinion that a child is not in a fit state to be vaccinated, he shall forthwith deliver to the parent or guardian of such child a certificate in the form of schedule (A).

Certificate of postponed vaccination to be given by vaccinators.

12. This certificate shall remain in force for three months, but shall be renewable for successive periods of three months until the vaccinator shall deem the child to be in a fit state for vaccination, when the child shall, with all reasonable despatch be vaccinated, and a certificate of successful vaccination given in the form of schedule (C) if warranted by the result.

13. A public vaccinator shall on no account charge any person for granting certificates of successful vaccination, of postponed vaccination, or of insusceptible vaccination, whether the same be granted at a public vaccine station or elsewhere.

No fee to be charged for granting certificates.

14. Every public vaccinator who gives to any parent or guardian a certificate in any of the forms of schedules (A), (B), and (C), shall, within 21 days after giving the same, transmit a duplicate thereof to the Registrar of Births of the police section where the birth of the child on whose account such certificate was given has been registered, or in which the child, if its birth has not been registered, resides.

Duplicates of certificates to be sent to the Registrar within 21 days.

15. When a public vaccinator attends at the request of the parent or guardian elsewhere than at a public vaccine station for the purpose of vaccinating a child, he shall charge a fee of four annas for every such vaccination. He is to inspect the child on the 4th and 7th or 8th day, and grant certificates as in cases of vaccination in the stations. No fee is to be charged for inspection and for granting certificates.

Vaccination at private houses.

Fees to be charged.

16. Public vaccinators are to grant printed receipts for amounts paid to them as fees. These amounts are to be deposited at the office of the Superintendent of Vaccination every Saturday, or oftener if the Superintendent of Vaccination so orders. The vaccinators are warned not to misappropriate any portion of the fees to themselves, for if they do so they are liable not only to be dismissed from the department, but also to be criminally prosecuted.

Receipts for fees to be given to the parent or guardian, and the amount collected should be deposited at the office of the Superintendent of Vaccination every week.

Punishment for misappropriation of fees.

17. To ensure successful vaccination, the following cardinal points are to be remembered by every vaccinator—viz. good virus, a clean lancet, and the healthy constitution of the person to be vaccinated. The first two rules should have no exception at all. Vaccinators should use none but the best virus; they should remember that vaccination with bad virus is worse than no vaccination; for it not only does not protect the person from attack of small-pox, but brings discredit on both the vaccinator and the vaccination. The vaccinators should not only use good virus, but take it from those persons only who are free from constitutional diseases, especially syphilis. Lymph should never be taken from a child who has an eruption on his skin, lumps about the anus or genital organs, bad teeth, or a sore throat or cold. In fact, none but perfectly healthy children should be used as subjects for conveyance of lymph. A clean lancet should invariably be used; when a foul lancet is used, it produces an amount of irritation in the vesicles which renders success doubtful. In ordinary times persons in good health are only to be vaccinated, but in times of epidemic every unprotected person, whether in sound health or otherwise, should be vaccinated. There is no fear in vaccinating pregnant women.

Selection of lymph.

Good virus should always be used.

Healthy persons are only to be vaccinated in ordinary times.

Exception in times of epidemic.

18. In cases of good and successful vaccination, the following phenomena are observed in the places where the virus is inserted:—No change takes place until the third day, when the points of insertion of the virus appear like red spots or musquito bites. On the fourth day these spots look like little pimples. On the fifth and sixth days the pimples enlarge into vesicles and contain clear lymph. On the seventh day the vesicles are fully developed. On the eighth day areolæ form around the vesicles. There is sympathetic fever from this day. On the ninth day the contents of the vesicles become perfectly yellow, and the surrounding inflammation becomes more intense. After the tenth day a crust gradually forms, brownish-black in colour and of considerable thickness, and should fall off from the 18th to the 20th day, or two days earlier in the hot season. It should leave a well depressed cicatrix, with marked edges and floor lined and pitted.

The period at which the lymph is to be taken.

19. Sixth and seventh day in the winter season, and fifth and sixth day in the hot and rainy seasons.

Manner of taking the lymph.

20. In taking lymph the vesicles are to be punctured from the top, and not from the side. If the vesicles be punctured at the side, the inner septa of the vesicles would prevent the flowing of the lymph into the seat of puncture. The upper surface should not be scraped off. It should only be punctured, and if the lancet be placed flatly an abundance of lymph will flow on it.

Manner of inserting the lymph.

The lymph thus taken on the point of the lancet is to be inserted in at least four different places, two on each arm, one above and the other below the insertion of the deltoid muscles, from an inch to an inch and half apart from each other. The virus is to be inserted below the scurf or upper skin, but not deep enough to draw blood. Three such punctures are to be made in each place thus ! ! !

21. The vaccinators must be kind and courteous towards the people that come to the public vaccine stations to have their childern vaccinated. The people from their ignorance of the vaccine disease will ask many useless and tedious questions of the vaccinators, but the latter should not get annoyed at this. They should particularly explain everything which the parent or guardian of vaccinated children may want to know. While vaccinating at private houses they should be equally kind and courteous in their manners, and although the law does not prohibit their taking any reward or present from persons able and willing to pay, they should make no demands.

B. Instructions to Registrars.

1. The Bengal Vaccination Act, 1880 (Act V of 1880), requires of Registrars of Births the following duties connected with compulsory vaccination, in addition to those duties relating to the registration of births and deaths which the law imposes upon them :—

Section 18.

2. On the registration of the birth of a child, the Registrar shall deliver to the person giving information of such birth a printed notice in the form of schedule E appended to the Act.

3. The Act further requires the parents and guardians of children under 14 years of age not born, but brought to reside, whether temporarily or permanently, in the Town of Calcutta, to have them vaccinated within six months of arrival, or, if at the time of arrival they are below one year of age, within 15 months of birth: On such cases coming to the knowledge of Registrars, a notice should be served in schedule E altered according to circumstances. Such cases should be included in the register of vaccination, column 4 being left blank.

4. These notices will be issued to Registrars in the form of a book, each notice having a counterfoil which will, when filled in, constitute the minutes of the notices required by section 20 of the Act.

5. Vaccinators are directed by the Act, when a person or child is successfully vaccinated, to transmit to the Registrar a duplicate copy of the certificate (Schedule C), the original of which has been handed to the parent, or guardian, or person. Similarly, when the vaccinator considers it advisable to postpone vaccination on account of ill-health or unfitness from any other cause, a certificate to that effect (Schedule A) is given to the parent, or guardian, or person, and a duplicate thereof sent to the Registrar; and when a person or child is found insusceptible of vaccination, a certificate (Schedule B) is given, and a duplicate sent to the Registrar. These duplicate certificates (Schedules A, B, and C) of postponed, unsuccessful, and successful vaccination should be filed in separate bundles, and the information conveyed by them entered in the proper columns of the registers.

Section 21.

6. A register of vaccination will be kept in the following form, of which columns 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 will be filled up on issue of the notice (Schedule E), and the remaining columns on receipt of the duplicate certificate mentioned in the last paragraph :—

Register of Vaccination for Section—

Serial No.	Name of Child.	Date of birth.	No. of entry in register of birth.	Date of notice Schedule E.	Date of certificate of successful vaccination—Schedule C.	Date of certificate of insusceptibility—Schedule B.	Signature of Registrar.

7. An additional column will be in future added to the ordinary "Register of Births" in which an entry will be made to the "number in Vaccination Register." Thus these two registers—the "Register of Births" and the "Vaccination Register"— will contain references to each other, and no difficulty can be experienced in ascertaining whether a certificate has been received regarding the vaccination of any child whose birth has been registered.

Section 22.

8. When a certificate has been received of the postponement of vaccination (Schedule A), an entry should be made in the special "Register of postponed vaccination" (Schedule F) prescribed by the Act. Care should be taken that a child, regarding whom a certificate of this kind is received, is eventually vaccinated, and unless a renewed certificate of postponement has been received, an entry should be made of the name in the return alluded to in the next paragraph.

9. As soon after the first of every month as possible a return will be forwarded to the Superintendent of Vaccination in the following form, showing the cases in which notice has been given or certificate of postponement has been received, and the period mentioned in the notice or certificate of postponement has expired without receipt of a certificate of successful vaccination or insusceptibility (Schedule B or C). A case once returned in this form need not be entered again except in the instance of a fresh postponement :—

Return of cases in which notice of vaccination has been served, but Certificate has not been received, for the month of

Name of child.	Name of parent or guardian.	Residence.	Date of issue of notice.

10. The stations, days, and hours of vaccination are as follows :—

In the Town and Port of Calcutta.

Stations.	Police sections.	Days of attendance.	Hours for vaccination.
1 Chitpore Dispensary	A & B	Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7 to 9 A. M.
2 Mayo Hospital	E & G	Tuesday and Saturday	Ditto.
3 Beadon Street (Deputy Supdt.'s house)	C, D, & F ...	Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	Ditto.
4 Medical College Hospital ...	H & I	Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday	Ditto.
5 Municipal Office	J, K, L, and M ...	Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	Ditto.
6 South Collings Street Dispensary...	N, O, P, & Q ...	Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday	Ditto.
7 Hastings Hospital	R	Monday and Friday	Ditto.
8 Koila Ghat	The Port	Wednesday	9 to 11 A. M.

11. It is obviously desirable, for the purpose of ensuring that every child born in the Town of Calcutta shall be vaccinated, that every endeavour should be made to render the registration of births as perfect as possible. Every endeavour should therefore be made to ascertain and cause the registration of every birth occurring in the station.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 21st June 1881.—The following Rules are passed by the Lieutenant-Governor under Section 33, Act V (B.C.) of 1880, for the Suburbs of Calcutta :—

(a)—Rules for determining the qualifications to be required of Public Vaccinators.

(11) The form of register of postponed vaccinations under section 22 is given in Schedule F.

(f)—Rules for the guidance of public vaccinators and others in all matters connected with the working of the Act.

A. Instructions for the guidance of public vaccinators under the provisions of Act V (B.C.) of 1880:—

Periods within which vaccination of unprotected children should be procured.

1. According to the provisions of this Act, the parent or guardian of every child born in the Suburban Municipality shall, within one year after the birth of such child; and the parent or guardian of every unprotected child under the age of 14 years brought to reside, whether temporarily or permanently in the Suburban Municipality, within six months after such child's arrival at the Suburban Municipality, or if the child be at the time of its arrival less than one year old, within one year and three months after its birth, and the parent or guardian of every unprotected child living in the Suburban Municipality at the date of this Act coming into force, and whose age at such date exceeds one year, but does not exceed fourteen years, shall, within six months from the said date, take it, or cause it to be taken, to a public vaccine station to be vaccinated, or shall within such time as aforesaid, cause it to be vaccinated by some public vaccinator.

Action to be taken by public vaccinators when they find unprotected children, who ought to have been vaccinated according to the provisions of the Vaccination Act.

2. Whenever a public vaccinator finds that a child, who ought to have been vaccinated according to the above provisions, remains unprotected, he should ask the parent or guardian of such child to have it forthwith vaccinated, and explain to him the liabilities he would incur if he declines to do so; and if the parent or guardian of such unprotected child does not comply with the vaccinator's requisition, the latter should at once bring the matter to the notice of the Superintendent of Vaccination that legal proceedings may be taken against the parent or guardian of such unprotected child.

Vaccinators must be very careful to supply Superintendent of Vaccination with correct information.

3. The public vaccinators must be very careful to supply the Superintendent of Vaccination with correct information, for if they fail to prove their statements before the court they shall be liable to pay any damages which the Magistrate may order for the unnecessary trouble of the person whom they have caused to be thus prosecuted.

Action to be taken by vaccinators with reference to unprotected persons.

4. Whenever a public vaccinator finds that a person whose age exceeds 14 years is still unprotected, he should ask such unprotected person to get himself forthwith vaccinated, and in the event of the latter's declining to do so, the public vaccinator shall bring the circumstance to the notice of the Superintendent of Vaccination, that the said unprotected person may be served with a notice in form of Schedule (D) annexed to the Act, requiring him, with fifteen days after the service of the same, to submit himself to a public vaccinator to be vaccinated.

5. Vaccinators should endeavour to ascertain—

(a) Whether children born in the Suburban Municipality have had their births registered at the police-station of the section, and been served with notices. Information ought at once to be given to the Registrar in cases in which this duty has been neglected.

(b) Whether any child under 14 years of age, not protected by vaccination, inoculation, or small-pox, has been brought to reside in the Suburban Municipality. In such case also information ought to be given at the police-station in order that a notice may be served.

Public vaccine stations opened at different parts of the Municipality to facilitate vaccination of all unprotected persons.

6. In order to facilitate the vaccination of all these unprotected persons, public vaccine stations have been opened in the different parts of the Municipality. The days and hours of public vaccinators' attendance at these public vaccine stations have also been fixed. Public vaccinators attached to each of these vaccine stations must attend at them on the specified days and within the specified hours, with virus child, and vaccinate all unprotected persons free of all charges. A list of the public vaccine stations, and the days and hours of vaccinators' attendance at them, is appended below—

Vaccinators are bound to vaccinate all unprotected persons that resort to public vaccine stations free of all charges.

Public Vaccine Stations in the Municipality of the Suburbs of Calcutta.

	Stations.	Days of attendance.	Hour.
1	Tallygunge police section	Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	From 7·30 A.M. to 10 A.M. from 15th October to 15th March, and from 6 A.M. to 9 A.M. during the rest of the year.

	Baliaghata ditto	Wednesday and Saturday
7	Chitpore ditto	Monday, Wednesday, and Friday
	Kasipore ditto	Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday

Vaccinators to enter name in the vaccine register.

7. The name, age, caste, &c., of all persons vaccinated at these public vaccine stations should be carefully entered in the vaccine register provided for the purpose.

Inspection of vaccinated children.

8. Vaccinators shall instruct the parent or guardian of every vaccinated child to bring it back at these stations on the fourth or fifth day after the operation, that they may see whether all the points of vaccination have taken. If there be a failure of one or more points, they should be careful to repeat vaccination at those points, and enter the same on the remark column of the vaccine register. The vaccinators shall again direct the parent or guardian to bring these children once more on the seventh or eighth day that they may ascertain and enter in their register the final result of the operation.

Vaccinators to grant certificate of successful vaccination.

9. If the operation proves successful, the vaccinators must deliver to the parent or guardian a certificate to that effect in the form of schedule (C). If it proves unsuccessful, the vaccinators must forthwith again vaccinate the child, and issue instructions for its inspection as before.

When unsuccessful, vaccination to be repeated.

10. If a vaccinator finds that a child whom he has three times unsuccessfully vaccinated is insusceptible of successful vaccination, he should deliver to the parent or guardian of such child a certificate in the form of schedule (B).

Vaccinators to grant certificate of insusceptible vaccination

Certificate of postponed vaccination to be given by vaccinators.

11. If a vaccinator shall be of opinion that a child is not in a fit state to be vaccinated, he shall forthwith deliver to the parent or guardian of such child a certificate in the form of schedule (A).

12. This certificate shall remain in force for three months, but shall be renewable for successive periods of three months until the vaccinator shall deem the child to be in a fit state for vaccination, when the child shall, with all reasonable despatch, be vaccinated, and a certificate of successful vaccination given in the form of schedule (C) if warranted by the result.

No fee to be charged for granting certificates.

13. A public vaccinator shall on no account charge any person for granting certificates of successful vaccination, of postponed vaccination, or of insusceptible vaccination, whether the same be granted at a public vaccine station or elsewhere.

Duplicates of certificates to be sent to the Registrar within 21 days.

14. Every public vaccinator who gives to any parent or guardian a certificate in any of the forms of schedules (A), (B), and (C), shall, within 21 days after giving the same, transmit a duplicate thereof to the Registrar of Births of the police section of the municipality where the birth of the child on whose account such certificate was given has been registered, or in which the child, if its birth has not been registered, resides.

Vaccination at private houses.

Fees to be charged.

15. When a public vaccinator attends at the request of the parent or guardian elsewhere than a public vaccine station for the purpose of vaccinating a child, he shall charge a fee of four annas for every such vaccination. He is to inspect the child on the 4th and 7th or 8th day, and grant certificates as in cases of vaccination in the stations. No fee is to be charged for inspection and for granting certificates.

Receipts for fees to be given to the parent or guardian, and the amount collected should be deposited at the office of the Superintendent of Vaccination every week.

Punishment for misappropriation of fees.

16. Public vaccinators are to grant printed receipts for amounts paid to them as fees. These amounts are to be deposited at the office of the Superintendent of Vaccination every Saturday, or oftener if the Superintendent of Vaccination so orders. The vaccinators are warned not to misappropriate any portion of the fees to themselves, for if they do so they are liable not only to be dismissed from the department, but also to be criminally prosecuted.

Selection of lymph.

17. To ensure successful vaccination, the following cardinal points are to be remembered by every vaccinator—viz. good virus, a clean lancet, and the healthy constitution of the person to be vaccinated. The first two rules should have no exception at all. Vaccinators should use none but the best virus: they should remember that vaccination with bad virus is worse than no vaccination; for it not only does not protect the person from attack of small-pox, but brings discredit on both the vaccinator and the vaccination. The vaccinators should not only use good virus, but take it from those persons only who are free from constitutional diseases, especially syphillis. Lymph should never be taken from a child who has an eruption on his skin, lumps about the anus or genital organs, bad teeth, or a sore throat or cold. In fact, none but perfectly healthy children should be used as subjects for conveyance of lymph. A clean lancet should invariably be used; when a foul lancet is used, it produces an amount of irritation in the vesicles which renders success doubtful. In ordinary times persons in good health are only to be vaccinated, but in times of epidemic every unprotected person, whether in sound health or otherwise, should be vaccinated. There is no fear in vaccinating pregnant women.

Good virus should always be used.

Healthy persons are only to be vaccinated in ordinary times.

Exception in times of epidemic.

18. In cases of good and successful vaccination, the following phenomena are observed in the places where the virus is inserted :—No change takes place until the third day when the points of insertion of the virus appear like red spots or musquito bites. On the fourth day these spots look like little pimples. On the fifth and sixth days the pimples enlarge into vesicles and contain clear lymph On the seventh day the vesicles are fully developed. On the eighth day areolæ form around the vesicles. There is sympathetic fever from this day. On the ninth day the contents of the vesicles become perfectly yellow, and the surrounding inflammation becomes more intense. After the tenth day a crust gradually forms, brownish-black in colour and of considerable thickness, and should fall off from the 18th to the 20th day, or two days earlier in the hot season. It should leave a well depressed cicatrix, with marked edges and floor lined and pitted.

The period at which the lymph is to be taken.

19. Sixth and seventh day in the winter season, and fifth and sixth day in the hot and rainy seasons.

Manner of taking the lymph.

20. In taking lymph the vesicles are to be punctured from the top, and not from the side. If the vesicles be punctured at the side, the inner septa of the vesicles would prevent the flowing of the lymph into the seat of puncture. The upper surface should not be scraped off. It should only be punctured, and if the lancet be placed flatly an abundance of lymph will flow on it.

Manner of inserting the lymph.

The lymph thus taken on the point of the lancet is to be inserted in at least four different places, two on each arm, one above and the other below the insertion of the deltoid muscles, from an inch to an inch and half apart from each other. The virus is to be inserted below the scurf or upper skin, but not deep enough to draw blood. Three such punctures are to be made in each place thus ⁞⁞

21. The vaccinators must be kind and courteous towards the people that come to the public vaccine stations to have their children vaccinated. The people from their ignorance of the vaccine disease will ask many useless and tedious questions of the vaccinators, but the latter should not get annoyed at this. They should particularly explain every thing which the parent or guardian of vaccinated children may want to know. While vaccinating at private houses they should be equally kind and courteous in their manners, and although the law does not prohibit their taking any reward or present from persons able and willing to pay, they should make no demands.

B. Instructions to Registrars.

1. The Bengal Vaccination Act, 1880 (Act V of 1880), requires of Registrars of Births the following duties connected with compulsory vaccination, in addition to those duties relating to the registration of births and deaths which the law imposes upon them :—

Section 18.

2. On the registration of the birth of a child, the Registrar shall deliver to the person giving information of such birth a printed notice in the form of schedule E appended to the Act.

3. The Act further requires the parents and guardians of children under 14 years of age not born, but brought to reside, whether temporarily or permanently, in the Suburban Municipality, to have them vaccinated within six months of arrival, or, if at the time of arrival they are below one year of age, within 15 months of birth. On such cases coming to the knowledge of Registrars, a notice should be served in Schedule E altered according to circumstances. Such cases should be included in the register of vaccination, column 4 being left blank.

4. These notices will be issued to Registrars in the form of a book, each notice having a counterfoil which will, when filled in, constitute the minutes of the notices required by section 20 of the Act.

5. Vaccinators are directed by the Act, when a person or child is successfully vaccinated, to transmit to the Registrar a duplicate copy of the certificate (Schedule C), the original of which has been handed to the parent, or guardian, or person. Similarly, when the vaccinator considers it advisable to postpone vaccination on account of ill-health or unfitness from any other cause, a certificate to that effect (Schedule A) is given to the parent, or guardian, or person, and a duplicate thereof sent to the Registrar; and when a person or child is found insusceptible of vaccination, a certificate (Schedule B) is given, and a duplicate sent to the Registrar. These duplicate certificates (Schedules A, B, and C) of postponed, unsuccessful, and successful vaccination should be filed in separate bundles, and the information conveyed by them entered in the proper columns of the registers.

Section 21.

6. A register of vaccination will be kept in the following form, of which columns 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 will be filled up on issue of the notice (Schedule E), and the remaining columns on receipt of the duplicate certificate mentioned in the last paragraph :—

Register of Vaccination for Section—

Serial No.	Name of child.	Date of birth.	No. of entry in register of birth.	Date of notice—Schedule E.	Date of certificate of successful vaccination—Schedule C.	Date of certificate of insusceptibility—Schedule B.	Signature of Registrar.

7. An additional column will be in future added to the ordinary "Register of Births" in which an entry will be made to the "number in Vaccination Register." Thus these two registers—the "Register of Births" and the "Vaccination Register"—will contain references to each other, and no difficulty can be experienced in ascertaining whether a certificate has been received regarding the vaccination of any child whose birth has been registered.

8. When a certificate has been received of the postponement of vaccination (Schedule A), an entry should be made in the special "Register of postponed vaccination" (Schedule F) prescribed by the Act. Care should be taken that a child, regarding whom a certificate of this kind is received, is eventually vaccinated, and unless a renewed certificate of postponement has been received, an entry should be made of the name in the return alluded to in the next paragraph.

Section 22.

9. As soon after the first of every month as possible a return will be forwarded to the Superintendent of Vaccination in the following form, showing the cases in which notice has been given or certificate of postponement has been received, and the period mentioned in the notice or certificate of postponement has expired without receipt of a certificate of successful vaccination or insusceptibility (Schedule B or C). A case once returned in this form need not be entered again except in the instance of a fresh postponement :—

Return of cases in which notice of vaccination has been served, but Certificate has not been received for the month of

Name of child.	Name of parent or guardian.	Residence.	Date of issue of notice.

10. The stations, days, and hours of vaccination are as follows :—

In the Suburbs of Calcutta.

	Stations.	Days of attendance.	Hours for vaccination.
1	Tallygunge police section	Monday, Wednesday and Friday	From 7-30 A. M. to 10 A. M. from 15th October to 15th March, and from 6 A. M. to 9 A. M. during the rest of the year.
	Bhowanipore ditto	Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday
2	Alipore ditto	Monday, Wednesday, and Friday
	Ekba pore ditto	Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday
3	Mateabuss ditto	Monday, Wednesday, and Friday
	Watgunge ditto	Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday
4	Ballygunge ditto	Every day
5	Baniapukhur ditto	Monday, Wednesday, and Friday
	Entally ditto	Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday
6	Ultadanga ditto	Monday and Thursday
	Manicktolla ditto	Tuesday and Friday
	Bellaghata ditto	Wednesday and Saturday
7	Chitpore ditto	Monday, Wednesday, and Friday
	Kasipore ditto	Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday

11. It is obviously desirable, for the purpose of ensuring that every child born in the Suburban Municipality shall be vaccinated, that every endeavour should be made to render the registration of births as perfect as possible. Every endeavour should therefore be made to ascertain and cause the registration of every birth occurring in the station.

FALSE POINT.

Occasional Obscuration of Light by Fog.

The attention of Mariners is called to the following remarks relative to False Point Light:—

During the months of January, February, and March, the prevalence of low-lying, heavy fog—over the land which lies between the light-house and the sea—occasionally interferes with the proper visibility of the light, and, at times, may even obscure it, although the weather at sea may be clear.

Mariners should therefore, be specially cautious when approaching the light during the first quarter of the year, and use the lead continually.

No. 148.—Notification.—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by Section 99 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876, the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to make the following alterations in the rules for the Sone Canals, passed by His Honor under date the 31st August 1880, as per Notification No. 114, published at page 798, Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 1st September 1880:—

(1) For Rule 26 substitute the following:—

"A contractor (or in case there be more than one, each contractor severally and jointly) shall use due diligence in the collection of the water-rates specified in the agreement from the cultivators who have applied for the water supplied. In the case of his failure after due diligence to collect, he shall, without loss of time, submit to the Collector a list showing the names of the defaulters, with the sums due from each, and the Collector shall thereupon proceed to realize the amount due from the said defaulters according to law."

(2) Add as 26*a*:—

"A contractor (or in case there be more than one, each contractor severally and jointly) shall be responsible for all sums payable on the agreement, except such sums as he may satisfy the Collector that he has been unable to collect after using due diligence."

(3.) For Schedue IV in Rule 33 substitute the following:—

Class.	Nature of Crop.	Irrigation per—
		Cottah.	Bigha.	Acre.
		Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.
	For all crops	0 1 0	1 4 0	3 0 0

(4) For the second clause of the form of agreement in Appendix D substitute the following:—

"I (contractor's name) agree to use due diligence in the collection of all sums payable on this application, and to pay the amount collected to Government. I will submit to the Collector without delay lists specifying the names of any defaulters from whom I may, after due diligence, fail to collect, and I will be responsible for the sum due under this agreement, except such amount as I may be able to satisfy the Collector that, after using due diligence, I have failed to collect. I will give every assistance in my power to the Collector in any legal proceedings that may be instituted, and I further agree to be bound by the rules passed under the Canal Act."

The rules as now amended are published below.

Rules under Act III (B.C.), 1876.

1. The Collector, before awarding compensation under section 16, or for making a reference under section 17 of the Act, shall obtain the written opinion of the Superintending Canal Officer, which shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

2. Persons desirous of acquiring land for the construction of a village channel, or for having a village channel constructed by Canal Agency, shall prefer a written application to the Divisional Canal Officer, or to any other officer duly authorized by him to receive such application.

3. Ordinarily, no village channel shall exceed two miles in length from its head to the point of contact with the village boundary.

4. It shall be the duty of the Canal Officer to register all village channels after due notice has been given to the owner of his intention to do so; if the latter objects, no water will be given.

5. No alteration among the shareholders will be recognized, unless the sanction of the Canal Officer has been first obtained.

6. Persons desirous of taking water from a registered village channel shall, previous to doing so, prefer a written application (Appendix A) to the Divisional Canal Officer, Sub-Divisional Canal Officer, or any subordinate duly authorized by the Divisional Canal Officer to receive such application; and no water shall be taken until after the receipt of a permit (Appendix B) from competent authority.

7. Water shall not be granted where, in the opinion of the Canal Officer, waste is likely to occur.

8. An application under Rule 6 shall, if granted, and unless otherwise specially agreed upon, be subject to the following conditions:—

(a)—That the water supplied shall not be used for other purposes than irrigation without the written consent of the Divisional or Sub-Divisional Canal Officer.

(b)—That the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer shall, in consultation with the applicants, appoint a headman (to be called a Lambardar), known, or ascertained to be, a substantial person possessed of property, to attend to their interests, to receive and carry out the orders of the Canal Officers, and to distribute the water among the shareholders in the village channel according to their shares.

(c)—That in any case where the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer cannot agree with the applicants in the appointment of a Lambardar, the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer shall make the appointment himself, subject to the approval of the Divisional Canal Officer.

9. The Divisional Canal Officer is empowered to pay to the Lambardar appointed under Rule 81, the fees detailed in the rule next following, subject to the condition of satisfactory performance of duty.

10. The allowance to the Lambardar for duties connected with the village channel, such as arranging that it shall be kept in proper repair, reporting unauthorized irrigation, distributing the water to the shareholders, seeing that the outlet is closed according to the orders of the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer, and generally assisting the officers of the Irrigation Department, shall be half anna in the rupee on the amount of canal water-rates assessed on the lands irrigated from the village channel under his charge. The Divisional Canal Officer may retrench the whole or any part of the fees under this rule in the event of non-compliance with these conditions.

11. The Sub-Divisional Canal Officer may, by written order under section 76 (a), stop the supply to any village channel when he is satisfied, after inspection by himself or by one of his subordinates, that it is not maintained in proper repair; such order shall be recorded in the Sub-Divisional Office.

12. The Divisional Canal Officer may close the outlets in rotation as he may consider necessary. Such closures shall not extend beyond ten consecutive days, and shall be notified to the Lambardars of village channels. For longer closures the authority of the Superintending Canal Officer is required.

13. Nothing in the above rules shall be taken to affect the power of the Superintending or Divisional Canal Officer to stop the supply of water in case of pressing emergency.

14. The water-gauges on distributaries or other channels shall be held to give authoritative data for all calculations of discharge required to verify claims for remission of water-rate on account of loss of water.

15. Claims to remission of water-rates under section 76(b) shall only be admitted on proof of actual loss caused by the stoppage of supply. On proof of such loss, the Divisional Canal Officer may remit the whole or any portion of the rates. All applications for remission of water-rates shall be made in writing by the parties concerned, either in person, or through their headman, to the nearest Sub-Divisional Canal Officer, at least seven days prior to the cutting of the crop. On receipt of such application, the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer shall, after due local enquiry, forward the application with his remarks to the Divisional Canal Officer for decision.

16. Before awarding compensation under section 76(c), the Collector shall obtain the written opinion of the Divisional Canal Officer, and such opinion shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

17. Contracts between the Divisional Canal Officer on the part of Government, and private individuals, for the use of water as a motive power, or for any other purpose whatsoever, not included in the published schedule of rates, shall, if for any period not exceeding one year, require the previous sanction of the Superintending Canal Officer. If proposed for longer periods, such contracts shall be submitted for the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor in the Irrigation Department.

18. Tanks may be filled with canal water without charge, and without reference to the area irrigated in any village, wherever water can be made available without injury to the cultivation dependent on any canal, under the following conditions:—

(a.)—No tank shall be so filled unless the water is to be exclusively used for domestic purposes or for watering cattle, or both.

(b.)—No tank shall be so filled from which irrigation is practised.

(c.)—No tank shall be so filled which, intercepting any line of drainage, is liable to overflow from accumulation of water derived from natural causes.

(d.)—No tank shall be so filled except on the written order of the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer issued on the written application of the parties concerned.

(e.)—No tank shall be so filled unless the village channel used to fill it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer to be in a sound condition when the application is made.

(f)—The privilege herein accorded may, by written order of the Divisional Canal Officer, subject to revision by the Superintending Canal Officer, whose decision shall be final, be suspended for 12 months for breach of any of the above conditions.

19. Leases for terms of five years for the supply of water between the 25th June of one year and the 1st April of the following year will be given at the rates fixed in the Schedule, Rule 33, provided that land leased in any village forms one or more compact blocks, each of not less than 50 acres, defined by well-marked boundaries of such a nature as clearly to distinguish leased from the adjoining unleased lands, and to prevent the latter from being surreptitiously watered under cover of the lease.

20. Well-marked boundaries of the nature required by the foregoing rule generally exist. Village roads, bunds of akrahs, village boundaries, and similar natural marks will be sufficient. If such do not exist, and it appears advisable to grant the lease, the villagers may, at the discretion of the Divisional Canal Officer, be required to make small bunds round the leased area, or mark its limits by the erection of cheap boundary marks, or cause to be carried out such arrangements as may suffice for the future identification of the leased area.

21. No restriction is placed on the description of crop to be grown under five-year leases, but no water will be given on these leases between the 1st of April and the 25th of June. The Superintending Canal Officer may relax this rule in the case of water being required for rice-seed beds.

22. If in the opinion of the Divisional Canal Officer it appears advisable to grant a lease for a block of less than 50 acres in area, he must refer the matter for the decision of the Superintending Canal Officer, at whose discretion the restriction as to area may be relaxed.

23. Present holders of three-year leases may at their option avail themselves of the terms offered to the holders of five-year leases, but without retrospective effect.

24. Leases for five years at the rates entered in Rule 33 may be given—(1) on the application of all the cultivators of the area proposed to be leased, on condition of their agreeing in such application to become jointly and severally responsible for the payment of all amounts due on account of water-rates; or (2) on the joint application of the cultivators and of some person hereinafter called the Contractor, who may agree to collect and pay to Government, under section 82 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876, all sums due under the agreement on account of water-rates. The agreement of villagers binding themselves jointly and severally will be in the form prescribed in Appendix C. The joint agreement of villagers and a water-rate Contractor shall be in the form prescribed in Appendix D. Every agreement under this rule must be signed by each applicant in the presence of at least one respectable witness.

25. Contractors shall be entitled to collect water-dues, at the rates given in schedule 4 attached to Rule 33, from the cultivators who have applied for the water supplied. Every due from a cultivator to the Contractor on account of water-rates shall be deemed to be a sum due to Government under sections 82 and 85 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876.

26. A Contractor (or in case there be more than one, each Contractor severally and jointly) shall use due diligence in the collection of the water-rates specified in the agreement from the cultivators, who have applied for the water supplied. In the case of his failure after due diligence to collect, he shall, without loss of time, submit to the Collector a list showing the names of the defaulters, with the sums due from each, and the Collector shall thereon proceed to realize the amount due from the said defaulters according to law.

26*a*. A Contractor (or in case there be more than one, each Contractor severally and jointly) shall be responsible for all sums payable on the agreement, except such sums as he may satisfy the Collector that he has been unable to collect after using due diligence.

27. No water shall be taken previous to the receipt of a permit (Appendix B) signed by the Divisional Canal Officer. When an agreement has been made for the collection of the rates by a Contractor, the Divisional Canal Officer shall under section 82 furnish such Contractor with a written authority to collect the amounts due by the cultivators according to a list furnished in the application, one copy of which is to be sent to the Collector.

28. Every Contractor shall nominate a headman, to be approved of by the Divisional Canal Officer, to perform the duties specified in Rule 10. Such headman or the contractor, according to the arrangement made at the time of contract, shall receive 5 per cent. on the assessment, but the Divisional Canal Officer may retrench the whole or any part of these fees if the duties are not properly performed.

29. All water-rates leviable under the above rules for five-year leases shall become due on the 31st December and 15th March in equal portions, and shall be paid within one month of such dates.

30. Under section 78 of the Act, the rates chargeable per acre for water supplied to the different description of crops up to 1st of April 1881, except in cases of three-year leases now in existence, will be as follow:—

SCHEDULE I.—Existing rates. (Annual.)

34. The statements of the amounts demandable for water-rates levied under the rules in force shall be prepared under the supervision and signature of the Divisional Canal Officer in such form as shall from time to time be sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor.

35. All water-rates shall become due on the dates below stated, and shall be paid within one month of such dates :—

Water-rate on spring crops, wheat, barley, peas, poppy, &c.	...	15th March.
Water-rate on summer crops, cheena, &c.	...	15th July.
Water-rate on bhadoi crops, early rice, indian-corn, murwa, &c.	...	31st October.
Water-rate on annual and winter crops, sugarcane, aghani rice, jowar, &c.		31st December.

36. In the case of lands held in bhaoli, the water-rate shall be recoverable from both the cultivator and the person or persons in receipt of the bhaoli rents in the same proportion as the produce is divisible amongst them.

37. In the case of lands held in bhaoli, the zemindar shall sign jointly with the cultivators. (This rule only applies to the case of five-year leases.)

38. The area irrigated in any village shall be measured by an Ameen appointed for the purpose. The Putwari shall be present at the measurement, and shall at the time take a copy of the khusrah of the Ameen; if for any reason the Putwari is not present, the cost of prepating the copy will be charged against him. This copy shall be delivered to the Putwari, or, in his absence, to the Lambardar. Both the Lambardar and Putwari shall sign the khusrah.

39. When the measurement is completed, the khusrah shall be forwarded to the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer, who shall prepare the khatiani with all possible despatch. A copy of the khatiani, signed and sealed by the Zilladar, shall, as soon as it is prepared, be forwarded to the Putwari, who shall grant a receipt for the same. If the Putwari is not present, or declines to receive the khatiani, the Sub-Divisional Officer shall forward it direct to the Collector.

40. It shall be the duty of the Putwari, immediately on the completion of the measurement to inform each ryot, on application, of the fields measured against him, and on receipt of the khatiani to supply each person charged with a percha showing the water-rates due. For these duties, and for attending the measurement and rendering such other reasonable assistance to the Canal Officer and Collector as may be required, an allowance of one quarter anna per rupee on the amount collected shall be made.

41. This allowance shall be paid to the Putwari by the Collector if he is satisfied that the work has been properly done.

42. The Canal Officer shall note on the khatiani whether the Putwari has given proper assistance during the measurement.

43. If a cultivator is dissatisfied with the entries made against him in the khatiani, whether as to the fact of the land having been charged "flow" instead of "lift" or as to the measurements and entries of classes of crops, he must lodge a complaint, either personally or through the Lambardar of his village channel, with the Divisional or Sub-Divisional Canal Officer within a month after the date of the demand being made on him.

44. The Zilladar shall submit his check measurements in a form (Appendix E) which shall be sent in for the inspection of the Divisional Canal Officer. The Sub-Divisional Canal Officer shall check the Ameens' measurements as often as he possibly can. If it be found that any ameen wilfully or frequently makes wrong measurements, he shall be punished by dismissal.

45. Collection of all water-rates shall be made by the Collector in accordance with the statement of demands furnished to him by the Divisional Canal Officer.

46. Objections to the demand addressed to the Collector, if preferred within one month after the demand has been made, shall, if remission be claimed on the score of short supply, or of any matter affecting the Irrigation Department, be referred for orders to the Divisional Canal Officer. The Collector shall have discretion to suspend collections by a written order in cases where (objections having been filed) it may seem advisable to do so.

47. Claims for remission, referred by the Collector and admitted by the Divisional Canal Officer, shall be reported by him for the sanction of the Superintending Canal Officer, except in cases where remissions are made on account of excess areas having been charged, or a wrong name entered in the khatiani.

48. If the Divisional Canal Officer reject the claim, an appeal may be made to the Superintending Canal Officer, provided that it is preferred within forty days from the issue of the order of the Divisional Canal Officer.

49. A remission statement, signed by the Superintending or Divisional Canal Officer, shall be sufficient authority for a refund by the Collector.

50. In special cases not otherwise provided in these rules, and in cases where water-rates are not recoverable owing to the absconding or bankruptcy of the defaulter, the Collector will obtain the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division to the remission of such sums as he may deem irrecoverable. The details of such remission shall be communicated at the close of each official year to the Divisional Canal Officer.

51. The Collector shall appoint a headman (to be called a Tehsildar), whose duty will be to collect and pay in, to the Collector or other duly authorized person, all water-rates leviable on the land irrigated.

52. The Tehsildar shall furnish security for the payment of all sums realized by him, the stamp and registration fees on security bonds being deducted from the percentage allowed, under the following rule.

53. The allowance to the Tehsildars of a village or villages for collecting the water-rates shall be fixed by the Collector, but the total amount to be paid in any one year to all the Tehsildars in a district shall not exceed half an anna in the rupee on the amounts actually paid in. If the Tehsildar shall satisfy the Collector that arrears have not accrued through any negligence on his part, it shall be at the option of the Collector to pay him the allowance on the whole or any part of such arrears.

54. If only a portion of a field be irrigated, the water-rate shall be chargeable on the whole field, unless such portion shall have been clearly demarcated, previous to the admission of the water, by a ridge not less than half a foot high.

55. When a portion of a field has been irrigated with canal water, and a portion with well or reservoir water, the whole field shall be liable for canal water-rate, unless a clearly distinguishable boundary exists between the two portions.

56. If well or reservoir water is conveyed in the same channel as canal water, the whole of the irrigation from that channel shall be liable to canal water-rate The Lambardar will be held personally responsible that any breach of this rule or of Rules 54 and 55 is duly reported.

57. Irrigation from escape channels, when the supply is permanent, shall be governed by the same rules as irrigation from other parts of the canal.

58. Irrigation from such channels, when the supply is intermittent, may be allowed at such reduced rates as shall from time to time be fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor.

59. Persons using water without a written permit, or taking water at times prohibited by proper authority, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding double water-rates on the area irrigated, and such charge shall be leviable at the time of report to the Collector.

60. The charge leviable for water suffered to run to waste on uncultivated lands shall be calculated at the highest rate specified in the schedule, on the area flooded; provided that in every such case the Divisional Canal Officer may impose a lower rate if he thinks fit. The Lambardar is to be held responsible for reporting such waste of water.

61. When the original crop sown in a field irrigated by canal water fails, and is ploughed up, and a fresh crop is sown in the same season, the water-rates shall be levied on the second crop.

62. No person shall, without the permission in writing of the Divisional or Sub-Divisional Canal Officer, pass, or cause any animal or vehicle to pass, on or across any of the works, banks, or channels of a canal or drainage work after he has been desired to desist therefrom, excepting by means of such bridges, fords, and ferries, and their approaches, as are provided by the Divisional Canal Officer.

63. No Canal Officer, unless specially exempted by the Lieutenant-Governor from the operation of this rule, shall have any interest in the distribution of water from any of the canals, or purchase or bid for any Government property sold thereon, either in his own name, or in the name of another, or jointly, or in shares with others.

Text-books in Vernacular Medical Schools.

IN the Resolution of the Government of Bengal, dated 13th December 1880, on the subject of text-books in Vernacular Medical Schools, it was notified that an Urdu text-book on medicine, an Urdu and a Bengali text-book on Midwifery, and an Urdu text-book on Medical Jurisprudence, were required; and it was announced that measures would be taken to procure, by public competition, translations of approved text-books in those subjects. In accordance with the orders quoted, persons intending to enter into the competition in any subject are now invited to submit specimen translations of one of the following series of extracts:—

(a) Roberts' Hand-book of Medicine (4th ed., 1880). The following passages to be translated into Urdu:—

Vol. I., pp. 345 to 365: "Physical Examination of the Chest." To be condensed in translation.
Vol. II., pp. 156 to 163: "Dysentery." A comprehensive resumé to be given of the most approved methods of the treatment of dysentery in India.

(b) Playfair's Midwifery (2nd ed, 1878). The following passages to be translated into Bengali or Urdu:—

Vol. I., pp. 306 to 322: "Mechanism of delivery in Head Presentations." To be condensed.
Vol. II., pp. 155 to 173: "Turning." To be condensed.
Vol II., pp. 281 to 293. "Puerperal Eclampsia." To be condensed.

(c) Kanai Lal Dey's Medical Jurisprudence. The following passage to be translated into Urdu:—

Pages 314 to 329; "Poisons."

2. Those passages which are to be condensed in translation should be reduced to about one-third of their original length.

3. The specimen translations should be submitted, not later than the 1st October 1881, to Dr. R. C. Chandra, Professor, Medical College, the President of the Committee of Selection. Four printed copies of each translation should be sent for the use of the members of the Committee. Manuscript translations will not be received.

4. Each of the translators selected by the Committee will be required to finish, within a time to be hereafter fixed, the translation of the work which he has undertaken; and if he completes it to the satisfaction of the Committee, a reward of Rs. 500 will be paid him, and his translation will be adopted as a text-book. All the profits of sale will be left to the translator, but the selling price of each work will be settled beforehand in communication with the translator, and in consideration of the cost of production.

PART III.

Act of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Third Publication]

THE following Act, passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, received the assent of His Honor on the 9th April 1881, and having received the assent of His Excellency the Governor-General on the 23rd May 1881, is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. IV OF 1881.

An Act to amend "The Bengal Excise Act, 1878."

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend "The Bengal Excise Act, 1878": It is enacted as follows:—

Short title, construction, and commencement of Act.

1. This Act may be called "The Bengal Excise Act Amendment Act, 1881."

It shall be read with, and taken as part of "The Bengal Excise Act, 1878," and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor-General.

Repeal of section 64 of Bengal Act VII of 1878.

2. Section 64 of "The Bengal Excise Act, 1878," is hereby repealed

Amendment of section 4.

3. In section 4, after the definition of "exciseable article," the following shall be inserted, namely:

"Foreign exciseable article" means any exciseable article manufactured or produced at any place beyond the limits of British India, or at any place in British India in which no duty of excise is levied upon the manufacture or production of such article.

Amendment of section 9.

4. In the last clause of section 9, for the words "and permit the manufacture of such liquors in distilleries established under section 7," the following shall be substituted:—

"Nothing in this section, or in section 7, shall be held to debar the Collector, with the sanction of the Board, from granting a license for the manufacture of spirituous liquors after native processes in a distillery established under section 7."

Introduction of new section after section 17.

5. After section 17, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

Prohibition respecting certain foreign exciseable articles.

"17A. The Board, with the sanction of the local Government, may, from time to time, declare, by a notification published in the Calcutta Gazette, in respect of any foreign exciseable article except spirituous and fermented liquors imported by sea and kept only for private use and consumption and not for sale—

"(1) that the possession of such foreign exciseable article is absolutely prohibited in any quantity whatsoever in the districts or tracts specified in the notification, or

"(2) that such possession shall be limited to specified quantities unless the Collector or other officer duly authorized in that behalf shall grant a license for the possession of a larger quantity of such article. The Board may, from time to time, if it think fit, fix the fee or duty payable for such license."

Amendment of section 19.

6. In section 19, after the words "beyond the limits of British India," shall be inserted the words "or at any place in British India in which no duty of excise is levied upon its manufacture."

Amendment of section 58.

7. In section 58, the words "for sale" shall be omitted, and for the last clause of the section, the following words shall be substituted, namely: "shall be liable for every such offence (the provisions of section 17 notwithstanding) to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees."

Amendment of section 61.

8. For the second clause of section 61, the following shall be substituted:—

"Nothing contained in the first clause of this section, or in section 17, applies to any spirituous or fermented liquors imported by sea which any person may have in his possession for his private use and consumption and not for sale."

Introduction of new section after section 61.

9. After section 61, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

Penalty for being found in possession of foreign exciseable article in contravention of prohibition.

"61A. Any person who, in contravention of any notification issued under section 17A, is found in possession of any foreign exciseable article, or of a larger quantity of any such article than is permitted under such notification, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees."

Amendment of section 75.

10. In the first clause of section 75, for the words "shall be liable to seizure and confiscation by an officer duly empowered in that behalf," the following shall be substituted, namely: "shall be liable to seizure by an officer duly empowered in that behalf, and to confiscation."

Amendment of section 82.

11. For section 82, the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

Power to exempt exciseable articles from provisions of Act.

"82. The local Government may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, within any specified tract of country, exempt any exciseable article or foreign exciseable article from all or any of the provisions of this Act, and may, from time to time, by a like notification, cancel such exemption."

CALCUTTA PORT TRUST.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MARINE—CALCUTTA PORT TRUST.

Calcutta, the 15th June 1881.

READ—

The Administration Report of the Commissioners for making Improvements in the Port of Calcutta for the year 1880-81.

The total value of the property held by the Commissioners at the close of the year estimated, with reference only to the amount actually expended on works and in the formation of Reserve Funds, but exclusive of the value of the foreshore lands made over to the Trust by Government free of charge, was Rs. 1,27,36,752, thus—

	Rs.
Expenditure on jetties and works for the accommodation of sea-going vessels	49,63,042
Expenditure on wharves, jetties, and landing-stages for the accommodation of boat traffic and tramway to connect railway with wharves and jetties	50,98,477
Expenditure on buoys, moorings, anchor vessels, and boats, &c.	19,89,974
Investment for Jetty Reserve Fund	79,920
Ditto for Port ditto	3,64,250
Ditto for Depreciation Reserve Fund	1,99,995
Ditto for Insurance ditto	41,094
	1,27,36,752

The addition made to the value of the Port property during the year under review was Rs. 6,25,941, of which Rs. 17,426 were contributions to the Reserve Funds, the balance, Rs. 6,08,515, being the amount spent on improvements.

The above expenditure has been met from the following sources:—

	Rs
By loan from Government (re-payable) ...	60,25,100
Less unexpended balance	41 022
	59,84,078
By loan from Government (not re payable) ...	17,65,000
Contribution from Government towards purchase of land ...	74,584
Ditto ditto ditto landing-stage at Prinsep's Ghât	10,000
Contribution from Government towards purchase of River Police Block	11,650
From sale of surplus land	4 07,817
From revenue derived from works since formation of Trust	44,83,623
	1,27,36,752

2. The liabilities of the Trust on the 31st March last amounted to Rs. 70,18,564 made up as follows:—

	Rs.
Consolidated debt re-payable	52,53,564
Port book-debt not re-payable	17,65,000
Total ...	70,18,564

The total re-payable debt, which amounted to Rs. 53,40,349 when the Act for the amendment of the Calcutta Port Improvement Act of 1870 [IV (B.C.) of 1880] became law, has thus been reduced by Rs. 86,785. By the orders of the Government of India in the Financial Department, issued in September 1878, the further grant of loans by Government under the Public Works Loan Act was prohibited, and it became necessary for the Commissioners to look to the open market for such loans as they might in future require. To enable them to do this the amending Act of 1880 provided that such loans should only be contracted with the sanction of the local Government and on the security of the whole, or, with the permission of Government, of any part of the property of the Trust, and that the Commissioners should form a sinking fund to pay off within 30 years any loan that might be negociated. It was then believed that these provisions would suffice to protect the creditors of the Trust, and it was hoped, in the words of the Lieutenant-Governor's resolution of last year, that "the ample security afforded by their property and income, and provided by the recent law, would place the Commissioners in a position of credit as borrowers in the open market." These anticipations have unfortunately not been realized. The Commissioners invited tenders during the past year for a loan of ten lakhs of rupees, but no response was made, and it was found on enquiry that the Banks objected to some of the clauses of the Act. The Advocate-General was consulted on the question and recorded the following opinion:—

> "Although I think that persons lending money to the Port Commissioners under the provisions of Bengal Act IV of 1880 would be practically safe, yet there exist doubtless legal objections which may be taken to the scheme developed by that Act with reference to loans and the remedies relating thereto. It has lately become usual to make loans re-payable in default of payment of any one instalment of interest. There is no such provision in the Act, but, on the contrary, there is an express provision by which the principal may be tied up for thirty years.
> "Furthermore, no individual debenture-holder has any independent power of action in the event of any instalment of interest being unpaid, and all the ordinary legal remedies by decree and execution, or the appointment of a receiver by a civil court, are taken away from individual debentureholders by section 17, and the appointment of a receiver is vested in the Lieutenant-Governor in the manner, provided by that section. The objections above noticed principally stand in the way of the proposed loan being taken up. Sections 18 and 19, which appear to flow out of the provisions of section 17, are, I presume, also objected to.

"Under these circumstances the Act must, I think, be altered in such a manner as to get rid of the two principal objections above noticed; consequently sections 17, 18, and 19 must be omitted.

"As a member of the Select Committee I did not foresee the difficulties which have arisen I thought that practical safety under the immediate supervision of the local Government, entailing no serious expenses, would have been a sufficient inducement to persons to lend money."

With the consent of the Government of India a new Act (I of 1881) has been passed by the Bengal Council which, it is believed, will do away with the objections entertained by capitalists to lending money to the Commissioners. The security offered certainly appears ample, and the credit of the Trust should not be affected in any way by such reductions in charges as are in contemplation. It is always open to the Commissioners and Government to revise the scale of charges to meet the requirements of the Trust, though, for his own part, the Lieutenant-Governor believes that the removal of burdens upon trade will in the end improve the income and financial position of the Port.

3. The total expenditure on new works during the year amounted to Rs. 6,19,589, of which Rs. 3,09,230 were spent on jetty works, Rs. 1,42,170 on the inland vessels wharves, Rs. 58,436 on the tramway, Rs. 20,067 on the Howrah foreshore road, and Rs. 89,682 on miscellaneous works.

The chief improvements effected by the Commissioners were the following:—A new jetty (No 8) was constructed at a cost of Rs. 84,058. The jetty embankment continued to make satisfactory progress. (The total length of the work to be carried out is 2,235 lineal feet, of which 1,413 feet have been sanctioned and taken in hand. Of the sheet piling necessary for this work, 891 feet had been driven up to the end of 1879-80; the remaining 522 feet were completed during the year under review, and the formation of the embankment has proceeded simultaneously with the pile driving.) The spaces between the sheds have been metalled to allow carts to have access to the jetty heads, and the tramway lines have been relaid on the jetties so as to suit the present arrangements of the sheds. The import shed at No 1 jetty was taken down and re-erected at No. 4 jetty on the completion of the latter, and there are now four jetties at which cargo can be landed directly into the sheds without the use of trollies. The road between Aheeretollah and Nimtollah Ghâts, a length of 665 feet, was widened by 18 feet. The embankment between No. 8 jetty and Chandpal Ghât is now nearly completed. Two floating stages for the convenience of the inland boat traffic have been finished. Further extensions, amounting in all to 5,100 feet, have been made to the tramway. A new anchor vessel to replace the Cavery which was sanctioned in July 1880 is nearly ready, and the following works are in progress—twenty new wagons for the tramway, a new hopper barge, engines for the old hopper barge, and new engines and a boiler for the Vectis.

4. The gross income from the jetties amounted to Rs. 7,24,900, and the net income after deduction of expenditure to Rs. 2,52,979, the corresponding figures for the previous year being Rs. 6,69,654 and Rs. 2,02,077. The rise in jetty receipts which has been entirely on import cargo, was due to an increase in the quantity of goods, principally cotton piece-goods, twist and yarn, passing over the jetties. The increase of expenditure is said to be chiefly owing to the charges necessary for working the new jetty (No. 8) which has been open for the greater part of the year. There was an increase also in the charge for repairs of nearly Rs. 7,000. The proportion of expenditure to gross income was nearly 70 per cent. in the year under review, as against 64 per cent. in 1880-81.

The number of ships (193) using the jetties was greater by one only than was the case last year, but the average tonnage (1,680) of each vessel is higher than it has ever yet been. The rate of clearance seems to be but little affected by the increase in average tonnage.

The following statement shows the extent to which the jetties have been utilized by vessels trading at the port:—

Period.	Number of jetties.	Number of vessels accommodated.	Registered net tonnage.	Total number of days occupied at all jetties.	Total amount contributed by vessels for use of jetties.	Average tonnage of vessels.	Average length of stay at jetties.	Average number of days each jetty was at work throughout the year.	Average amount paid by each vessel for use of jetties.	Total jetty receipts from imports and exports.	Average per vessel.

5. The income and expenditure on account of the tramway have this year for the first time been shown separately from those for the inland vessels wharves. Excluding, therefore, the former items, the figures for the wharves alone for the past three years appear to be as follow:—

	Income.	Expenditure.
	Rs.	Rs.
1878-79	3,79,375	2,01,927
1879-80	3,46,022	2,47,516
1880-81	3,76,444	1,92,091

It is pointed out, however, that the charge for interest included in the expenditure of 1878-79 and 1879-80, comprised a considerable sum on account of the tramway. The tolls collected at the inland vessels wharves show an increase of Rs. 34,747 as compared with the previous year, the total amount being Rs. 3,70,568. The anticipations expressed last year that the railway would to an increasing extent absorb the grain and seed traffic to the detriment of wharves' receipts have not been fulfilled in the year under review as the tolls from these two sources, are higher by Rs. 41,000 than in 1879-80. There has, on the other hand, been a falling off of Rs. 8,292 under the head of "Tolls from jute."

6. The new agreement between the Eastern Bengal Railway Company and the Commissioners regarding the working of the tramway, came into operation during the past year. Under it the Commissioners have made over to the Railway Company the terminal charges and the amounts paid for loading and unloading goods, while the Company defrays the charges for the supply of coolie labour, and pays to the Port a monthly rental of Rs. 1,000 for the premises occupied at Armenian Ghât and Ruthtollah. The total earnings shown under the new system amount to Rs. 1,12,026, against Rs. 1,34,901 under the old in the previous year. The falling off is, however, apparent only, and disappears if the rent now paid by the Railway Company, and the decrease in expenditure, amounting to Rs. 25,096, be taken into consideration. The net revenue was Rs. 30,557, as against Rs 28,536 in 1879-80. The advantages offered by the tramway are fully appreciated by the mercantile public, and there is no doubt that its extension to Chandpal Ghât, and the increased facilities for its use, which the additional rolling stock now under construction will afford, will further add to its popularity and render it a very profitable source of income to the Commissioners.

7. The receipts and ordinary expenditure on account of the Strand Bank Lands varied little from the figures of the previous year. The net revenue was Rs. 63,153, against Rs. 69,406, owing apparently to the outlay of Rs. 6,442 on 'renewals,' a new and unexplained heading. The improvements now going on upon the Howrah foreshore will probably augment materially the income of this portion of the Trust.

8. The following table exhibits the gross income, expenditure, and profits of the Harbour Master's Department, or Port Proper, for the past ten years:—

	Gross Income.	Expenditure.	Profit.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1871-72	4,48,111	2,80,939	1,67,172
1872-73	5,43,020	3,95,186	1,47,852
1873-74	4,26,974	3,84,858	42,116
1874-75	4,25,390	4,19,923	5,467
1875-76	4,30,551	4,24,931	5,620
1876-77	4,69,290	4,23,566	45,724
1877-78	6,10,171	4,28,909	1,81,262
1878-79	5,80,184	3,98,106	1,82,078
1879 80	5,61,299	3,92,353	1,68,946
1880-81	4,93,644	4,63,514	30,130

The net income for the year under review exhibits a very considerable falling off as compared with the years immediately preceding it. None of these can, however, be taken as normal years. The Madras famine caused a large influx of shipping at the commencement of the period, and the subsequent depression of trade led to the detention in port for long periods of a large number of vessels in 1878 and 1879. The receipts, moreover, were enhanced in the latter year, as was explained in the Resolution reviewing the Commissioners' Report for 1879-80, by the payment of a debt of Rs. 36,000 by Government. It is to be noted also, that the charge for Depreciation, which amounted to Rs. 150 only in 1879-80, was unusually high in 1880-81, amounting to Rs. 80,940, and including the cost of a new anchor vessel to replace the Cavery. The Lieutenant-Governor has recently drawn the attention of the Commissioners to the question of the Annual Depreciation charge, and the correct method of treating the Reserve Depreciation Fund.

9. It is satisfactory to observe that the total number of vessels entering the port during the year (984) was higher than it has been for the last fifteen years, setting aside the abnormal periods 1876-77 and 1877-78. The number of canal steamers has risen from 128 in 1878-79, to 163 in the year under review. The average tonnage of these vessels though still very high (2,581 tons) shows a slight tendency to decrease, having reached 2,680 tons in the preceding year, and 2,714 in 1878-79. The following table exhibiting the number of sailing vessels and steamers visiting the port during the last eleven years, and their average tonnage, shows conclusively the tendency of the general trade of the port to pass away from the former class of shipping:—

	Sailing vessels		Steamers
	Number.	Average tonnage	Number.	Average tonnage
1870-71 ...	672	991	259	1,266
1871-72 ...	655	1,052	300	1,439
1872-73 ...	615	1,024	338	1,523

1878-79 ...	478	1,112	489	1,838
1879-80 ...	454	1,250	442	1,920
1880-81 ...	478	1,194	506	1,994

10. The number of accidents to ships within the jurisdiction of the Commissioners (nine), is in excess of that of last year (four), but in two cases only was any serious damage done. The Cape Verde when dropping down the river, on the 12th August 1880, forged over a buoy in Garden Reach and knocked a hole in her bottom, and the Menam when lying at anchor sustained considerable damage owing to the steam ship City of Venice, in charge of a pilot, running into her. In neither of these cases was the Assistant Harbour Master on board to blame. The floating fire-engine Hooghly was kept under steam throughout the year, and was employed on sixteen occasions. None of the fires which occurred on board sea-going vessels was of a grave character, but the Hooghly was of considerable service to the Cape Verde on the occasion of the accident to that vessel. Some difficulty is said to be experienced in keeping the floating fire-engine under weigh while the pumps are being worked, as also in turning her in a narrow channel. To obviate this it is proposed to fit her with twin screws worked by separate engines. The Lieutenant-Governor will await the report of the Commissioners on this point. All the moorings belonging to the port were examined during the year, and where necessary repaired. Two new sets of moorings were laid down at Meteabruj Ghât for oil ships, and one swinging mooring off Calcutta. It appears from the report of the Deputy Conservator that considerable inconvenience was felt for want of mooring accommodation in August, September, and October, and the Commissioners have in consequence provided in the Budget Estimates for the current year for the expenditure necessary for laying an additional line of moorings from Chandpal Ghât to Fort Point, to replace the accommodation lost by the silting up of the moorings at Prinsep's Ghât and Hastings.

11. The Return of dredging operations, which was not satisfactory last year, is even less so in that under review, as will appear from the following table:—

Particulars.	1880-81.	1879-80.	1878-79.	1877-78.	1876-77.	1875-76.	1874-75.

Rate per 1,000 cubic feet	26·93	8·2	7·6	3·5	9·2	13·4	20·3

It is explained that during four months the dredger was laid up for repairs, and that for the whole year one barge only was at work. The latter fact, combined with the employment of the Hetty in towing vessels through the bridge, is said to account for the small earnings from towage.

12. The Moyapore Powder Magazine was inspected twice, and was found to be in good order. The total quantity of powder stowed in it was 100,257lbs., besides 30 sample packages, and 264 ammunition packages; of this amount 32,832lbs., 34 sample packages, and 29 ammunition packages, remained in store on the 30th April last.

13. The total amount paid as license fees for cargo and passenger boats, and the number of boats surveyed and licensed were as follows:—Rs. 18,420 paid by 5,548 cargo-boats, and Rs. 7,154 by 2,060 ordinary passenger boats; eight passenger steamers, two flats, and one budgerow. Rs. 2,303 were received for licenses to manjhis, and Rs. 393 as registering charges.

14. The question of the advisability of carrying out permanent improvements from capital, and devoting surplus revenue to reducing the charges of the jetties, wharves, and Port, has been prominently before Government in connection with the Budget Estimates for the current year, and is noticed at length by the Commissioners in their present report. The Government is still in correspondence with them as to the proper mode of giving full effect to the Lieutenant-Governor's views upon this subject. The proposals of the Commissioners with reference to the provision of Bonding accommodation, and the erection of a Tea warehouse, have not yet come before Government in any complete form. The Lieutenant-Governor has said that he desires to know the opinion of the mercantile community upon these schemes. He is glad to observe that the removal of the municipal pumping station from Chandpal Ghât is now in a fair way of being carried out.

15. The question of the amalgamation of the duties of the Port Officer with those of the Port Commissioners, was taken up again during the year under review, and a Committee which was appointed to consider the subject in all its bearings, made a report, of which the following is a summary

(1) We do not recommend the transfer of the Pilot Service to the Port Commissioners;

(2) But we recommend that the port approaches, including the light-ships, light-houses, buoying and survey, the expenditure on which has to be met from Port Funds, should be transferred to the Port Commissioners.

(3) Under this arrangement the Port Officer would not be transferred to the Port Commissioners, but would remain in charge of the Pilot Service and of all duties connected with vessels under the Government of Bengal. He would conduct the quarterly examinations of masters, mates, engineers, and pilots, and make such surveys under the Passengers Act as are required by Government. These duties are, however, hardly sufficient to occupy the whole time and attention of the Port Officer, and the Committee think that they might with advantage be amalgamated with the duties of the Superintendent of Marine.

(4) If the appointment is to be maintained separate from that of the Superintendent of Marine, the title of the officer holding it should be changed, and the officer of the Commissioners, now known as Deputy Conservator and Harbour Master, should be styled the Port Officer.

(5) The officer in charge of the port approaches should be styled the Deputy Conservator. He should be a thoroughly trained Marine Surveyor, and his head-quarters should be at Diamond Harbour.

(6) The block of the port approaches to be made over to the Port Commissioners without any charge for interest, provided the Port Commissioners agree to maintain and renew it as may be necessary.

(7) Before the transfer is made, Act XII of 1875 should be amended, and the schedule of port dues for Calcutta, increased from four annas to six annas per ton, a corresponding reduction of 15 per cent. being made in the schedule of pilotage charges.

(8) The office establishment now employed under the Port Officer on work in connection with the port approaches, to be taken over, as far as necessary, by the Port Commissioners; the officer in charge of the Pilot Service to retain the establishment now employed on this work.

(9) The officers and men employed on the survey, light-vessels, &c., connected with the port approaches, to retain, on their transfer to the Port Commissioners, all the privileges they now enjoy in regard to pension and leave.

The Lieutenant-Governor concurred in the views taken by the Committee which he recommended for the acceptance of the Government of India. The Supreme Government has consented generally to the proposal, and the necessary arrangements for carrying it into effect are now under consideration.

16. An important addition has been made to the duties of the Commissioners by their investure with all the powers conferred on the local Government by chapter II of the Merchant Shipping Act of last year, except the powers of appointing a Judge and Assessors for the Court of Survey under sections 14 and 15, and of making rules under section 68 of the Act.

17. The new Act for the amendment of Act IV (B C.) of 1880 provides for the appointment of an extra Port Commissioner, which will enable the interests of Howrah to be represented. It also empowers the local Government to make rules to regulate the employment of European sailors and others in the port. This provision was necessary, as it was discovered that the Commissioners could not by their bye-laws interfere to prevent the unnecessary exposure to the sun of sailors on board ships within their jurisdiction.

18. An arrangement has now been arrived at between the Commissioners and the Calcutta Municipal Corporation, under which the latter has consented to reduce the cost of filtered water supplied to the shipping at the jetties, from Rs. 8 to Rs. 4 per 1,000 gallons.

19. The Commissioners held 28 meetings during the year, the attendance at which was satisfactory and testifies to the strong interest taken by them, as a body, in their important duties. Mr. Buckland was Chairman of the Commissioners throughout the year, an office which he resigned shortly after its close, on his retirement from the service of Government. The Commissioners have placed on record their appreciation of the services which he rendered to the Port Trust during the time that he held the office of Chairman, and their regret at his retirement.

The thanks of Government are again due to the Commissioners generally and to their Vice-Chairman, Mr. W. Duff Bruce in particular, for the efficient manner in which the affairs of the Trust have been conducted during the period under review.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. MACKENZIE,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

THE INDIAN FACTORIES ACT.

No. 12—712, dated Simla, the 27th May 1881.

From—The Hon'ble C. Grant, C.S., Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of India, Home, Revenue and Agricultural Department,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

In inviting the attention of the Government of Bengal to the Factories Act (No. XV) of 1881, I am desired to convey to you the following observations regarding the principles which should be observed in its administration.

2. The Act, it will be seen, does not apply to indigo factories or premises situated on and used solely for the purposes of tea or coffee plantations; nor to temporary establishments wherein operatives are employed for less than four months in the year; nor to comparatively small undertakings providing work on any day for less than one hundred persons. Moreover, the restrictions which it imposes on the hours of labour extend only to children; and, except in so far as the Act provides for the fencing of machinery and notice of accidents, it does not impose any obligation on mill-owners for the protection of adults.

3. The scope of the law is thus comparatively limited, and it will be apparent that, in framing it, the most careful regard has been paid to the representations of the mill-owners and commercial and other associations which have memorialised the Government of India on the subject of factory legislation. Indeed, consistently with the objects in view, it would have been scarcely possible to frame a more moderate measure; and the Governor-General in Council believes that the uneasiness which is still felt in some quarters regarding its possible effects on the manufacturing industries is caused not so much by objection to the protection of children and to the fencing of machinery as by the fear that the provisions designed for these purposes may be injudiciously worked to the detriment of legitimate operations. Such apprehensions are not altogether unnatural; for there is always a risk that, in the absence of suitable precautions, administrative zeal in enforcing a new law may overstep due limits and prove injurious to the conduct of commercial enterprise. Similar difficulties, however, have been satisfactorily surmounted in England; and, having regard to the great importance of providing for the people of this country fresh outlets for surplus labour, and of avoiding all unnecessary restraints upon industrial employment, the Governor-General in Council desires to impress upon all Local Governments the necessity of regulating the machinery of inspection and of selecting the inspecting agency in such a manner as to prevent all reasonable cause of complaint. The Government of India attach great importance to the choice of Inspectors, who, while they will take care that the provisions of the Act are honestly and thoroughly carried out, will discharge their duties in the most conciliatory manner.

4. On the other hand, it must be borne in mind that, although many factories are managed on enlightened and liberal principles, yet the enquiries of the Bombay Commission of 1875 did undoubtedly disclose the existence in many places of grave defects in factory management; and it was to prevent the possibility of such abuses that the present law was enacted. In consideration of the important interests involved, and in deference to the opinions of many of the local Governments and public bodies and associations consulted, the restrictions which were at first thought necessary have been very materially relaxed. In one respect, indeed, viz., in the reduction to seven years of the minimum age at which a child may be employed, the Governor-General in Council does not yet feel sure that relaxation may not have been carried too far. He has assented to the experimental adoption of the existing limit on the grounds that children of seven years of age are at present largely employed in factories without apparent injury to them; and that several local Governments thought the limit of eight years as fixed in the Bill too high. But he considers that the working of this provision in the law will need to be carefully watched; and that it cannot be maintained unless it is found beyond doubt to provide an adequate measure of protection to children of tender years.

5. I am to request that the rules framed under section 18 of the Act may be submitted to the Government of India; and a report will be required on the operation of the Act when a year has elapsed from the date of its introduction.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.—MISCELLANEOUS.

Dated the 17th June 1881.

READ—

(1) "The Indian Factories Act, 1881."

(2) Letter from the Government of India, in the Home, Revenue and Agricultural Department, No 12—712 of the 27th May 1881, conveying the observations of His Excellency the Governor-General in Council regarding the principles which should be observed in the administration of the Act.

(3) Letter from the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, No. 38MR of the 9th June, submitting with remarks a set of Rules under section 18 of the Act, drawn up by him in communication with the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, and the Magistrates of the 24-Pergunnahs and Howrah, as directed in the orders of this Government, No. 3303 of the 24th March last.

The orders of the Government of India, explaining the manner and spirit in which the Factories Act is to be worked, will be published along with this Resolution in the Calcutta Gazette, and circulated to all officers having to do with the administration of the Act.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor believes that he will best ensure that efficient and conciliatory discharge of the duties of Inspectors under section 3 of the Act, upon which so much stress is laid by the Government of India, by leaving those duties, as a general rule, in the hands of the District Magistrates, within the local limits of their jurisdictions. For the present, therefore, no special appointments of Inspectors will be made by this Government, save in Calcutta and the 24-Pergunnahs. In Calcutta the Deputy Commissioner of Police, and in the 24-Pergunnahs (where the district officer is already overworked) the Senior Joint-Magistrate for the time being, will, on the 1st July, be appointed ex-officio Inspectors. The Commissioners of Divisions, and in Calcutta the Commissioner of Police, will be vested with powers to hear appeals from the orders of Inspectors subordinate to them under section 12 (c) of the Act.

3. Under section 5 the Civil Surgeons, or such other persons practising medicine or surgery as the local Government may, from time to time, appoint in this behalf for any local areas, are to act as certifying Surgeons. There is no provision in the Act for the payment of fees to certifying Surgeons, and the Lieutenant-Governor considers that any fees allowed must be paid by Government. He thinks that for the present a fee of four annas for each child presented for examination under section 5 should be sufficient. The Commissioner of Police and Commissioners of Divisions must report at once what medical men they would recommend for appointment, and what local area they would assign to each. Civil Surgeons may be allowed to do the work, where this is convenient both to them and to employers of labour, and must do it outside Calcutta until other arrangements are sanctioned. For Calcutta, nominations must be made before the 25th instant. The main point to be borne in mind by Commissioners in submitting their recommendations is the convenience of employers and employés; and the nearest qualified medical man should as a rule, be selected for appointment.

4. The attention of the Inspectors is drawn to section 7 of the Act, under which the intervals for food and rest to be allowed to children have to be fixed by the local Government for each factory, after ascertaining as far as possible the existing practice in such factory, and the wishes of the occupier thereof. No time should be lost, after the Act comes into force, in settling with employers these hours of relaxation, and reporting them to Government for approval.

5. The rules which the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to lay down under section 18 are set forth in the schedule below. They will be published at once for general information, and submitted to the Government of India, as requested in their letter already quoted. No rules regarding the "fencing of machinery and mill-gearing" in factories are for the present laid down. The Act itself, in sections 10 and 12, provides all that is immediately necessary. But the Lieutenant-Governor will be prepared to prescribe any rules which experience and the reports of the Inspectors may hereafter show to be required.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. MACKENZIE,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

SCHEDULE.

Rules made by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal under Section 18 of Act XV of 1881 (The Indian Factories Act).

1. The terms 'factory,' 'child,' 'mill-gearing,' 'employed,' and 'certifying surgeon,' when used in these Rules, or in any supplementary Rules that may hereafter be made under the Act, shall have the meaning given to them in the Act.

'Inspector' means the Magistrate of the district, or an Inspector appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor under section 5 of the Act.

2. Every Inspector who is not himself the Magistrate of the district, shall be officially subordinate to the Magistrate of the district to which he is appointed, and in Calcutta to the Commissioner of Police.

3. Each Inspector shall keep a register of all factories within his jurisdiction in the form (A) attached to these Rules.

4. As soon as possible after the 1st day of July 1881, the Inspector shall send through the post, under registered cover, a notice to the occupier of every factory within his jurisdiction, intimating his intention of placing such factory upon his register of factories.

5. Any person served with a notice under Rule 4, whose premises do not fall within the definition of a factory given in the Act, may, within 15 days of the receipt of such notice, forward to the Inspector a statement setting forth his objections to the registration of his premises as a factory. The Inspector shall consider and dispose of such objections, after making such enquiry as he may deem necessary, and shall make up his register of factories in accordance with the provisions of the Act.

6. The Inspector may at any time serve a notice, as provided in Rule 4, upon the occupier of any factory, which is not already entered in his register of factories, and the provisions of Rule 5 shall apply to the subsequent proceedings in all such cases.

7. When any premises cease to be occupied as a factory, the occupier may give notice of the fact to the Inspector, who shall, if satisfied that the Act is no longer applicable to such premises, remove them from his register of factories.

8. Each factory shall be inspected by the Inspector at least twice in each calendar year.

9. The Inspector shall keep a register of his inspections of each factory in form (B) attached to these Rules, in which he shall record all orders and remarks made by him on each occasion of his inspection.

10. The Inspector shall without delay furnish a copy of such orders and remarks to the Commissioner of the Division (through the Magistrate of the district, if the Inspector be not himself such Magistrate), and also to the occupier of the factory concerned.

The despatch through the post, under registered cover, of the copy of such orders and remarks shall be deemed to be sufficient service on the occupier of the factory of any orders or directions therein contained.

11. The occupier of a factory shall, if required by the Inspector, bring before him, on the occasion of any inspection, all children employed in the factory, and any other persons in the service of such occupier whom the Inspector may wish to see.

12. Each 'Certifying Surgeon' shall give the certificate described in section 5 of the Act in the form (C) attached to these Rules. Forms of certificate in counterfoil will be supplied to certifying surgeons by the Magistrate of the district, and in Calcutta, by the Commissioner of Police.

13. Every occupier of a factory shall keep a file of all certificates of certifying surgeons relating to persons in his employ, and shall produce this when required by the Inspector. Every such certificate shall be returned by such occupier to the parent or guardian of the person to whom it relates on his leaving the factory for other employ, and on demand of such parent or guardian.

14. Every occupier of a factory shall keep registers in forms (D) and (E) attached to these Rules, and no such register shall be destroyed or removed from the factory without the written permission of the Inspector.

15. Every occupier of a factory shall give notice to the Inspector of the four days fixed by him as monthly holidays for children under section 8 of the Act.

16. An appeal shall lie to the Commissioner of Division (and in Calcutta to the Commissioner of Police) from every order of an Inspector under Rules 5 and 6 of these Rules, and under section 12, clause (c) of the Act. Such appeals must be submitted in writing through the Inspector within 15 days of the order appealed against; and the Inspector shall forward each such appeal within seven days of its presentation, with any remarks or explanations he may see fit to make. The Commissioner shall, on receipt, fix a day for disposing of the appeal, and give due notice thereof to the appellant.

17. Notices of all accidents resulting in death, or from which the injury is evidently so severe that there is no reasonable hope that the injured person will be able to return to his work within 48 hours, should be given on the same day on which the accident occurs. Notice of accidents of a less severe character, but which nevertheless prevent the person injured from returning to his work within 48 hours of the occurrence, shall be given immediately on the expiry of the 48 hours' interval allowed by section 13. Such notice shall be sent to the Magistrate within whose jurisdiction the factory is situated, and also to the Inspector. Notice of fatal injuries shall at the same time be given at the nearest police-station, as required by section 90, Civil Procedure Code. All such notices shall contain full particulars of the accident, and (except the copy to the Inspector, which may be sent by post) shall be sent by special messenger.

GOVERNMENT ENGINEERING COLLEGE, SEEBPORE.

No. 505T, dated Darjeeling, the 17th June 1881.

From—A. MACKENZIE, Esq., Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue and General Departments,

To—The Director of Public Instruction.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 4T, dated the 11th June 1881, regarding the insubordinate conduct of the native students of the Seebpore Engineering College, and to convey to you the thanks of Government for your very full and exhaustive report on the subject.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor has given the matter his careful consideration, and he entirely approves of the action hitherto taken by you, and concurs generally in the conclusions at which you have now arrived.

3. While it is to be regretted that, even under the very great provocation he received, Mr. Fouracres went so far as to lay hands upon Srish Chunder Lahiri at all, there was nothing in the circumstances of the altercation between them calling for the intervention of superior authority, and certainly nothing to warrant its being taken up as a personal question by the rest of the students. It really affected them in no way, and was a matter with which they had no immediate concern. It has never been alleged that Mr. Fouracres has been in the habit of using any sort of personal violence to the students of the College, and they cannot have therefore supposed that any combination to protest against Mr. Fouracres' action in this isolated case was necessary for their common protection. Even had the facts been otherwise, it cannot for a moment be tolerated that lads subject to school discipline shall be allowed to combine to criticise in formal memorials the conduct of their teachers, and dictate to the head of the Education Department, and to Government, the removal of officers who chance to have incurred their boyish displeasure.

4. As shown by you, this is not the first case of the sort that has come before the Bengal Government, or the first occasion on which the intolerable conceit and self-sufficiency of native students have betrayed them into making frivolous complaints against their teachers and superiors, which have on enquiry been shown to have been altogether unjustifiable. There should be no room left for any further doubt as to the position of subordination to which lads in a state of pupilage must be restricted; and you should cause a circular to be sent to all schools and colleges making known to the students that conduct of this sort will in future certainly be followed by the expulsion from the school or college of all who take part in such proceedings.

5. As regards the general charges against Mr. Fouracres put forward by the students in their memorial, and by certain organs of the native press, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find them, as he from his knowledge of Mr. Fouracres expected them to be, either absolutely groundless, or contemptibly frivolous. The students have shown themselves not merely absurd and petulant in the complaints which they have made regarding their accommodation and treatment, but have evinced towards Mr. Fouracres, ingratitude of the worst description in return for many substantial kindnesses done. Mr. Fouracres was specially selected by the Lieutenant-Governor for the office he now holds in consequence of the well-earned reputation he enjoyed for special qualifications, not the least of which was his notorious kindness of heart in the management and training of workmen, and especially of native students. His whole thoughts since the opening of the College have been devoted to making it a success, especially in respect of the training of the native youths attending it; and the results which have followed his efforts elsewhere, to train youths and men of this country in the mechanical arts, prove that any failure at Seebpore will be attributable, not to shortcomings on his part, but to the character of the material with which he has now to work. The Lieutenant-Governor cannot help hoping that when the students see their complaints formulated as they now are in your letter under reply, they will be overwhelmed with shame at the frivolous, childish, and unmanly grounds which have been brought forward on their behalf as sufficient excuse for their insubordinate conduct.

6. Foolish, however, as the students have been, the Lieutenant-Governor does not consider them so much to blame as those older and irresponsible advisers, who have been from the outset encouraging them in insubordination, and urging them, by specious flattery and exaggerated professions of sympathy, into the belief that they were by their attitude of disobedience maintaining a sound principle, and showing a proper spirit of independence. The students will by this time, it is hoped, have realized that they have been made tools of by persons desirous of converting a school dispute into a great question of race antagonism; and they will in future appreciate at its true value the advice of such false friends which has all but led to the permanent ruin of their educational and professional prospects, and gone far to deprive them of the sympathy of those Europeans who are most interested in native progress.

7. It is mainly in view of the fact that the students have been thus ill-advised and misled that the Lieutenant-Governor feels himself able to entertain their present application for pardon. The wording of that application is, however, far from being either sufficient or satisfactory. As pointed out by you, there is no reference to the gravest and most positive act of insubordination—the refusal to submit to your order of the 3rd May last. Still the Lieutenant-Governor is willing to believe that the act of submission is meant to be absolute and complete, and he will not attach undue importance to mere verbal omissions. He is ready, therefore, to accede to your proposal that those students who have specifically withdrawn their names from the original memorial should be readmitted to the College in November next, on their personally expressing to the Principal, in the presence of Mr. Fouracres, their regret for their conduct in failing to obey your orders of the 3rd May, and tendering their apologies to Mr. Fouracres for the frivolous and groundless complaints made by them against that gentleman.

8. The effect of this readmission in November, under the proposals made in paragraph 41 of your letter (which have been accepted, will be that each student will lose six months time. The conduct of the students in so long failing to avail themselves of the opportunity you offered them of withdrawing their names from the joint memorial submitted to you, renders any more favourable arrangement impossible. They have so broken into the course of this term's instruction that it has become impossible for them to take up again their places in their classes, or to pick up lost ground before the commencement of the vacation on the 15th of August.

9. You have fully explained in your letter that the accommodation provided at Seebpore for the native students was avowedly of a temporary character. The students themselves were well aware of this from the first. At the same time the Lieutenant-Governor has no hesitation in saying, from personal observation, that the bungalows are very much more comfortable and healthy than the quarters which the majority of the students of the colleges and schools of Calcutta have to occupy. Much has been said in the native press of the injustice of making over to the students of European origin the "palatial buildings" bought from the Bishop's College, but it must be remembered that the bulk of these boys were transferred from an existing school—the Dehree School;—that they had to be provided for at once; that it was not at first intended to provide any large amount of accommodation for native students as great doubts were expressed regarding the probability of their entering the College as boarders. The question which had to be settled before the opening of the College was, whether the Dehree lads should be at once located in the empty buildings designed for the Christian students of Bishop's College, then standing empty, or whether they should be placed in the bungalows formerly occupied by the native converts of Bishop's College, the dormitories being left empty on the chance of native students wishing to come as boarders to the Engineering College. It seems to the Lieutenant-Governor that there can be no doubt as to the proper answer to be given to this question; and yet a cry of race antagonism and favouritism to the Europeans has been raised because the Christian quarters were not kept for possible native students, and the native quarters given to Europeans. The European rooms are altogether unsuited to native habits, and native ideas; and after all, the accommodation provided there is of the most unpretentious character—four students occupying one small room. It would have been quite impossible to mix the European and native students up in these rooms, and still less feasible to arrange for messing them in a common hall. The only course possible was adopted. The Europeans were placed in the old dormitories with their hall and chapel under the same roof. The native students were placed, as they joined, in very commodious and comfortable bungalows; and other temporary bungalows were run up for them, as required, until it could be determined what permanent accommodation was necessary, and of what character it should be.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor has visited the native students' quarters and found them very comfortable, and ordered immediate compliance with the requests of the students for a few petty alterations. In the meantime he personally examined the country round the College with the officers of the Public Works Department, and at a great expense took up a large plot of new land for the future permanent accommodation of the native students. The land has only just been made over, and Dr. King of the Botanical Gardens, and Mr. Fouracres, have prepared a careful plan for laying it out, improving and planting and draining it. The students were well aware of the intention of Government to provide them with permanent accommodation of an improved character; and their complaints on this score are, therefore, altogether unjustifiable and ungrateful. Any way, as you have shown, Mr. Fouracres is in no sort of way responsible for the accommodation provided by Government for the convenience of native students desiring to reside on the College premises. If the boys did not like residing in the College, it was perfectly open to them to live in lodgings of their own procuring elsewere. The number of native students remaining, even after the recent secession, and the readiness with which the vacancies could evidently have been filled up, would have warranted the provision at once of the proposed permanent accommodation for this class of students. The Public Works Department will accordingly be instructed to take the work in hand as soon as possible.

11. In order that the reasonable wants and wishes of the native and other students of the College might be readily known and considered, the Lieutenant-Governor appointed a Board of Visitors on which several leading native gentlemen kindly consented to act. The Board should endeavour in future to meet at the College at least once a month, and you should submit the names of additional members for appointment, so that the monthly meeting may take place without imposing any irksome liability on individual members, many of whom are at times absent from Calcutta.

12. The Lieutenant-Governor does not consider it right that Mr. Fouracres, whose feelings have naturally been deeply hurt by the conduct of the native students, should be burdened with the care of their boarding arrangements in future. These will remain under the direct charge of the Principal, who will see that the strictest attention is paid to all rules and regulations. Any student failing to conform to these, or evincing the least spirit of insubordination, should be at once dismissed from the College.

13. In conclusion, I am to request that you will convey to Mr. Fouracres the assurance of the Lieutenant-Governor's entire confidence in him, and his sympathy with him under the annoyance caused him by the malicious and totally unfounded charges brought against him by the students for whom he has done so much. His Honor feels assured that Mr. Fouracres will not allow this ingratitude in any way to affect the energy and the intelligent interest which he has always hitherto shown in the welfare of the College and the Workshop; and is convinced that in time these young men will learn thoroughly to appreciate the advantage which it is to them to be placed under such an able and kind hearted instructor.

No. 4T, dated Darjeeling, the 11th June 1881.

From—A. W. CROFT, Esq., Director of Public Instruction, Bengal,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department.

I HAVE the honor to submit, for the consideration and orders of Government, the enclosed petitions, dated the 6th instant, from 60 students of the Seebpore Engineering College, who were lately expelled under my orders for insubordination, in which they apologise for their misconduct, and pray to be re-admitted to the College. I have also received separate applications to the same effect from six other dismissed students of the College. The circumstances under which these students were removed from the College are the following.

2. On Friday, the 22nd April, Srish Chandra Lahiri, a student of the second-year Engineer Class, who was working in the carpenters' shop, left his bench for the fitters' shop, and proceeded to punch a hole in a bar of iron at one of the machine tools which he set in motion for the purpose. The student was quite ignorant of the powers of the machine, for the bar was, as a workman would have known, much too thick for the punch employed, and the result was that a valuable machine was broken and rendered useless for some days. What followed when the matter was reported to Mr. Fouracres, the Superintendent of the Workshops, may be stated in his own words, taken down by me at a meeting of the Board of Visitors convened some little time afterwards—

"On Friday, the 22nd April, on going into the shop, I was informed by the foreman that the bottom-die of the punching-machine had been broken, that it would take three or four days to repair it, and that some work then in progress would be stopped in consequence. On inquiring how the damage was done, I was told that Srish Chandra Lahiri had broken it. I sent for him immediately and questioned him, saying, 'What business had you to meddle with this machine? Are you a fool or an idiot to do so silly a thing?' He replied, 'I wanted to punch a hole in a piece of iron.' I said nothing more, but ordered him to his work at once. He did not move, but remained lolling across the table, and looking me up and down. He finally went away slowly to his work. When I saw that he did not remain in the fitters' shop, but went to the carpenters' shop, I followed him there, and took him by the collar, when he struggled round me, I still keeping my hold of his collar. I then brought him by the collar to the middle of the fitters' shop, and pointing towards the broken machine, I told him never to go near a machine without orders, or I would have him turned out of the shop immediately. At the same time I struck the bench with my stick, saying 'Never you leave your work again without permission.'

"After the occurrences described above, the boys went on with their work as usual. Shortly afterwards, one of them, Chandra Kanta Sen, came to me and said, 'Sir, the boy would rather have paid for the damage than have been caught by the neck.' I said 'How could he pay for the damage?' Srish Chandra Lahiri never expressed a word of regret to me."

Questioned as to the Workshop Rules, Mr. Fouracres stated:—

"It would be impossible to put up written orders defining the students' duties in every detail. At the same time it is thoroughly understood that no boy is to meddle with a machine which he has not been set to work at. I have never had any previous occasion to find fault with a boy for meddling with a machine.

"Every boy knows beforehand in what shop he is to work, according to a list that is made known to them. When a boy is working in one shop, he is allowed, with the permission of the monitor or foreman instructor, to leave his shop and go to another in which any interesting work is going on. Generally the permission of the instructor is necessary; but latterly, on one occasion, when the weather was very hot, I told the boys of the blacksmiths' shop that they might go into the fitters' shop and look on at what was being done. No similar orders were ever issued to boys working in the carpenters' shop, nor were these orders intended to apply generally and at all times; when a boy goes into another shop, he is not allowed to start another machine, or to put it into gear, without the permission of the workman in charge or the foreman of the shop.

"The machine in question was a punching-machine, diameter five-eighths of an inch. The boy took a three-quarter of an inch square bar and put it into the machine with the object of punching a hole through it. Had he placed it quite accurately, there would have been only one sixteenth inch on each side; and any workman would have known that there was danger of injury either to the die or to the punch if so narrow a margin was left. A five-eighth inch punch will punch a hole with perfect safety in a three-eighth inch plate. In a half inch plate there is some danger of its being broken. In a three-fourth inch plate a five-eighth inch punch would be almost sure to be broken; and a narrow square bar of the same diameter would, if put under the punch, almost certainly lead to either the die or the plate being broken."

As to the dangers that attend the incautious or ignorant use of machines, Mr. Fouracres added:

"On two previous occasions in these shops damage has occurred to machines owing to improper use of them. At Dehree, the jaws of a large punching-machine, worth Rs. 3,000, were split open, and the machine ruined, from a similar cause. On one occasion, a boy entering the shop lost two fingers of his hand in the same machine; on another occasion, a boy from outside had four fingers cut off by a circular saw with which he meddled without orders. In Cuttack, a boy had his foot cut off at the instep."

3. Mr. Fouracres might, indeed, have taken another course. He might have reported the boy to the Principal, for mischief, in accordance with the 16th Rule of the College, which provides, that breaches of discipline committed in the Workshops by engineer-students shall be reported by the Superintendent to the Principal. Had he done so, there can be little doubt that a serious penalty would have been inflicted on Srish Chandra Lahiri for the gross and culpable recklessness of which he had been guilty, and the mischief which he had caused. Mr. Fouracres did not report the boy. In taking the course he did, he states that, irritated though he was at the student's unworkmanlike act, he did not wish to push the matter to a formal complaint and punishment, but considered that a more salutary lesson would be given by a rebuke at once and publicly administered, so as to let all the students understand that they must not meddle with machines of the use of which they are ignorant, at the risk of life, limb, and property. "My action," he maintains, "was that of a man having responsible duties to fulfil. If an accident had at any time occurred, and a student had got maimed for want of proper warning about the use of machines, I should have been condemned for not having taken sufficient precaution."

4. After this public rebuke and warning, the matter should rightly have ended; unless, indeed, Srish Chandra, feeling himself aggrieved, had appealed to the Principal or to me against the treatment to which he had been subjected. It was quite open to him, and would have been perfectly constitutional, to say: "with the offence that I committed the Principal alone should have dealt, but instead of reporting me to the Principal for punishment, Mr. Fouracres called me an idiot, seized me by the collar, and administered to me a severe and public rebuke." Such a complaint would have been legitimate; but in dealing with it, I should have looked to the provocation which the student had given; to the necessity of bringing home to all the students emphatically and on the spot the folly and danger of such actions as that of Srish Chandra's, and to the real kindness and forbearance which prompted Mr. Fouracres' conduct. I should have told the student that he had been cheaply let off; and that after he had escaped substantial punishment for the mischief he had committed, it was not very becoming in him to complain of the lesson which he had received as an indignity or as unwarranted by rule, whatever ground might have been afforded for such a complaint under ordinary circumstances.

5. But whatever might have been the result of such an appeal, that question may be dismissed from consideration, for Srish Chandra Lahiri and his treatment by Mr. Fouracres no longer concern us. We have now to deal with the action of the other students which followed upon the events above described. The first note of warning was struck on Monday, the 25th April, when the students refused to attend the shops, and the Principal had to issue two orders before they could be induced to go to their work as usual. The same day a petition, addressed to myself and signed by 87 native students of the College, including Srish Chandra Lahiri, was presented to the Principal. In this, after referring to the harsh and unkind treatment which, as they said, they habitually received from Mr. Fouracres, and to a previous petition in which they had asked to be relieved of his authority but which, owing (as they admitted) to its disrespectful and objectionable tone the Principal had refused to forward, they stated that it had again become their "painful duty" to bring a complaint against Mr. Fouracres; and they proceeded to relate the circumstances of Srish Chandra's affair, saying that they were the sons of gentlemen and that their self-respect had been deeply hurt. It appeared that Srish Chandra, "while working at a punching-machine, accidentally injured the die." On receiving the information, "Mr. Fouracres appears to have completely lost his temper." Srish Chandra, on being called upon to explain, "admitted that he had injured the die, and expressed his willingness to pay for the cost of repair." After dismissing him with a rebuke, Mr. Fouracres subsequently learnt that the student came from the carpenters' shop. "This threw Mr. Fouracres into what we are constrained to say, amounted to an ungovernable fit of passion." He "rushed into the carpenters' shop, caught hold of the student by the neck, and turned him about for a time with violent jerks. Immediately after he again caught hold of him, raised a stick and struck the carpenters' bench several times with it." It was added that "the student throughout showed the utmost forbearance, and though his temper was put to the severest trial, did not use a single disrespectful word to Mr. Fouracres."

"Certainly," the petition goes on to say, "Srish Chandra was to blame for his ignorance and perhaps his carelessness; but a student must make a great many mistakes and such mistakes deserve kind and considerate treatment. But Mr. Fouracres, forgetting what was due from a teacher to the taught, committed a most unprovoked assault upon one who was guilty of no offence whatever, and who received the unbearable insult to which he was subjected with calm dignity." Finally, the students appealed to me for protection from similar indignities in future, declaring that "the insult which has been offered to Srish Chandra has been offered to the entire body of the native students of the College." They urged that in seeking to learn engineering they had not ceased to be gentlemen, and they prayed me to relieve them from the authority of Mr. Fouracres.

6. On receiving this petition, Mr. Slater, the Officiating Principal, pointed out to the students its insubordinate character, and gave them 24 hours to withdraw it. This they declined to do, and the petition was accordingly forwarded to me. Mr. Slater would indeed have been justified in refusing to forward the petition; but he considered that he had already given the students ample warning and opportunity; and seeing the temper they were in, he thought it the better course to send the petition to its destination. When it reached my hands, I saw at once that it must be withdrawn. The students had in fact taken upon themselves to be the judges in a cause with which they had no concern, to criticise and condemn the conduct of one placed in authority over them, and to combine together with the object of getting Mr. Fouracres censured, and themselves relieved from his control. Whatever Mr. Fouracres' violence on the occasion referred to may have been, it was at any rate not directed against them; the aggrieved student might have appealed to myself or to the Government, and an inquiry would have been made; but it would be impossible to maintain a shadow of discipline in our schools and colleges, if the students were allowed openly to canvass an act of authority by which they were not personally affected, and to award public praise or censure according to their estimate of its character. A memorial of students which is based on that ground is essentially and under all circumstances an offence against discipline; it cannot be listened to, but must be withdrawn and atoned for at once, without inquiry into the subject-matter of the complaint.

7. The memorial of the students was based on the specific case of Srish Chandra Lahiri; but it alleged further that they were habitually ill-treated by Mr. Fouracres, and that Srish Chandra's case was merely the climax of a long series of insults and injuries. Had their memorial been confined to a statement of the injuries of which they themselves had been the victims, it would have been possible to receive it. If a number of students have been the sufferers by a common outrage or injustice, I should not hesitate to receive a joint memorial in which they stated their grievances and asked for redress in respectful terms. At the same time, combinations even of this kind tend to subvert discipline and are by no means to be encouraged. Students should thoroughly understand that, if they combine in a memorial against their teachers on those placed in authority over them, they do so at their own risk. If they fail to make out their case, or if the grievances complained of are trivial, they render themselves liable to punishment for their act of combination, which is an extreme measure only justified by success. But in the present instance such an inquiry was not necessary or possible. The statement of habitual ill-treatment was couched in the most general terms; but even had it been specific and detailed, it would have been impossible to receive it when put forward in support of an appeal against conduct by which the memorialists were not aggrieved, and with which they had no direct concern. The fact that their memorial was a protest against Mr. Fouracres' treatment of Srish Chandra, made it impossible, so long as that memorial was in existence, to inquire whether the other grievances referred to had any foundation. In fact, their action in tacking on Srish Chandra's case to a statement of their own grievances was irrational; since their interference in the former made it impossible for me to take any immediate notice of the latter.

8. I therefore sharply criticised the conduct of the students in my letter No. 3T, dated 3rd May, to the Principal, and ordered them, under pain of removal from the College, to withdraw their signatures from the memorial with an apology, and to pay a nominal fine for their insubordination. After pointing out that it was open to Srish Chandra to have appealed against any grievances of his own, I observed:—"It is not to be tolerated that his fellow-students should take up his quarrel, should combine to frame a joint memorial in his interest, and constituting themselves the judges in his cause, should demand their removal as a body from one who has been placed in authority over them. Such a proceeding strikes at the root of all discipline." Three days were allowed them to make up their minds. I added that Srish Chandra had made no attempt to atone for his original offence, and had aggravated it by joining the other students in signing the memorial. I therefore directed his removal from the College. Before these orders were issued, seven students had voluntarily withdrawn their names from the memorial with an expression of regret. They stated that in signing the memorial they had been 'misinformed as to the facts of the case;" and they added that they had "never been harshly or unjustly treated by Mr. Fouracres." These students were allowed to withdraw their names, and no further action was taken against them. There remained therefore 79 students who had to chose between submission and expulsion. During the three days of grace, Mr. Slater, the Principal, spoke privately to the monitors and to the more prominent among the students, and pointed out to them how untenable was the position they had taken up. Knowing also how strong the combination was, Mr. Slater let the students know, through the head monitor, that he had made an arrangement by which any student who wished to apologise might do so without its being known to his fellows. It turned out afterwards, that all the students who signed the memorial had bound themselves by an oath that if they did not get redress they would leave the College.

9. On the expiration of the days of grace, the Principal informed me to my surprise that only five students had submitted (one of whom stated that his signature had been added to the memorial without his consent), and that the remaining 74 had consequently been expelled from the College. Four of these, who had been absent from the College when my orders were read out, and who professed ignorance of them, were afterwards re-admitted on apologising and paying the fine. The number of students finally expelled was therefore 70; and after their removal, the College consisted of 102 students, of whom 71 were Europeans and 31 natives. The number has since increased to 110 by the admission of new students, of whom four are natives.

10. I have said that the refusal of the students to obey my orders surprised me, for my previous experience of insubordination and its treatment had led me confidently to expect that the students would follow the wise course and submit to the voice of authority when once clearly expressed. They refused to submit, and no alternative was left but to remove them from the College. It is therefore worth while to show that the course which I followed was in complete conformity both with the orders of Government and with the constant practice of this Department. The case indeed is completely covered by the Resolution of the Government of India in the Home Department, No. 1649, dated the 19th October 1876, with regard to the submission of joint memorials by officers of all classes in civil employ; and what is applicable to bodies of public servants of full age and matured judgment, may be regarded as being à fortiori applicable to students still under instruction and discipline:—

"Certain memorials have recently been presented to the Governor-General in Council, or to the Secretary of State, by various bodies of officers in civil employ, complaining of grievances or desiring boons which affect generally the classes of officers from which those memorials emanated. In some instances the memorials were signed by individuals who could not possibly have been personally affected in the matter which forms the subject of the memorial. Such circumstances give to the proceedings resulting in such memorials an appearance of organized combination, which it is impossible, consistently with the maintenance of official discipline and subordination, to allow.

"His Excellency in Council is accordingly pleased to forbid any combination for the purpose of memorialising any authority to which the memorialists may be subordinate," and the orders go on to say that no officer may submit any memorial in respect to any matter connected with the official position which he occupies, in which he is not personally interested; and that any officer submitting such a memorial will incur the serious displeasure of Government.

11. I have also been at the pains to look up some previous examples of the way in which insubordination among College students has been dealt with: and I notice some of those which, as instances of combination, bear more closely on the present case:—

(a) In 1862, a student of the Medical College was caught stealing, made over to the police, and sentenced; thereupon the students in a body wrote a letter to Dr. Chevers, the Principal, in which they stated that they had for a long time been ill-treated in various ways, and as they had received no redress they intended to leave the College. The whole body, 136 in number, in fact absented themselves for some time. The Director of Public Instruction submitted the case to Government, and supported the recommendations of the College Council, that all should be expelled. The Lieutenant-Governor declined to sanction this course, and directed that a short period should be allowed to the students to come forward and express contrition, when each case would be separately dealt with; expulsion being reserved for those who remained obstinate. The result was that 95 of the students apologised, and were then directed to state their grievances; which resulted in a list of false or frivolous complaints, showing, as Dr. Chevers maintained, that the students in reality disliked the hospital work, and that the alleged grievances were, in the case of many of them, merely an excuse for leaving the College. The 95 students were re-admitted, and no attempt was made to find out the ringleaders. The orders of Government ran as follows:—"It is better therefore that their past conduct should be forgiven, and that they should be freely re-admitted, with a solemn warning that they must henceforth submit themselves entirely to the discipline of the College, and conform to the requirements of their professional education; and that, though every student is at liberty to make any complaint, either to any of the Professors of the College or to the Principal, and may be certain that he will be patiently listened to, and that justice will be done, it must at the same time be clearly understood that any attempt either to defy authority or to combine for the purpose of obtaining redress for real or imaginary grievances will be severely punished."

(b) In 1873, the Principal of the Hooghly College rebuked a student of the fourth year for impertinence and ordered him to leave the room; telling him that if he did not go at once he would send for a chuprassie to remove him. Upon this the boys of the second, third, and fourth years combined together to absent themselves from College, and memorialised the Director and the Lieutenant-Governor for an inquiry, on the ground that this was only one out of many instances of harsh and insulting treatment on the part of the Principal. The inquiry was refused by Government, and the case made over for disposal to the Director, by whom the following orders were passed. Two ringleaders in the combination were expelled from the Hooghly and all other Government Colleges, and their names reported to the Registrar of the University. Four others were rusticated for the remainder of the Session. Ten scholars were deprived of their scholarships. Two students were fined, Rs. 10 each, and 22 Rs. 5 each. Four students who took part in the disturbance, but afterwards withdrew their names, were admonished and pardoned.

(c) In 1879, the Principal of the Rajshahye College one day directed the students of the fourth-year class to leave a room into which he had forbidden them to enter before a certain hour, and told them to go to their waiting-room until he was ready to receive them. This order the students resented as an insult; they retired to their waiting-room, but refused to return when the lecture-hour struck. Mr. Dowding sent for them twice; and finally told them that if they did not appear within five minutes, he would strike off their names. This had no effect; the names of the students (four in number) were struck off, and the matter reported to me. The Inspector of Schools was sent to investigate the affair, with instructions that the re-admission of the students should not be considered until they had fully apologised. Before the Inspector arrived, the students had become convinced of their error. They submitted a written apology to the Principal, in which they asked his forgiveness and prayed to be re-admitted to the College. On the Inspector's arrival, finding that the students had returned to a sense of duty, he explained to them the gravity of their offence, and recommended that they should be re-admitted on payment of a fine of Rs. 8 each; with that the matter ended.

(d) At the beginning of the present year, the Principal of the Hooghly College presented to me a petition signed by the students of the newly formed third-year class in which they complained of the Lecturer in Botany as inefficient (they stated that they had formed "a most unfavourable impression of his abilities,") and informed me that they as a body wished to take up Physics instead of Botany unless a better professor were appointed. Independently of the fact that these students at any rate had had no experience of the Lecturer's teaching, and had gained from hearsay all they knew on the subject, it so happened that at the moment of receiving this memorial the results of the B. A. examination just ended were before me, showing that the pupils of this particular professor had been brilliantly successful in the examination. I requested the Principal to inform the students that they must at once withdraw the memorial with an ample apology, failing which they would be removed from the College. They immediately apologised, stating that they were now "convinced of the fact that we have proved impertinent in making such an application. We are sincerely sorry that all of us were simply worked up by some groundless rumours which led us to take such a rash step, and are anxious to retract the offensive remarks regarding the reputation and abilities" of the lecturer. The students were then pardoned.

12. These (with one other, less important, but of a precisely similar character, which occurred at the Medical College in 1870) are all the cases of combination that I have been able to find. In all the combination was at once repressed; and the students were either punished at once for combining, or given the opportunity of submitting an apology as the condition of escaping the penalty of expulsion In each case, the ground of the combination was either some action by which the students themselves were not directly affected or some grievance which was found to be either frivolous or false. In no case was it contemplated that a student who refused to submit could escape the penalty of expulsion.

13. Seventy students having, however, chosen the alternative of expulsion, it now became desirable (as it also became possible to inquire into those general grounds of discontent which had apparently actuated the students in their determination. With this object I proceeded to Calcutta on the 16th May, and invited the Board of Visitors to meet me at the College on the 19th. In the meantime I let it be known to the dismissed students that if they even at that late hour expressed contrition, begged pardon for their misconduct and their disobedience to my orders, and prayed to be re-admitted, there might still be hope. At the same time, I used every means to try and find out what those grievances were of which the students complained. I at once gave them to understand, through persons with whom they were in communication, that since they were now no longer under my authority, they were at liberty to make any communication to me, whether in the form of a joint memorial or in any other way, so as to state their case in the fullest possible manner. The first result of this invitation was, as I learn, the preparation of a memorial to me, in which, while stating their grievances and reiterating their complaints against Mr. Fouracres, they prayed to be re-admitted to the College. A memorial in that form I declined to receive; causing them to be informed that, if they desired to be re-admitted, their submission must be absolute and could only take the form of an apology for disobedience, without any reference to what was in that case irrelevant matter. This produced no effect; and I accordingly requested one of the Board to invite such of the students as had any representation to make, to be present at the meeting. None of these, however, attended.

14. At the meeting of the Board a partial inquiry was made. Mr. Fouracres stated at length the facts of the Srish Chandra affair as given above, declared that he had treated the boys with uniform kindness, that he had never called any of them by opprobrious names, and had no suspicion that he was regarded with dislike by them. He added, "I have known that they looked upon me as a task-master, who insisted on having his orders obeyed; but I did not suppose there was anything approaching to dislike or ill-feeling in their minds against me." On the morning, when the boys left, some 30 or 40 of them came to his house and said, "Sir, we have come to wish you good-bye, and to thank you for the kindness you have shown to us." Mr. Fouracres replied, "I am very sorry you are going away, and for what has taken place, and you have even now time to withdraw your names." When he said he was sorry, he did not mean in any way to apologise, he was sorry for their sakes. One of the students said to him on that occasion, "Sir, can you recommend me to any firm in Calcutta, so that I can complete my practical training?" Mr. Fouracres replied that he should be sorry to do anything of the sort; for the boy would probably get up a petition against some person or other on the establishment within a month. Questioned as to his treatment of different classes of students, Mr. Fouracres said:—"I have never made any distinction between Europeans or Eurasians and natives. Had a European apprentice done the same damage, I would have taken my stick and thrashed him." Mr. Slater, the Principal, also described the occurrences, so far as they came within his own knowledge. He said that when the memorial was presented to him, he pointed out its insubordinate character to the monitors, and gave the students 24 hours to withdraw it, telling them that if it was withdrawn, he should take no further action. On their asking to be excused from work in the shops, he declined to pass such an order, and on their still refusing to attend, he told them through their monitors that if they stayed away from the shops, the classes also would be closed to them. This had the desired effect, and they returned to their work in the shops. After the Director's orders were received, a large number of the insubordinate students remained in the College, some went home. The students generally said that they were acting by the advice of their guardians. One of the senior monitors told him about the oath which the students had taken, and said "if the oath was the only thing, we could disregard that, but there were other things." He did not explain what, and Mr. Slater understood him to mean that they must go with the stream.

Baboo Debendranath Roy, the Assistant Surgeon attached to the College, said that he had only been there a few days, but from what he had seen, he should say that Mr. Fouracres was "awfully kind" to the boys; in fact he treated them like his own children. The Assistant Surgeon continued:—"I have never heard him use to a student any word which was in any way objectionable, and I have had many opportunities of judging since I have been here. Some of the native students of the apprentice class have told me they have no reason to think that Mr. Fouracres is unkind to them. I believe that some of the students did not understand Mr. Fouracres. A relative of mine, a fourth-year student, who signed the memorial, said to me when I explained the position, that he had not understood Mr. Fouracres at first, but saw no reason why he should not now withdraw his name, and he did so accordingly. Mr. Fouracres may have a little of the John Bull roughness in his manner."

Aswini Kumar Mookerjea, an old student under Mr. Fouracres at the Dehree School, said that he had never heard Mr. Fouracres speak unkindly to any boy in the school. He was not asked to sign the memorial, the other students knew that he would not sign. "All the students of the engineer-class who have resigned, murmured at Mr. Fouracres' treatment of Srish Chandra. Srish Chandra said to his friends in my hearing, 'I do not know what to do.'"

The only important statement as representing the side of the disaffected, was that of Bhushan Chandra Banerjea, a fourth-year engineering student. Mr Fouracres withdrew while he gave his statement, and he was invited to speak his mind with perfect freedom. He said—"I signed the petition against Mr Fouracres, and subsequently withdrew my signature. I signed the petition because I thought that our case would be heard if it came before the Director. Our case was that we wished to be treated by Mr. Fouracres in a kind manner. For a slight fault Mr. Fouracres used to rebuke us; for example, if our houses were not kept perfectly clean The fact is the students cannot keep their houses clean like Europeans. One day he entered into the house in which I live, and said, 'Dirty creatures, you are not gentlemen.' Another day he heard a noise and said, "You are howling like jackals.' I heard both these expressions. Formerly he used to come frequently, every day or every other day to our quarters, but latterly not so often. I was sick when Srish Chandra's case occurred I heard about it afterwards. All the students felt aggrieved at what had happened. They thought it was an insult to them: that is, to the native students. If Srish Chandra Lahiri had been a European student, it is probable that the students would have felt equally aggrieved. The story told me was that Srish Chandra broke the die of the punching-machine, and that Mr. Fouracres, learning that he did not belong to the fitters' shop, got angry, seized him by the neck, gave him some jerks and pushed him several paces. The students are allowed to go from one shop to another. Mr. Fouracres had once told the bungalow monitors that in the hot weather the students need not work for three hours, but might go and observe the working of the machines. All the students understood that they were then allowed to go from one shop to another when machines were working. Many of the students were in the habit of using the machines without permission. There might have been rules forbidding students to go from one workshop to another, or to meddle with machines, but we never heard of them and no notice to such effect was given. The students would perhaps have used the machines whether Mr. Fouracres was present or not. I cannot say certainly.

"I withdrew my name from the petition because I was ordered to apologise by the Director, and I obeyed the order. I wrote the apology with my guardian's permission. I cannot say whether Mr. Fouracres was unkind to the European boys. All the students who signed the memorial took an oath that if they did get sufficient redress of their grievances they would, leave the College. It was written in English on a piece of paper, and signed by all the students. Srish Chandra Lahiri was not one of the ringleaders I cannot say exactly whether he signed the oath. By 'grievances,' we meant that we wished Mr Fouracres to treat us in a kind manner. The unkindness complained of consisted in the harsh words I have quoted, and the present case of Srish Chandra Lahiri, I have experienced no further unkindness at his hands, nor have I heard of any. In asking for redress of our grievances, we did not wish Mr. Fouracres to be removed from the College; we never thought of that. Everybody says that Mr. Fouracres is kind; but the Engineering students have not experienced it."

Mr. Fouracres, after this statement had been read over to him, said that he had not used the expressions quoted. His constant endeavour had been to conciliate the native students, on the ground that they were boys unaccustomed to labour; and his great wish was to bring them into it gradually. (As will hereafter be seen, Mr. Fouracres subsequently recollected and described to me the circumstances which had given colour to the charge that he had called the students 'pigs,' 'jackals,' 'not gentlemen' &c)

15 The statement of Bhushan Chandra Banerjea was precisely of that kind which the Board and I myself wished to obtain Though the complaint of unkind or unsympathetic treatment by Mr. Fouracres was somewhat vague and general, yet it contained definite charges into the truth of which it was possible to inquire. Again, the native member of the Board to whom I have already referred, though he could not prevail on any of the expelled students to accompany him to the meeting, yet brought with him a paper containing a list of the grievances which the students had been able to formulate, after three hours' discussion at a meeting held the night before, at which he had been present. The grievances were the following:—

(1) "Though a separate latrine has been erected for the servants in compliance with the order of the Board of Visitors, the old one is still sadly wanting repairs.

(2) "No ghât has yet been erected for the native students.

(3) "The store rooms have been made only lately. The doors ought to have been made of wood.

(4) "There is no urinal"

After the meeting was over, I asked another native member of the Board if he would bring any of the expelled students to my house, so that they might say what they wanted to say. He told me afterwards that he had conveyed my message, but none of the students had come to him.

16. At length, on the 23rd May, a student named Chandra Kanta Sen, whom I had known and taken some interest in before these occurrences, and to whom, I had awarded a special scholarship, called at my house and was at once admitted. In an interview of an hour's duration he endeavoured to explain to me his own conduct and feelings in the matter. I urged him to speak his mind with perfect frankness, as my chief desire was to see things if possible from his point of view. But even thus I succeeded in getting from him very few definite statements of ill-treatment or unkindness. The burden of his complaint was that the native students had felt from the first that Mr. Fouracres did not sympathise with or care for them, that he did not understand them, their needs or grievances, and that they had seen things going from bad to worse, until at length they were absolutely disheartened and without hope for the future. I pointed out that this was not a very robust or manly tone to adopt; that every specific request for improved accommodation or for increased comforts that the students had from time to time made, whether to the Lieutenant-Governor on his visit to the College, to the Board of Visitors, or to myself, had been promptly complied with, that as they knew, the establishment of a mechanical training-school for natives was an experiment, and that they could not expect every convenience to be supplied them at once; that Mr. Fouracres had done all that he could, and that he naturally supposed the students would make the best of their indifferent accommodation until the success of the experiment had been established, and Government had sanctioned further outlay; and that at any rate Mr. Fouracres was not responsible for the character of the accommodation provided. Until this outbreak, I added, no one, and least of all Mr. Fouracres, suspected that there was any serious discontent amongst the students; and it appeared to me that they had brooded over their grievances until they had assumed proportions far beyond their real character. (Mr Fouracres, I may parenthetically remark, is inclined to attribute the discontent of the students largely to the fact that they never join the European members of the College in the sports of the play-ground, but hang about their houses during the time allotted to recreation.) Chandra Kanta listened quietly to what I had to say, but appeared to be in no way convinced.

At any rate the only definite statements affecting Mr Fouracres that I obtained from Chandra Kanta Sen were the following:—

(1) The occasional use of harsh language

(2) On one occasion Mr. Fouracres had said:—"you complain of these bungalows; why they are far better than (or palaces compared with) your own huts."

(3) The students' request for a store-room was refused or neglected, on the plea of want of room.

(4) No roads were made in that part of the compound where the students lived.

(5) Ceiling-cloths, though finally provided, were not immediately given when asked for.

(6) No cook-room was provided for the use of those students who lived outside

17. Thus I had received, from one source or another, certain definite charges reflecting on Mr. Fouracres' character for kindness and consideration towards the native students; though at the same time these charges, supposing them all to be well-founded, did not strike me as being of such importance as to justify the outbreak of the students, or indeed to make it in any way intelligible. I also searched the native papers for further statements of the same tenor; and I referred them all to Mr. Fouracres or whoever else might be affected for an explanation of them. I believe that in the following paragraphs I have dealt with every charge of this kind that has been publicly made, or that has in any other way been brought to my notice.

18. All these statements may be classed under two heads:—

(1) Charges relating to the inferior accommodation of the native students.

(2) Charges of harsh or insulting language used towards them, or of unkind treatment.

With regard to the first ground of complaint. This much may be said at the outset in order to mark off the limits within which Mr. Fouracres' responsibility can be declared to lie. The allotment of the main building to the European students, and of the detached bungalows to the natives, was not Mr. Fouracres' doing but was the act of Government. It may serve to remove misapprehension if the reasons for that appropriation are stated. Early in March 1880, when His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor visited the College, the question of accommodation was discussed Of the three wings that were then empty, one was required for class-rooms. It was decided that the Professors of the College with their families must, like the Principal, live on the premises; and a second wing was reserved for them on payment of rent. With regard to the third wing some discussion took place. In the first place there was not room in it for all the students, European and native, who might possibly join the College. In the second place, the European students, 54 in number, who had just arrived from Dehree, had to be provided for. Thirdly, if regard were had to the ordinary habits and manner of living of Europeans and natives, the bungalows, should it be found necessary to occupy them, were less unsuited to the latter than to the former. Lastly, it was by no means certain that native students would join the College in large numbers under its new constitution which now included a hard course of workshop training. It was therefore decided to place the Dehree students, together with any other Europeans who might join the College, in the third wing of the building. As to the accommodation of the rest, it was known that a native nobleman of Calcutta had offered to provide funds for building a hostel within the College compound; but in the uncertainty that still existed as to the extent to which native students would join or would remain in the College, it was not thought necessary to urge him to carry out that project. Meanwhile, the classes of the Civil Engineering Department of the Presidency College were to be transferred to Seebpore on the 3rd April. It was at first proposed to bring them over and take them back daily in a steam-launch to be provided for the purpose; and in the notification published in the Calcutta Gazette on the 10th March 1880, it was stated that a provision "for the boarding of native students will be made hereafter. Meanwhile a boat will be provided to convey students residing in Calcutta to and from the institution daily." But before the native students joined the College, many of them had come over to look at the existing buildings, which had been put into thorough repair, and declared themselves willing to occupy them. This course was accordingly sanctioned. At the same time it was known that the measure was a purely provisional one, and that it would be necessary, if the experiment succeeded, to make good and permanent arrangements hereafter for the accommodation of native students. Meanwhile, until it was known how far those students would stand the hard work of the shops, it was thought unnecessary to incur heavy expenditure in providing buildings for which occupants might not in fact be found.

19. Before passing to the time when Mr. Fouracres' responsibility may to said to begin, it may be advisable to refer to a mischievous and untrue statement with regard to the intentions of Government which recently appeared in one of the weekly papers. In order to show the insincerity of Government from the beginning with regard to the Seebpore College, it was stated in the article referred to that, while the graduates of the college were at first promised appointments as apprentice engineers, by a recent resolution they were declared eligible only for temporary appointments not exceeding the rank of a first-grade overseer. The resolution referred to in this passage (No. 4E, dated 2nd April 1881,) was passed solely in the interests of the Seebpore students. The Government of India had expressed an opinion in September 1880 that it was undesirable to retain a quasi-permanent establishment, such as that of the temporary apprentice engineers entertained in Bengal. These appointments were consequently abolished But in order to make up for the loss thus incurred, the Government of Bengal, in confirmation and extension of previous orders to the same tenor, now declared that the passed students of the Seebpore College should have the first claim to all temporary subordinate appointments that might hereafter fall vacant. The first-grade assistant overseerships to which they were thus made eligible were of the value of Rs. 100 a month, the same as that of the temporary apprentice engineerships which had been abolished. With regard to higher appointments, the Government of India has also, at the instance of the Bengal Government, reserved for students of the Seebpore College a certain proportion of those engineer appointments which are to be filled up in this country; and a similar course has, I understand, recently been taken with regard to appointments in the Forest Department.

20. Returning to the question of Mr. Fouracres' responsibility for such defects as existed in the accommodation provided for native students, it must be borne in mind (though in much of the criticism that I have read on this subject it appears to have been forgotten) that the supervision of students was not in Mr. Fouracres' sole charge. He was in fact, throughout the occurrences referred to, gradually and steadily organizing the large workshop establishment, employing many hundreds of men, which had just been opened at Seebpore. It demanded the exercise of all his powers to bring the shops into working order, to procure stores and material, to direct and supervise work and construction, and to carry out the heavy orders, amounting to some lakhs of rupees in yearly value, which reached him from the Public Works and other Departments Knowing this, I have often been surprised at the way in which Mr. Fouracres found time to attend to and provide for the needs of the students, and at the forethought which he sometimes showed in anticipating their wants. He frequently came to see me in Calcutta, and was always full of enthusiasm about the future of the College, perfectly contented with the work and demeanour of the students, and confident that he would be able to turn them, natives and Europeans alike, into good workmen as soon as they had settled down. 'The native students,' he would say, 'are a b t uncomfortable now, but they are making the best of it, and are satisfied that we are doing what we can for them;' and he would end by explaining some project for increasing their comfort.

It should also be remembered that Mr. Fouracres, like other Executive Engineers, was bound by the rules and practice of the Public Works Department, and that, for any work involving considerable outlay on bricks and mortar, he had to obtain regular sanction Delay that really arose from departmental rules, might possibly be attributed by the students to indifference; and I know, on the authority of one of their number, that at the time of the outbreak the students, as will hereafter appear, were ignorant that Mr Fouracres had completed the necessary designs for permanent buildings such as would satisfy all their requirements. In minor details he had all the authority that was necessary, and they were carried out under his orders by the sub-overseer in charge. The spirit in which Mr. Fouracres accepted this portion of his duty may be gathered from the standing orders which he issued to the sub-overseer, namely, to execute at once, and without waiting for orders, any petty alterations tending to promote their comfort that the students might wish to have made. The work was to be done first, and sanction obtained afterwards

21. I can now take up the history of Mr Fouracres' relations with the native students from the time that they joined the College in April 1880 The quarters allotted to them consisted, at that time of one two-storied brick building, with regard to which no complaint has ever been made; and of three lower roomed bungalows well raised from the ground, with the floors supported on masonry flues so that, with the ventilation below, the floors are dry in the rainy season. No serious objection was, I believe, at any time made to these houses; the floor of one of them was, however, in bad order, and on this being pointed out, a new Portland cement floor was laid down. It soon appeared that the existing buildings would probably be insufficient for the accommodation of the native students, who were then sending in applications for admission in large numbers; and orders were issued to build at once four new bungalows capable of holding fifty students each. These were constructed in a very inexpensive scale, partly on account of the provisional and experimental character of the whole undertaking, but chiefly in order to avoid delay, and to have some sort of accommodation ready for all who might apply and be qualified for admission. They were in fact run up in a few weeks, in June and July. Unfortunately they were provided with only beaten-earth floors; and when the bungalows were finished, the floors were found to be very damp The students represented to the Principal that the new houses were not habitable; and Mr. Downing, finding on inspection that the complaint was well founded, at once took steps to replace the earthen floors by asphalte, laid on a concrete foundation. At this time there was no necessity for any of the students to occupy the new buildings, as there was sufficient accommodation for them in the old. An estimate was framed for altering the floors; and it was finally decided to lay down new floors in two of the bungalows.

About the same time the students residing in the old bungalows complained that dust fell down on to their beds from the bamboos of the roof. Ceiling cloths were accordingly put up, as Mr. Fouracres reports, "without delay and without waiting for sanction."

22. When the rains had set in strongly, the water began to lie on the ground adjoining the native students' quarters, and they complained, with reason, that they were unable to get away from ther houses with dry feet. It was in August, if I remember rightly, that Colonel Stanton, Mr. Levinge, and myself paid a visit to the Seebpore College, in order to investigate these and other matters. The native students presented a paper containing a list of alterations or improvements that they wished to be made, and all were at once agreed to. Roads were made above the level of the wet ground, so as to enable the students to get about without inconvenience. Under Colonel Stanton's instructions, an estimate for filling up a tank and digging drains was prepared, and on its being sanctioned, the cutting of the drains was begun in October, when the students were away for the vacation. As there has been little rain since October, the value of these drains has not been felt; but it is certain that they have greatly improved that part of the compound which surrounds the quarters of the native students. In November and the following months much sickness prevailed, and weekly health reports were, at my request, sent me by the Principal during several months; but I noticed at the time, and now call attention to the fact, that the percentage of sick was throughout that period higher, and generally considerably higher, among the European than among the native students.

It should be borne in mind that on the 14th of August Mr. Fouracres went on sick leave to England, returning on the 7th January 1881. After his return, at the request of the native students, he built bridges over the drains in front of their houses.

23. The matter of the latrine, about which a good deal has been said, furnished another cause of discontent I have already explained that when the native students elected to reside on the premises, it became necessary to make hasty provision for their accommodation. Cook-rooms were got ready, and servants' houses were already in existence (the latter of a very indifferent character, and a constant cause of complaint); but there was no latrine. A temporary one was ordered to be built; and to save money two extra partitions were put up for the native servants. All the domestic arrangements of the students' establishment had been left in their own hands; and this distribution was explained to them. Owing to lax discipline, it afterwards appeared that the servants were in the habit of using all parts of the latrine indiscriminately. When this was pointed out by the students to Mr. Fouracres, he reminded them of the arrangement that had been made, and told them that the remedy lay in their own hands. They, however, took no steps to insist on that arrangement being carried out, but let things go on as before. At first, again, the partitions of the latrine were not provided with separate purdahs, a single screen running along the whole length. When the inconvenience of this was pointed out to Mr. Fouracres, he supplied rough but efficient purdahs to each partition. I have examined the site, and though the structure is unsightly, and obviously temporary in its character, yet it is sufficient in all essential respects, and is kept remarkably clean.

24. The question of taking up a piece of land to the north of the College, so as to extend the compound up to the Howrah road, and to provide the space that was necessary if permanent buildings were to be erected, began to be mooted at an early date. When, in the cold weather, the Lieutenant-Governor again visited the College, the insufficient accommodation provided for the students, and the discomfort that they suffered in consequence, were pointed out; and His Honor at once gave instructions that the land should be taken up, and the necessary buildings provided. The cook-room, the servants' houses, and the latrine were all of a make-shift character, and the source of much inconvenience to the students; it was therefore desirable on all grounds that the land should be acquired as speedily as possible. No delay, in fact, took place, and the land was handed over to the College authorities early in April last.

25. Meanwhile, the Board of Visitors appointed by the Resolution of the 18th December 1880 to supervise the management of the College, had held several meetings, the first of which took place on the 26th February. At that meeting the native students presented a statement of their requirements, which was made over to one of the native members of the Board for examination and report. He presented his report at the third meeting, held on the 24th March, and the following Resolutions were passed in consequence:—

(1) That a portion of the present mess-house should be screened off, so as to provide a store-room for them.

(2) That one of the sweepers should be told off to keep the native students' quarters, and the ground round their houses, clean.

(3) That Dr. Pilcher and Mr. Fouracres be asked to choose a site for a separate latrine for the native students, and that Mr. Fouracres be asked to build the latrines as soon as practicable.

(4) That as soon as the land to the north of the College premises is taken up, a new mess house and cook-room be erected in one building.

(5) That the Assistant Surgeon be appointed to act as adviser to the Superintendent as regards messing, and other matters connected with the boarding arrangements of the native students.

25. With regard to (1), it has been made a grievance that the store-room partition was not made of wood. Mr. Fouracres states:—

"This (the store-room) was done with the least possible delay. I heard no objection as to the manner in which the partition was put up, and was not aware that the students were dissatisfied because it was not made of wood. I considered that the partition, which was made of bamboos and bamboo matting, was quite good enough for the purpose, as the building in which it was placed was only a temporary one, and a new dining-hall and cook-house had to be built as soon as the land was turned over to us."

No. (2) was carried out the same day. With regard to No. (3) a separate latrine for the servants was at once put up by Mr Fouracres; but it has since been dismantled by order of the Municipality. A plan for a permanent latrine for the students, to be made of artificial stone, was also taken in hand; and the Principal's approval to the estimates was received only a few days before the students sent in their petition.

Early in April, within a fortnight of the date of that meeting, the land to the north of the compound was taken up; and Mr. Fouracres at once set about the preparation of designs, and estimates for the mess house and cook-room mentioned in No. (4), together with a dining-hall, store-room, and servants' houses. These designs were shown to the Principal, who thought the estimated cost higher than Government would be likely to sanction, and recommended certain alterations. This took some little time; but the estimates were finally sent up with the Principal's approval on the 7th May, shortly after the outbreak.

The meaning of the 5th Resolution was that the students wished to have some native officer of position to represent their wants to Mr. Fouracres. This was the first intimation that I had received of the existence of any sort of friction between the Superintendent and the native students. From all that I had up to that time seen and heard of their mutual relations, I had come to the conclusion that the students regarded Mr. Fouracres as their warm friend and protector, and that they needed no one to intervene between him and them. But I entirely approved of the proposal to give the Assistant Surgeon a certain position as to their representation, since it would, at any rate, tend to secure their wants being more fully made known to Mr. Fouracres, and more authoritatively expressed.

26. It has been said that native students have no bathing-ghât. Very soon after the arrival of the engineering students from the Presidency College, they complained to Mr. Fouracres that the European students, when bathing, encroached on their portion of the tank; and the Europeans retorted that the natives did the same. There are two flights of steps leading down to the tank; and Mr. Fouracres at once assigned one to the Europeans and another to the natives, forbidding them to pass beyond each other's boundaries. I have lately inspected the two ghâts, and have seen that the one assigned to the native students is by far the better of the two, being double the breadth of the other, and in complete repair. The European students' ghât is a ruinous mass of brickwork, on which it is difficult and dangerous to walk. They have supplemented it by spring boards and platforms of wood erected by themselves.

27. On the general question of accommodation, Mr. Fouracres writes as follows:—

"Notwithstanding the removal of the students, I have no doubt of the success of the College. The native students who remain (some 25 in number) are progressing as favourably as I could wish, and will be a credit to their College and themselves, and an advantage to their country. The great sickness which prevailed last year, not only in the College, but throughout the whole neighbourhood of Calcutta, has almost entirely disappeared. The grounds have been thoroughly drained, and a large extent of jungle in the vicinity cut down, and there is no reason to believe that a recurrence of last year's sickness will take place. To ensure its complete success, however, it will be necessary to provide pucca houses for the native students, with accommodation not inferior to that enjoyed by the European and Eurasian boys, otherwise a spirit of discontent will always prevail, and the suspicion that an invidious distinction is being made between the two races will continue. This was, I believe, the original intention of Government; and the native boys have been several times informed by me that there was no doubt of the erection of such buildings eventually, once the Government was fully satisfied that the natives would take to the work of their adopted profession." This has always been the intention of Government; and the time has now come when it should be carried out.

28. I turn to the second series of charges against Mr. Fouracres, that of using harsh or insulting language to the students, and of treating them unkindly; and, as before, I proceed to notice all the complaints that have reached me from every source. As to the present charge, Mr. Fouracres states:—

"So far from my conduct having been habitually harsh, I have always used my utmost endeavours to make the boys, natives and Europeans, as comfortable as possible. I have never used a harsh or disagreeable word, except when it was absolutely necessary in the maintenance of discipline. If my conduct towards the natives had been harsh, I cannot understand their motives in coming to me in a body on the morning of the day on which they left, to thank me for all the kindness which they had received from me."

29. It has been stated that Mr. Fouracres has on various occasions called the students pigs, dogs, jackals, sheep, dirty creatures, not gentlemen. When this was mentioned to Mr. Fouracres, he indignantly denied the accusation. But when I saw him again, a few days afterwards, he had recalled to mind certain passing observations which had altogether escaped his memory at the time, but which had apparently given ground for the charges in question. The circumstances in each case were the following:—

(a) Pigs. This occurrence took place just after the memorial had been presented. The account which Mr. Fouracres gives of it is this:—"Subsequently to the petition being forwarded, I was going my rounds with the new doctor, inspecting the quarters, when I pointed out to him, or he pointed out to me, the untidy and dirty condition of the interior of their houses. I said to him, 'Doctor, these young men have charged me with not treating them as gentlemen' [referring to the complaint to that effect in the student's memorial] "'Gentlemen, I think, ought to keep their houses cleaner; this room is as untidy as a pig-stye.' This, I believe, is their reason for accusing me of having called them not gentlemen but pigs." Mr. Fouracres' statement is entirely corroborated by the Assistant Surgeon, who stated before the Board of Visitors:—"About the 8th of May I went round the boys' quarters with Mr. Fouracres, and saw that the houses were awfully dirty, and flies swarming all over the place. I asked the students whom I saw why they did not keep their houses clean, and I pointed out the improvements they could make. To my surprise one of the students said (in Bengali) that I could not expect students to keep their houses as scrupulously clean as European houses. I replied in English that such a statement was a libel on any native, especially on Hindus. Mr. Fouracres merely said that the house was 'awfully dirty,' or 'abominably dirty,' and that it was 'like a pig-stye.' I told them that if they liked they could keep their houses cleaner."

This includes the charge of having called the students 'dirty creatures,' 'not gentlemen.'

(b) 'Dogs.' Mr. Fouracres states:—"In March last 15 or 16 new students were admitted, and they came to me to have a place pointed out to them to cook in. I told them there was sufficient room in the existing cook-houses. They said that the old students objected to their using this place, on the plea that there was no room. Thinking that there was, I went to the cook-house and sent for some of the old students. They said that there was no room. I stopped inside the first cook-house, but did not go a yard beyond the threshold, seeing that the space was fully occupied. I said, 'let me see the next cook-house,' a much larger but a temporary one. On the doors being opened I stepped inside, as I had done in the first case, I looked round the room and said, 'why, there is room for 10 or 15 fires here; and I cannot understand your objecting to the new students cooking in this room.' I then gave the new students orders to occupy the space I pointed out to them. The old students then informed me that, on account of my entering their cook-room, they would be obliged to destroy the food that was being prepared, and also the utensils I told them that I was very sorry, but that if they had mentioned this before I entered their cook-rooms, I would certainly not have done so. I felt that I had been entrapped into breaking one of their caste rules, and said, 'why did you not tell me this when I came out of the first house. If you had objected, I would not have entered either of the houses. You were all present, and certainly ought to have spoken out. I cannot understand why you object to one of your own caste and your own countrymen cooking in the same room with you. There is sufficient spare room here, which you do not use yourselves, nor will you allow others to use it. It reminds me of the story of the dog in the manger.' I cannot think of any other sentence in which I ever used the word 'dog' to them"

This episode is instructive; since it throws some light upon the statement made to me by Chandra Kanta Sen, that the students felt that Mr. Fouracres did not understand them and their customs.

(c) 'Jackals.' Mr Fouracres states:—"Some time ago the students in the octagonal bungalow were having some festivities in their quarters, in which howling and shouting were the most prominent features. They were so boisterous that no one in my house could sleep This lasted till about half past two in the morning. I told them the next day that they had no business to make such a noise in their quarters after 9 P M (This is one of the rules of the College). I also said that I did not object to their talking after that hour, but I certainly did object to their howling like a pack of jackals, and preventing every one from sleeping."

(d) 'Sheep' Mr. Fouracres has no recollection of the use of this term.

30. Mr. Fouracres had also said, 'the bungalows are palaces compared with your own huts.' The use of the word 'huts' was unhappy; natives of the class in question do not live in huts; they live generally in good-sized houses of mud or brick. Nevertheless, in the important respects of space, light, and ventilation, the bungalows occupied by the native students were unquestionably far better, I will not say than their own houses, but at any rate than the lodgings in which such students are accustomed to live in Calcutta and other large towns. The lodgings in College Street, for example, are mostly little rooms in pucca buildings some 12 or 14 feet square, and about 10 feet high; and two or three or even four students live together in them. In the Seebpore bungalows each student had not less than 1,200 or 1,400 cubic feet of space In point of light and ventilation again, the bungalows leave little to desire, though these are perhaps advantages to which the ordinary native student attaches little importance. Still, it should be remembered that it was precisely with the object of securing to them these advantages that the movement for establishing a hostel in Calcutta was set on foot.

31. A complaint has been made that Mr. Fouracres destroyed the native students' cricket ground by needlessly sending carts across it in spite of their remonstrances; while he did not allow a native student so much as to walk across the Europeans' ground. The facts as stated by Mr. Fouracres, are these:—

"The Dehree Training School had a cricket club, and the captain of the club was having the ground prepared for the season This ground lies between the native students' quarters and the two bathing ghats, and was intersected by a track. This track, as it crossed the cricket ground and was against an existing college rule, the European students dug up, in order that the grass might grow on it; and placed as usual a bamboo at each end of the track. One day a native student was seen passing this way; and a little boy (the smallest of the Dehree Training School) told him he must not walk across this piece of ground, as it was being prepared for a cricket field, and was against orders The native student insisted are going this way, but was prevented from doing so by the European student, who did so without striking the offender, but by simply standing in his way (I may mention that the distance by the path is but a few yards shorter than the distance by the road.) A complaint was made to me by one of the native students; and the Captain of the Dehree Cricket Club asked me for a written order prohibiting students from crossing the ground. This I gave, although I considered it unnecessary, as I had given the order to the boys publicly on their arrival at the College. After receiving the complaint I scolded the boy for jostling the native student, and although the complainant was a bigger boy than the European, I assembled the Dehree students, and told them that they were on no account to interfere with the native students;' and that if they did so, I would, on proof of the same, have the offender turned out of the College a once.

"Next, with regard to the complaint of my sending carts across the native students' cricket ground. This is a strip of land in front of the octagonal building, and is not a cricket-ground, nor is it fit for one. In August last, about the 9th or 10th, two carts arrived with a pug-mill and other articles belonging to the cement experiments; and had to be taken to one of the new temporary quarters erected for the native students, but then unoccupied. I told the carters to take them to the building. They did so the best way they could, which was close to the octagonal building, and as far as possible from the spot which had been rolled by the native students. I may have told them that they could roll the ground fifty times if they liked, but the carts must go the way I had directed, as it was not on the ground they had rolled or were intending to roll, but was close to their buildings and away from their ground."

32. I have now gone through all the specific charges which, so far as I have been able to learn, have been at any time made against Mr. Fouracres. Their character will by this time be obvious. But, with regard to one aspect of them, I would say that nothing but the most perverse ingenuity could discover in the history of all that has passed since the establishment of the College, any sign of race distination in the treatment of Europeans and natives, always excepting the well-known, and under the circumstances inevitable, fact that the European students were much better lodged than the natives, and that the latter during the first experimental period had to endure much discomfort, to relieve which, so far as possible, was the constant object of Mr. Fouracres and of all connected with the College. With this exception, I am firmly convinced, from all I have seen from the beginning, and from the inquiries I have lately made, that the interests of the native students were at no time, whether by Mr. Fouracres or by any other officer, deliberately sacrificed to, or carelessly neglected in favour of, those of the Europeans. Mr. Fouracres has, I know, made many efforts to induce the two classes of students to mix. He says, "I have repeatedly invited them to cricket and football (with the Europeans), and to the reading room, telling them they were free to all; but, with one or two exceptions, I have never seen any of them attend those amusements. But I have seen them wait until the European boys had gone to dinner, and then make a rush for the gymnasium, but the moment dinner was over they all walked off to their quarters" This, however, may have been due to the feeling that they are not as good at manly sports as European boys are I have heard nothing tending to show that the European boys treat roughly any native students who may join in their games, or play practical jokes on them.

33. With regard to the exaction of work from native students; if Mr. Fouracres gives a specific order to any one, he expects it to be obeyed. Some of them, indeed, need no driving. "Many of the students," he stated to the Board, "have a good deal of zeal, and do good work. They work at the bench and the forge exactly as the European apprentices do. But I believe that the majority have no taste or liking for manual work." With reference to this, Mr. Fouracres has told me that he has shut his eyes to as much as it was possible for him to wink at. He remembered, he says, that natives were not accustomed to continuous manual work, and he wanted to be habituate them to it by degrees; all he insisted on was that they should be present in the shops; but if he once got them there, he did not inquire too closely into the amount of work they were doing. With European students he was thoroughly strict. And it will be remembered how emphatically Mr. Fouracres stated before the Board what his treatment of a European apprentice would have been, if he had committed Srish Chandra's act of mischief.

34. A similar charge of preference shown towards European students to the disadvantage of natives has also been made in the press against Mr. Slater, the officiating Principal. It is said that Mr. Slater ordered the native students to quit the front seats in the lecture-room, in order to make way for the Europeans. Before stating the facts, I may explain that so far as my experience goes, Professors never interfere with the way in which students seat themselves. The constant practice is that those students who join the class early in the term occupy the front benches; those who come later, sitting behind. By common consent among the students, the earlier comers retain their advantage; and in a few days the students settle down to the seats which they will occupy for the rest of the term. In accordance with this practice, when the college re-opened, after the vacation in June 1880, the students of the first year class took their seats as they joined. The Christian students who came first occupied the front benches, and the natives as they came sat behind. This arrangement continued daily for about three weeks, and by that time each student had come to look upon the seat which he occupied as his own by right of usage. Mr. Slater, however, who was then a Professor of the college, did not approve of the arrangement; thinking that as English was not their native tongue, the native students should sit in front, so that they might have a better chance of understanding what was said. He accordingly decided to place the European students at the back, and proceeded one morning to the class-room to carry out the change. On arrival, he found all the Christian students waiting outside, complaining that the natives had appropriated the seats which they had hitherto occupied. Mr. Slater thereupon directed the European students to go back to their old seats, pointing out to the intruders that, in occupying seats which by conventional usage belonged to others, they had committed a breach of college etiquette. Next morning, the students complained to Mr Downing, the Principal, and Mr. Slater explained to him what had occurred. On going to the class-room, Mr Slater addressed the students, telling them that he had intended to alter the distribution of seats on the very day on which the natives had chosen to oust the European students; and added that, as they had taken the law into their own hands, he would not interfere with the existing arrangements. However, after the lapse of a few days, Mr. Slater, in order to carry out his original intention, which he still thought desirable, altered the arrangement of the tables in the room; and on the alteration being made, he gave the natives the greater share of the front row.

35. It has also been stated when two Hindu students applied for permission to live in the quarters occupied by the European boys, offering to pay the higher rent of Rs. 5 a month (the rate charged for boarders residing in the bungalows being Rs. 1 a month, which was, as a matter of fact, remitted during the past year), their application was refused. The request was not made either to Mr. Fouracres or to Mr. Slater, who have heard nothing of it; it was probably made to Mr. Downing, now on furlough. If it was made and refused, it would only have been refused on the ground that the applicants were not prepared to abide by the rules in force for the other occupants of the building. It would have been out of the question to allow them to live there, to have their meals in their own rooms, and to keep their own servants about them; since these are privileges denied to Christian students. At the present moment there are two Parsees, one Mahomedan, and one Bengali Brahmo, who live and board with the Christian students, and conform to all the rules in force for the latter.

36. The specific charges against Mr. Fouracres having been, as I cannot but consider, satisfactorily met in every case, it becomes of importance to inquire whether they were antecedently probable. Mr. Fouracres is fortunately not a stranger among us; his character is well known, and he has been prominently before the public for many years. Coming to this country in 1846, he has since been constantly employed in establishing workshops and in training workmen, both European and native. He has never before had any disturbance arising from insubordination. Never before has any breath of censure passed upon him. The record of his services is a record of high appreciation of his worth and character, by men eminently qualified to judge of them He has received the personal commendation of men so highly placed as Sir William Denison, Sir Arther Cotton, Sir Andrew Clerk, Sir George Campbell, Sir William Grey, Lord Mayo, and Lord Northbrook; all of whom had become acquainted, by personal observation, with his skill and success in the management of workshops and the training of mechanics. Sir Arthur Cotton wrote:—"I have repeatedly had to visit these works, and have had good opportunity of ascertaining his admirable conduct of his duties. I consider him one of the most faithful and effective of the servants of Government, a man of quite superior skill in his business, but specially a man of remarkable ability in managing and instructing native workmen. He has brought up a great number of lads, and made them superior workmen. I have never seen work equal in quality to that turned out of his workshop."

General Rendell, Joint-Secretary to the Government of Bengal. in the Irrigation Branch, wrote in 1871 :—"Mr. Fouracres has already been so successful in training Native and Eurasian lads as artificers, that his opinion may be safely taken on this point; and I know of no one possessing better qualities for imparting a practical knowledge of mechanical handicraft, or to whose tuition lads might be more profitably entrusted."

Mr. Levinge wrote in much the same terms: "I know no one so competent to give an opinion on this subject as Mr. Fouracres, who has been accustomed to workshops all his life, and has himself trained up a great number of boys."

In the same year Colonel Haig, Chief Engineer, wrote: "The Lieutenant-Governor thinks it of special importance that the scheme (of a training school at Dehree), if approved, should be started at once, while Mr. Fouracres is in charge of the Dehree Workshops, as it is much more likely to succeed under his supervision than under that of any other officer." And, again, "The present Executive Engineer, Mr. Fouracres, has already shown, by the great success with which he trained a number of lads in the Godavery workshops many years ago, that he possesses peculiar qualifications for the task,—superior, I dare say, to those of any other men in India."

Colonel Gulliver, Joint-Secretary to the Government of Bengal, in the Irrigation Branch, wrote in 1874: "I cannot close this [report on the Dehree training school] without bringing to notice that the whole success of the school up to the present time has been due to the care and exertions of Mr. Fouracres, who has given every moment of his spare time to the superintending of the boys in the school, in their quarters, and at their amusements; besides being very careful that their work in the shops is properly attended to."

In the same year Mr. (now Sir Steuart) Bayley, the Commissioner of the Patna Division, after a visit to Dehree, wrote thus of Mr. Fouracres, "To whose constant supervision and successful management the reputation of the school is mainly due."

In 1875 the Secretary to the Government of India wrote: "I am also directed to place on record the high appreciation in which the Government of India holds the services of Mr. C. Fouracres in connection with the training school.

Lastly, when in 1879 the Government of Bengal proposed to establish the Seebpore Training College, a special application was made to the Government of India in the following terms for the services of Mr Fouracres, who had then retired on pension: "Arrangements are now being made for the establishment of a technical training school at Seebpore in connection with the Calcutta workshops lately transferred to new premises at that place; and the Lieutenant-Governor considers that on public grounds it is of great importance that the new school should be started under an officer so specially fitted for the work as Mr. Fouracres." On these grounds the employment of Mr. Fouracres was sanctioned by the Government of India.

37. If I might be permitted to express my own opinion of Mr. Fouracres, based on an acquaintance of some years, I should describe him as one who, by his qualities of energy and uprightness, and by the manly and thorough discharge of his duties, had gained a position in which he commanded the respect of all who knew him well; as a man of genuine kindness of heart and incapable of injustice or oppression; as a man who would do honour to any race or country. If the native students of the Seebpore College have failed to appreciate and to value Mr. Fouracres, and if that fact reflects discredit on any body, it is not on Mr. Fouracres that the discredit should fall.

38. I now return to the immediate subject of this letter; the fact, namely, that 66 out of the 70 insubordinate students have apologised for their misconduct, and prayed to be re-admitted to the College. The petitioners, in asking leave to withdraw their names, express their regret that, in submitting the joint memorial, they "unconsciously acted in breach of a Government rule." "The error of judgment," they continue, "which marked our conduct in this respect was, we humbly beg to assure you, solely due to our ignorance of the rule, and not to any want of respect on our part for the authorities placed over us." And they conclude with the promise that, should their prayer be granted, they will render due obedience to the authorities, and act in conformity with the rules of the institution. If, then, the question be asked whether their apology is as ample and their submission as complete as we have a right to expect if the students are to be re-admitted as pupils of the Seebpore College, I must point out that the apology makes no reference, in the first place, to the disobedience which the students committed in refusing to obey my orders of the 3rd May. Their error of judgment, they say, was solely due to their ignorance of the Government rule,—a plea which was not open to them after the receipt of my letter, in which I told them that the signing of the memorial was a breach of discipline of the most serious kind. Nor, in the second place, does it make any reparation to Mr Fouracres for the way in which he has been so cruelly maligned. Mr. Fouracres has been held up to public reprobation as a monster of tyranny and oppression; when the only fault which he has committed as that of having misunderstood the native students, and of having ascribed to them qualities of patience and good temper under trying circumstances which they did not possess. The apology is, in fact, just such an one as might have been submitted in obedience to my original orders, before they had committed their act of mutiny, followed by expulsion, and before the real character of their complaints against Mr Fouracres had been made clear.

39. Still, I do not wish to press these points unduly. The students have submitted, and their submission may be taken to include not only their first act of indiscipline, but their second act of disobedience, when their fault was pointed out to them. And with regard to Mr. Fouracres, it must be remembered that the students do not yet know the result of my enquiries; and that the feelings, however unreasonable and mistaken, which prompted the first memorial, have not been likely to subside or to alter their character, when the only influences to which they have for more than a month been subjected are such as would confirm and exaggerate them. The students have promised to render due obedience to the authorities in future, and, therefore, if they re-enter the College, they will do so under conditions which will afford no excuse for a disaffected attitude hereafter. I would therefore counsel a lenient course, and the re admission to the College on certain conditions of all the students, including Srish Chandra Lahiri, to whose level of disobedience the rest have now fallen. They have brooded over troubles which were real, and over grievances which as against Mr. Fouracres were mostly imaginary; they have compared their lot with that of their European fellow students, and have resented the difference in their conditions; and though their attitude until recently gave no ground for suspecting the steady growth of such feelings, it is nevertheless true that they existed, and were treated as if they did not exist. Where they have so grievously gone wrong is in having utterly misplaced their resentment in having identified Mr. Fouracres with the discomforts of which he was well aware, but which he was doing his best to remedy; and in having, when their resentment began to grow, detected in every hasty expression, or peremptory order a proof of unkindness or want of sympathy. Something too may have been added by the fact that Mr. Fouracres represented that side of their work which to most of the students was irksome and disagreeable—the labour of the shops. Again, when they had taken their rash step, and found themselves in utter bewilderment at the ruin of their prospects, it unfortunately happened that they fell under the influence of evil advisers, who, careless of the injury they were doing, magnified and exaggerated every grievance into unnatural dimensions, stung them with the suggestions of race-antipathy, treated them (poor lads!) as patriots and heroes, and exhorted them to maintain their dignified resistance to the insolent tyranny of authority. No wonder they failed to recover the mental balance they had lost. At the same time they had wise and firm friends, and among them some to whom they could look up as the recognized leaders of their community, who did not cease to point out to them their folly and presumption; and I am glad to say that bitter counsels finally prevailed.

40. I would not be thought in any way to make light of the offence of which the students have been guilty. With his many excellent qualities, the young native of Bengal is too often deficient in what may be called backbone; prone to magnify imaginary slights; apt to form too high an opinion of himself; inclined to be insubordinate when things do not go exactly as he wishes. Unlike his fellow-students at Oxford, the Bengali undergraduate would much rather be spoken of as a "gentleman" than as "man," and with regard to his position as a gentleman he is acutely sensitive; forgetful that the most manly and self respecting persons are not in the habit of asserting their claims as gentlemen most loudly. To encourage him in such a temper and attitude is to do him a real and lasting injury; if we are to make a man of him, we must teach him by rebuke or by ridicule not to attach too much importance to trifles. Under circumstances, for example, like the present, no student should be allowed to return to the College without being made to understand clearly that the position which he has taken up is utterly untenable and absurd, and that he has run the risk of ruining his prospects for life on grounds which are ludicrously inadequate.

41. It remains to consider the conditions on which the students may be re-admitted to the College. They have, in the first place, by their own act made it impossible that they should rejoin the classes for the present term. During the time, now six weeks, that they have maintained their insubordinate attitude, their class-fellows have continued their studies, and it would be impossible either to keep the latter back until the readmitted students had made up lost ground, or to admit those students to lectures which they are now incapable of following. The course of instruction in each class would be entirely disorganized, and the diligent and orderly students would be made to suffer for the faults of their fellows Such punishment therefore as the insubordinate students have brought upon themselves, they must inevitably endure; but I would ask for no more. Sufficient guarantees for orderly conduct and for the complete maintenance of discipline being secured, I would recommend no further penalties of any kind. If my suggestion is accepted by Government, its effect will be as follows:—The students will not return to the College during the present term, which closes for the long vacation about the 15th August. The vacation lasts until the beginning of November, when the winter session will begin. The classes will at once go into camp for field-work, and the re-admitted students may then to allowed to join them, resuming their studies at the College in the following February. The students of the Engineering classes will thus go up for their examination a year later; but in consideration of the fact that they will have gone through a practical course for one cold season beyond what is required by the rules, I would recommend that the final year of practical training, after passing the University Examination, be reduced to six months. The students will thus lose six months' time. In the same way, I would recommend in the case of overseer students and apprentices that the final year and a half of practical training be reduced to twelve months.

Any re-admitted students who have been scholarship-holders might be allowed to draw their scholarships from the 1st November, the stipend for the intervening period being forfeited.

Dated Sibpore, the 25th April 1881.

From—Banawan Lal Banerjea, and 86 others,
To—The Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

We the undersigned native students of the Government Engineering College most respectfully beg to submit to you the following lines for your consideration, regarding the harsh and unkind treatment which we habitually receive from Mr. Fouracres, the Superintendent of the Calcutta Workshops.

2. We have had before this to complain to the Principal of Mr. Fouracres' conduct and of the harsh and unkind, and sometimes even abusive language which he is in the habit of using towards us. We complained that Mr. Fouracres did not treat us as gentlemen, and we begged of the Board of Visitors to relieve us from his authority and place us directly under the Principal, except during the workshop hours. That petition was not forwarded to the Board as its tone was thought to be objectionable, and the language employed was not deemed to be sufficiently respectful. We did not, however, present a fresh petition, and we had hoped that the simple fact of our having formally complained would ensure a better treatment at the hands of Mr. Fouracres. We have, however, been disappointed, and it is now our painful duty again to bring a complaint against him; and this time because he has subjected one of our number to the grossest insult in assaulting him in the presence of the whole workshop establishment. We are the sons of gentlemen and we hope to be treated as such; we hope that we shall receive the same considerate treatment which students receive in the other Government Colleges under your direction. Our self-respect has been deeply hurt, and we appeal to you for protection.

3. The facts of the case which we have referred to are as follows:—

On Friday last, the 22nd instant, Srish Chandra Lahiri, a student of the second-year class A, while working at a punching machine accidently injured the die. It appears that the student tried to punch a hole through a piece of iron which was too thick for the strength of the machine. The matter was in due course reported by the foreman to Mr. Fouracres. On receiving this information, Mr. Fouracres appears to have completely lost his temper. Srish Chandra was called upon to explain his conduct. He admitted that he had injured the die, and he expressed his willingness to pay for the cost of repair. Mr. Fouracres said "you are an idiot, since you tried to make a hole through such a thick piece of iron," and he threatened to report the matter to the Principal with a view to have the student expelled, or to make him pay for the cost of repairs. Subsequently, Mr. Fouracres came to learn that the student came from the carpenter's shop and did not belong to the fitter's shop This threw Mr Fouracres into what, we are constrained to say, amounted to an ungovernable fit of passion Having ascertained where Srish Chandra was, Mr. Fouracres rushed into the carpenter's shop, caught hold of the student by the neck and turned him about for a time with violent jerks. Immediately after he again caught hold of him, raised a stick and struck the carpenter's bench several times with it.

It is to be observed that the student throughout showed the utmost forbearance, and though his temper was put to the severest trial, did not use a single disrespectful word to Mr. Fouracres.

Certainly, Srish Chandra was to blame for his ignorance, and perhaps his carelessness; but we submit that it is impossible for a student to learn without making a great many mistakes, and such mistakes deserve kind and considerate treatment from the teacher. Moreover, Srish Chandra unhesitatingly admitted that he had injured the die, and indeed he was quite willing to make all reparations that lay in his power. But this did not satisfy Mr. Fouracres, and forgetting what was due from a teacher to the taught, committed a most unprovoked assault upon one who was guilty of no offence whatever, and who received the unbearable insult to which he was subjected with calm dignity. We appeal to you as the Head of the Education Department for protection. Any one of us may, at any time, be subjected to the treatment which Srish Chandra has received at the hands of Mr. Fouracres We feel that the insult that has been offered to Srish Chandra, has been offered to the entire body of the native students of the College. We appeal to you that we may be spared the possibility of such indignities in the future. In seeking to learn engineering we have not ceased to be gentlemen; and manual labour, it is to be hoped, has not degraded us in the estimation of our teachers.

We therefore most humbly pray that you will be good enough to take our grievances into your earnest consideration, and to relieve us from the authority of Mr. Fouracres.

No. 536, dated Howrah, the 26th April 1881.

Memo. from—J. S. SLATER, Esq, Officiating Principal, Govt. Engineering College, Howrah,

To—The Director of Public Instruction.

UNDERSIGNED has the honor to forward in original a petition from the native students of the college for orders. A copy of the petition has been forwarded to the Superintendent, Calcutta Workshops, for information.

No. 3T, dated Darjeeling, the 3rd May 1881.

From—A. W. CROFT, Esq, M.A., Director of Public Instruction, Bengal,

To—The Principal, Engineering College.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your memorandum No. 536, dated 26th ultimo, forwarding a petition from 87 native students of the Engineering College, in which they complain of the conduct of Mr. Fouracres, the Executive Engineer in charge of the Workshops, in assaulting and using violent language to one of their number, and in which they pray to be relieved of his authority. I have also received a letter from Mr. Fouracres describing what really happened on the occasion.

2. It appears that on the 22nd ultimo, Srish Chandra Lahiri, a student of the second-year engineering class, who was working in the carpenter's shop, left his bench without orders, and going to the fitter's shop, where he had no right to be, proceeded to punch a hole in a piece of iron at one of the machine-tools. The iron was too thick for the machine, the 'bolster' or bottom-die of which was consequently broken, and some urgent work stopped for several days. When the matter was reported to Mr. Fouracres, he sent for the student and asked him what he meant by being "such an idiot" or "such a fool" as to meddle with a machine that he knew nothing about. At this time Mr. Fouracres was under the impression that the student was working in the fitter's shop. On learning that he belonged to the carpenter's shop, Mr. Fouracres followed him thither, took him by the arm or the shoulder, and brought him back to the fitter's shop, a few paces distant, where, pointing to the broken machine, he warned him emphatically, in the presence of the other students, never to touch it again without orders, and not to leave his proper work. At the same time Mr. Fouracres struck the bench with his stick.

3. This was the assault, and this the abuse and violence complained of. Mr. Fouracres states that he adopted the course he did, in order, firstly, to let the students understand publicly that they must not meddle with machines of the use of which they are ignorant, to the risk of life, limb, and property, and, secondly, to save Srish Chandra Lahiri from the dismissal or other serious punishment which would have resulted from a formal complaint.

4. In submitting their petition, the students of the College have entirely failed to understand the serious character of the offence of which Srish Chandra Lahiri was guilty. For a similar act of disobedience and mischief, the offender, whether workman or apprentice, would have been summarily turned out of any workshop in England. Irritated as Mr. Fouracres, like any good workman, must have been at the occurrence, it is not surprising that he should speak in the sharpest language to one who had been guilty of an act of mischievous folly; and I am not inclined to take serious notice of the term which Mr. Fouracres in his indignation used. In not reporting the offender, he acted with his habitual forbearance. The alleged assault was of the most trivial kind; and the statement that Mr. Fouracres "struck the carpenter's bench several times with his stick" only brings out more clearly the true character of the complaint.

5. In claiming to be treated like gentlemen, the students forget that they must first behave like men,; while their present memorial is in fact a sorry exhibition of childish petulance and presumption. When they write about "a most unprovoked assault committed upon one who was guilty of no offence whatever, and who received the unbearable insult to which he was subjected with calm dignity" and when they state that "the student throughout showed the utmost forbearance, though his temper was put to the severest trial," these pretentious declamations would be merely ludicrous, did they not furnish so lamentable a proof that the writers are entire strangers to what is manly and becoming conduct.

6. There is a further side to this question. The only persons immediately concerned in the dispute are Mr. Fouracres and Srish Chandra Lahiri; and if the latter, considering himself aggrieved by Mr. Fouracres' treatment of him, had submitted a temperate representation on the subject, it would have been duly considered in connection with the original offence. But it is not to be tolerated that his fellow students should take up his quarrel, should combine to frame a joint memorial in his interest, and, constituting themselves the judges in his cause, should demand their removal as a body from the control of one who has been placed in authority over them. Such a proceeding strikes at the root of all discipline. The students, indeed, allege that "the insult offered to Srish Chandra has been offered to the entire body of the native students of the College." This assertion has been sufficiently disposed of by what has preceded. The students, again, complain of the "harsh and unkind and sometimes even abusive language, which he (Mr. Fouracres) is in the habit of using towards us." Mr. Fouracres' character and mode of dealing with students, both European and native, have been too long and too favourably known to me, and I may add to successive Viceroys and Lieutenant-Governors through a series of years to justify me in paying any attention to a statement made in such general terms, and (as I believe it to be) so groundless. Mr. Fouracres is above all things a workman, trained in habits of obedience and discipline, accustomed to insist on good work, and firm in enforcing it. The discipline of a workshop like that of a regiment is different from the discipline of a class room, and there is no loss of dignity in yielding implicit obedience to either the one or the other. Students working under Mr. Fouracres must expect orders promptly given to be promptly obeyed, and a sharp rebuke if they are carried out in a negligent, inattentive or dilatory way. These are the conditions which prevail in every good workshop in any country, and in the absence of which no sound mechanical training is possible. And I believe it to be just this of which the students complain as a grievance. Their former petition on the same subject was not submitted to the Board of Visitors because, as they truly state in their present memorial, "its tone was thought to be objectionable, and the language employed was not deemed to be sufficiently respectful." But in the present connection it is not the tone or the language which is the most serious matter, but rather the entire inability of the students to understand the conditions which will enable them to become good workmen and to succeed in the profession which they have chosen. To have the opportunity of learning their business under an Engineer of Mr. Fouracres' skill and experience is a privilege of which the students will, it is to be hoped, learn in time the value. To show themselves so sensitive on immaterial points, and so careless of the main object of their education; to clamour for the treatment of gentlemen when they are behaving like unruly school boys, is only to show their folly and ingratitude.

7. To have signed the memorial is an offence against discipline of a very serious kind. Some students have, I am glad to see, since withdrawn their names, and no further action will be taken in their case. They state that in attaching their signatures to the memorial, they were "misinformed as to the facts of the case," and they add that they were "never harshly or unjustly treated by Mr. Fouracres." This is quite sufficient to show that the memorial is the result of an unscrupulous agitation, and that it does not express the genuine feelings of those who have signed it. Should there be any, however, who, after sufficient opportunity for reflection, persist in the attitude which they have taken up, I can only regard them as foolish and insubordinate youths, whom it is not desirable to retain as members of the College. You are therefore requested to make these orders known to the students, and to inform them that those who shall not within three days have asked permission to withdraw their names from the memorial, with such expressions of contrition as you may judge to be sufficient, will be removed from the College. Upon all those who withdraw their names with a sufficient apology, a nominal fine of Rs. 2 will be inflicted in order to mark my opinion of their conduct. Many of them have doubtless been led away by the example of others, and no severer punishment is called for as regards the general body of students. If any further orders are necessary with regard to scholarship-holders or apprentices, they will be communicated hereafter.

8. Srish Chandra Lahiri has made no attempt to atone for his original offence, and he has aggravated it by joining the other students in signing the memorial. Mr. Fouracres states that this is not the first instance of valuable property having been damaged, whether maliciously or (as in the present case) by wanton and culpable recklessness. Offences of this kind must be firmly repressed. Srish Chandra's name will therefore be removed from the books of the College

No. 558, dated Sibpore, the 12th May 1881.

From—J. S. Slater, Esq., Offg. Principal, Govt. Engineering College, Howrah,
To—The Director of Public Instruction.

I have the honour to report that I conveyed to the students of the College the orders contained in your No. 31, dated 3rd May, regarding the serious breach of discipline that has recently occurred.

2. The native students have shown that they do not in any way appreciate the gravity of the offence of which they are guilty. During the past three days they have continued to preserve their original insubordinate attitude, and, as the time which was given them for reflection has now expired, I have carried out your instructions and withdrawn from the books of the College the names of all those who have not tendered a suitable apology. Out of the 87 students who signed the petition I forwarded with this office No. 536, dated 26th April 1881, seven withdrew their names before the petition reached you, one Srish Chandra Lahiri was expelled on the receipt of your orders, one denies that the signature purporting to be his was written by him, and four have tendered their apologies; the remainder to the number of 74 have this day ceased to be members of the College. The case of the student who denies the signature is under investigation, the result of which will be duly communicated to you.

3. The native papers have injudiciously done their best to encourage the native students to disregard all true discipline, and I fear that unless some stringent measures are taken to close all Government Colleges and appointments to the students that have been expelled, the recent agitation will be the means of undermining the discipline of other Government Colleges in Bengal, and perhaps throughout the whole Presidency. I am preparing a statement showing the names, age, school where educated, and date of passing the university tests of all the students just expelled, which I hope to be able to submit at an early date, and beg to suggest that a copy of it be sent to all colleges throughout Bengal, and to the heads of every Government office, and the information contained in it made public in any other way you may think fit.

4. I enclose two statements, one showing the names and position in the College of each student that has been expelled, and the other the present condition of each class.

Dated Calcutta, the 6th June 1881.

From—KALIGOPAL RUDRA and 65 others,
To—The Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

WE the undersigned students, late of the Government Engineering College, Sibpore, most respectfully beg leave to withdraw our names, which we hereby do, from our joint memorial, dated the 25th April 1881.

We beg to express our sincere regret that, in submitting the joint memorial, we unconsciously acted in breach of a Government rule. The error of judgment which marked our conduct in this respect was, we humbly beg to assure you, solely due to our ignorance of the rule, and not to any want of respect on our part for the authorities placed over us. We therefore most respectfully pray that you will be so good as to permit us to rejoin the College and to restore us to the position we occupied.

For our part, we most respectfully and sincerely beg to assure you that should you be pleased to comply with our prayer, we shall render due obedience to the authorities, and act in conformity with the rules of the institution.

ESTABLISHMENT OF A EUROPEAN GENERAL HOSPITAL AT DARJEELING.

MEDICAL AND MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT.—MEDICAL

Calcutta, the 20th June 1881.

RESOLUTION.

IN the note which is appended to this Resolution, the Lieutenant-Governor stated his reasons for thinking that Government should take measures to provide a European hospital at Darjeeling for the reception of patients and convalescents from the plains, and appointed a Committee* to examine the subject, and to submit proposals for carrying the scheme into effect. The Lieutenant-Governor expressed his willingness to make a grant from Provincial Services of Rs. 50,000 to Rs. 60,000 for the establishment of such a hospital as would afford accommodation to invalids from all parts of the Lower Provinces.

Hon'ble A Mackenzie, President.
Colonel Trevor, R.E.
The Deputy Commissioner of Darjeeling
Mr. Martin, Superintending Engineer
Dr. Birch, Civil Surgeon
Mr. Christie, Executive Engineer.

2. The Committee, after careful consideration of the different sites available, recommend that the site of the Bootcah School should be adopted. They have considered a rough plan of a two-storied hospital to accommodate 16 first class, 20 second class, and 20 third class patients at an estimated cost of about Rs. 52,000, and they propose that the plans and estimates should be completed by the Public Works Department for submission to the Lieutenant-Governor. They are of opinion that little difficulty would be found in raising public subscriptions to provide for the equipment of the hospital and the maintenance of the poorer classes of patients, and they recommend that measures should be taken to ascertain what assistance may be expected from the public.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor approves the suggestions put forward in the Committee's report. The Public Works Department will be requested to take measures at once to level the Booteah School site, demolishing the old buildings and cutting down the hill so as to secure sufficient space for a substantial structure of the dimensions proposed. Plans and estimates of the work should be prepared with as little delay as possible, and as soon as they have been approved by the Lieutenant-Governor, a special grant will be made of the amount required for the construction of the building Meanwhile a grant of Rs. 2,000 is sanctioned to admit of the Police Hospital being at once adapted for the reception of European patients, so that accommodation may be available during the current season.

4. The Commissioner of the Division will be desired to submit suggestions regarding the constitution of the governing body of the new institution. It is necessary that a Committee should at once be formed with authority to receive subscriptions. The Committee will also have to consider various questions connected with the administration of the hospital, and to submit, for the approval of Government, a scheme for its general management. As recommended in paragraph 8 of the Committee's report, the Chamber of Commerce, Calcutta, the Trades' Association, and the Agents of the East Indian and Eastern Bengal Railways, will be invited to say to what extent the Committee may expect donations for furniture now, and subscriptions for other purposes hereafter The Surgeon-General will be requested to ascertain to what extent advantage would probably be taken of the hospital by the different classes of patients, and to offer suggestions regarding the system under which the officers in charge of the metropolitan hospitals should be authorized to transfer patients to the Darjeeling Hospital.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Offg. Secy. to the Government of Bengal.

NOTE.

Now that the Tramway has been brought into Darjeeling, and that the sanitarium is placed in direct and easy communication with Calcutta, and with most of the civil stations of Bengal, and now that tea-planters from the unhealthy Dooars and the Terai can reach this station easily and without exposure in a few hours, the question of providing a good, well organized European hospital for the comfortable reception of patients and convalescents from the plains, forces itself upon the consideration of Government.

I have already received representations regarding hospital accommodation for sick persons and convalescents connected with the Eastern Bengal Railway, the Northern Bengal Railway, and the Darjeeling Tramway; and it appears that if nothing else be done some arrangement must at once be made in communication with the Managers of those lines for supplying a great and growing need of this sort. But as Darjeeling increases—and it is now increasing daily—we shall have to provide hospital accommodation for the permanent residents of the station and district. There are the tea-planters and their assistants scattered about all over the district, some of them placed in very unhealthy situations. Cases in which young men are brought in suffering from fever of a severe type for medical attendance are very common, and a difficulty is frequently found in providing them with accommodation during their illness. The hotels and boarding-houses are generally full, and a sick person is not always a welcome inmate in a public establishment of that sort; and it is feared that many useful men have lost their lives in the Dooars and the Terai, who would at once have come up for treatment if a comfortable hospital existed for their reception. Then, again, there are many cases of persons residing in outlying plantations, who desire attendance during their confinement, who can only obtain it at an enormous expense, altogether beyond their means, and who are not within reach of the Civil Surgeon, and cases are not unknown in which it has been found impossible to procure accommodation for such cases here on any terms.

But besides these there are frequent cases in the mofussil stations of persons pulled down after severe sickness or suffering from obstinate disease, who are unable to take the change to sea which richer persons could afford, but for whom a change and careful medical attendance are absolutely necessary. There are also persons who could undergo operations in the cool climate of the hills, which they could not bear in the heat of the plains. Lastly, there are patients convalescing in the Calcutta hospitals, to whom a change to a convalescent ward in Darjeeling would be of the utmost importance.

It therefore seems to me that as a European hospital has to be built, we should not keep in mind only the requirements of Darjeeling, but of the province generally. It will in the long run be a saving to Government if a number of its servants can be sent up here for a few weeks' treatment in a European climate, instead of having to take leave to Europe or to linger on in a condition of inefficiency from ill health at stations in the plains.

The experiment of paying wards for first-class patients has been tried on a small scale in Darjeeling, as also in Calcutta, and with the greatest promise of success.

I think that the best plan of dealing with the matter will be by appointing a Committee to consider the whole subject—the site, the classes and quantity of accommodation, the rate of charges, the mode of admission, &c., &c.

I accordingly appoint the following gentlemen to be members of a Committee for this purpose:—

The Hon'ble A. Mackenzie, President.
Colonel Trevor.
The Deputy Commissioner of Darjeeling.
Mr. Martin.
Dr. Birch.
Mr. Christie.

They should consult the present Hospital Committee, who have already given the subject their attention.

There are several sites which suggest themselves—

1. Vale Pleasant, which could at once be made available for the purpose. It has every advantage except that the houses are entirely out of repair. It has a bright look out, and is near the Mall. There are three houses; one has seven rooms with ample bath-room accommodation, which could be made into a hospital for paying-patients of the first class.

Then there is one large ward in a separate building which would do for patients of the third class, who would be inmates of a general ward. It is airy, light, and has a teak-boarded floor; it would hold probably 14 or 16 beds at least. There is a row of little separate rooms attached to this, which would be very comfortable for second-class patients. And there is the Retreat, a very comfortable four-roomed cottage, which would be available for special cases requiring quiet, such as midwifery or operations.

This site, with the buildings, is, I believe, valued at Rs. 10,000, and I should be glad to transfer it to the Hospital Committee, and to make a grant towards its repair. Some of the buildings would require a new roofing, and a good deal is required in the way of repairs. Proper servants' quarters are required, and a room for the hospital assistant would also be necessary. But after inspecting the buildings, I am afraid that they are so much out of repair that practically they would have to be re-built; and if this is to be done, the money will be better spent in constructing an entirely new hospital on the most improved principle than in repairing and adapting old buildings—never a satisfactory process.

2. Then there is the Booteah School site. A magnificent site might be secured by pulling down the old Post Office, now used as a Booteah School, and cutting down the hill 12 or 14 feet. Upon this site a really good two-storied hospital might be constructed, capable of providing between 50 and 60 beds. Of these, about 15 or 16 probably should be separate rooms for Government officers and other first-class patients, 20 might be for second-class, and 20 for third-class patients.

3. Then there is the site at the back, or at the south of the Bengal Office; but this is perhaps bringing the hospital too much into the station.

4. There is a Government site at Lowland's Place; but this is perhaps too far down the hill, and is not very accessible; otherwise it is a very fine site.

I have indicated above the various classes which would probably have to be accommodated. I should say that—

First-class patients should pay Rs. 2 a day, making their own arrangement for diet.

Second-class patients should be men and the families of men drawing, say, less than Rs. 300 a month in salary, or an equivalent income from other sources. The charge for them might be Rs. 3 a day including diet. They should have a ward to themselves, or rather two wards—one for males, the other for females.

Third-class patients should be men of official or other incomes of less than Rs. 100 a month. They should pay probably Rs. 1-4 a day, including diet, on the scale of the General Hospital. They must be inmates of the general ward set apart for their sex.

When patients of the third class are servants of a State or Guaranteed Railway, or public company or of a public department, they should be received only on a guarantee that their cost at the fixed rate per diem will be paid or recovered by their employers or the head of the department, who will make arrangements for recovering it when necessary from the patient. Where convalescents of the third class are sent up from Calcutta by the public hospitals, the hospitals must be responsible for their fees here

I leave, however, the rate of fee to be settled by the Committee, but have merely suggested these rates for their guidance.

It seems to me to be of great importance to give the scheme an immediate trial, and I am therefore willing to make a grant of Rs. 2,000, which should enable the Hospital Committee to adapt the whole of the Police Hospital at once for the reception of European patients. The Executive Engineer could arrange for accommodating the few police patients there are elsewhere.

A proper establishment would have to be provided and eventually paid for by the Hospital Committee. I think a good English nurse or matron essential. A trustworthy woman could probably be induced to take the place in this climate on very favourable terms. If no one is available locally, the Ladies' Committee at Calcutta might find some one suited to the place. I do not wish the hospital to be a charity hospital. It should pay its expenses, the building having been once provided and equipped. I am disposed to give a grant from Provincial Services of Rs. 50,000 to Rs. 60,000 for the purpose of establishing the hospital, provided, such a hospital is erected as shall afford accommodation to invalids from all parts of the Lower Provinces. For a merely local hospital, or for accommodation for the railway servants, I could not sanction more than half the amount. I gather from the Civil Surgeon that he thinks a considerable sum might be raised from subscription for such a useful purpose as this. The fees should be so fixed that they afford a reasonable prospect of the hospital covering its expenses. Five or six first-class, five second-class, and twelve or fourteen third-class patients ought to cover every expense.

ASHLEY EDEN.

The 11th June 1881.

REPORT.

The Committee appointed by the Lieutenant Governor's note of the 11th June, to consider the question of establishing a European General Hospital at Darjeeling, met at the Bengal Office at 10 A.M. on the 15th June.

PRESENT:

All the Members.

1. The Committee, accepting as beyond controversy the considerations put forward by the Lieutenant-Governor in favour of the establishment of a European Hospital at Darjeeling, on the largest scale suggested in His Honor's note, proceeded to consider first the question of sites.

2. They were unanimously of opinion that Vale Pleasant was not a desirable site for a hospital. Not only were the buildings unsuitable and dilapidated, but the ground space was far too limited. Moreover, experience had shown that there was serious risk of damage to any buildings there from landslips on the hill above.

3. The site in the Bengal Office grounds was also considered too small; and it was moreover suggested that Government would in time require the ground for offices. Besides which, to place a hospital so close to the Mall and the most frequented roads of the station, was not advisable.

4. Lowland Place was admitted to be a fine site, but the Executive Engineer pointed out that it was at present the only brickfield available to Government. It was very desirable to work out the bed of clay now exposed there before putting any buildings on the land. It would afterwards form a fine building site. Dr. Birch objected to the site as too far away from the centre of the station, and as less open than the Bhootea school site.

5. On the whole, the Committee had no doubt that by far the best site was that put forward as No. 2 in the Lieutenant-Governor's note, i.e., on the top of the Bhootea School hill. To cut the hill down 14 feet would, Mr. Christie thought, cost only from Rs. 1,000 to Rs. 1,500, and would give a ground area of upwards of 200 × 100 feet. To cut it down 20 feet, at a cost of about Rs. 2,000, would give a still larger area.

6. The Committee resolved to recommend that the old buildings now on the top of the hill should be at once demolished, the teachers who occupy them being moved into Christina Villa, an empty house belonging to Government, just below the school, and that the Executive Engineer should be authorized by the Public Works Department to commence the levelling of the site proposed. Even were the hospital not to be built eventually, Government would secure by this operation a vastly improved property.

7. Mr. Martin laid before the Committee a rough plan of a two-storied hospital, settled by him in communication with Dr. Birch, providing accommodation for—

16	1st-class	patients,	half being males and half females, and estimated to cost about Rs. 52,000.
20	2nd-class	,,
20	3rd-class	,,

The Committee considered the plan, and approved it with certain minor modifications.

They resolved to recommend that Mr. Martin should be authorized to complete the plans for a building of the size and description shown, but modified, if necessary, to suit the shape of the plateau as produced by cutting down the hill top, and to work out regular estimates for the orders of the Lieutenant-Governor in the Public Works Department.

8. The Committee remarked that the grant offered by Government would not do much more than meet the cost of levelling the site and erecting the proposed buildings. They thought, however, that little difficulty would be found in raising by public subscription money enough to furnish the hospital completely. They also thought it advisable to secure annual subscriptions sufficient to enable the managing body of the hospital to make provision hereafter for even a poorer class of patients than those mentioned in the Lieutenant-Governor's note; or such subscriptions might be applied in paying the railway fares and providing warm clothing and other comforts for patients who could not afford such for themselves. The Committee resolved to recommend that Government, in the Medical Department, should at once make public the Lieutenant-Governor's note and the Committee's proposals, and invite the Chamber of Commerce, Calcutta, the Trades' Association, the Managing Boards or Agents of the East Indian Railway, the Eastern Bengal Railway, and other like bodies, to say to what extent the Committee might expect donations for furniture now and subscriptions for other purposes hereafter. It might also be found that some of the funds at the disposal of the hospital authorities in Calcutta could be devoted to paying the expenses of poor convalescents sent up from medical institutions at the Presidency. Enquiry might at the same time be made as to the extent to which advantage would probably be taken of the hospital by the different classes of patients. On this point the leading medical officers in Calcutta and the larger mofussil stations might be able to give useful information.

9. The Committee did not consider that enquiries such as those suggested above need delay the putting in hand of the work of building. They had no doubt that a hospital of the size suggested would always have a sufficient number of patients to make it self-supporting. They looked forward rather to its being possible with the aid of public subscriptions to extend the benefits proposed to a poorer class, and especially to the children of the Free and other Charitable Schools in Calcutta. In time the whole School Hill might be covered with buildings devoted to such uses, the Bhootea school being moved elsewhere.

10. The Committee thought that it was premature at present to attempt to settle the scale of charges. Generally speaking, the Lieutenant-Governor's suggestions seemed reasonable, but this was a point that could be settled hereafter before the hospital was opened, and when it had been decided how its governing body should be composed.

11. The Committee also did not consider it necessary at present to place themselves in communication with the present Hospital Committee, Dr. Birch having informed them that that body was already taking steps for giving effect to the Lieutenant-Governor's wishes regarding the extension of the present European Hospital, and Dr Birch himself being in possession of all the information that could be contributed by the Hospital Committee.

12. The Committee observed that the Lieutenant-Governor's note did not appoint them to be the governing body of the proposed hospital. They thought that the mode of admission into the hospital would best be determined by rules to be drawn up by such governing body, and approved by Government hereafter. It would probably only be necessary to provide that, except in emergent cases, applications for admission should be submitted to the governing body for orders, and that that body, or the medical officer, subject to their control, should have power to terminate the residence of any patient.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the barograph and thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the traces of Beckley's and Osler's anemographs.

o overcast, g gloomy, t thunder, d drizzling rain, p passing temporary showers.

Increase.

Edible grains ... ... Mds. 5,152

The increase under this head is due to greater demand at Calcutta for shipment.

Brass and bell-metal ware ... ... „ 133

The greater import of this staple at Azimgunge has increased the quantity.

Piece-goods ... ... „ 437

The increase is due to greater import by merchants in anticipation of increase in demand.

Cotton ... ... „ 391

The stock being exhausted, a greater import at Azimgunge increased the movement of this commodity.

Seeds of all sorts ... ... „ 6,049

There not being sufficient water in the river this year, the merchants are bringing and also sending seeds by rail instead of by boat.

Decrease.

Silk and silk cloth ... ... Mds. 459

The market price being dull, there is decrease under this head

Sugar and jaggree ... ... „ 346

The decrease under this head is due to less demand at Azimgunge.

Coal ... ... „ 235

The decrease is due to less brick-burning this year.

Sundries ... ... „ 179

The cause of decrease under this head is less demand.

BAY OF BENGAL—COAST OF ORISSA.

FALSE POINT.

Occasional Obscuration of Light by Fog.

The attention of Mariners is called to the following remarks relative to False Point Light:—

During the months of January, February, and March, the prevalence of low-lying, heavy fog—over the land which lies between the light-house and the sea—occasionally interferes with the proper visibility of the light, and, at times, may even obscure it, although the weather at sea may be clear.

Mariners should, therefore, be specially cautious when approaching the light during the first quarter of the year, and use the lead continually.

_____ in view of his appointment by _____ to proceed in medical charge of emigrants under conveyance to Assam per steamer _____ is requested to attend to the instructions hereto subjoined for his guidance.

Embarkation Agent.

Dated _____

Instructions.

1. The Memorandum on the reverse should be accurately filled in for the information of the Emigration Department.

2. All the noteworthy events, occurrences, and incidents of the voyage should be duly reported to the officers who may visit the vessel for the purposes of inspection.

3. A journal of the trip, recording accurately and briefly each day's occurrences, should be regularly kept; and, on the return voyage, should be delivered with the Memorandum and other papers relating to the trip to the Embarkation Agent last concerned in the embarkation of the emigrants under conveyance for perusal and transmission, through any other Embarkation Agent concerned, to the Superintendent of Emigration at Calcutta.

4. At the close of the voyage the disembarkation officer should be requested to examine the quality of the stores supplied on the passage, and to countersign the provision list, if satisfied that the stores have been issued according to scale.

5. The emigrants during the winter months should be made to wear their warm clothing whenever the conditions of the weather render such a precaution necessary.

6. The effects of the emigrants under conveyance to the labour districts should be searchingly examined, under personal supervision, both before and after embarkation and at intervals during the voyage, and all improper articles of food and dirty rags found amongst them should be at once removed and destroyed.

7. Every care should be taken to see that the emigrants' food is properly cooked, and that there is a constant supply of good drinking-water for their use.

The 20th June 1881.

No. 148.—Notification.—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by Section 99 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876, the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to make the following alterations in the rules for the Sone Canals, passed by His Honor under date the 31st August 1880, as per Notification No. 114, published at page 798, Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 1st September 1880 :—

(1) For Rule 26 substitute the following :—

"A contractor (or in case there be more than one, each contractor severally and jointly) shall use due diligence in the collection of the water-rates specified in the agreement from the cultivators who have applied for the water supplied. In the case of his failure after due diligence to collect, he shall, without loss of time, submit to the Collector a list showing the names of the defaulters, with the sums due from each, and the Collector shall thereupon proceed to realise the amount due from the said defaulters according to law."

(2) Add as 26*a* :—

"A contractor (or in case there be more than one, each contractor severally and jointly) shall be responsible for all sums payable on the agreement, except such sums as he may satisfy the Collector that he has been unable to collect after using due diligence."

(3) For Schedue IV in Rule 33 substitute the following :—

Class.	Nature of Crop.	Irrigation per—
		Cottah.	Bigha.	Acre.
		Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.
	For all crops	0 1 0	1 4 0	2 0 0

(4) For the second clause of the form of agreement in Appendix D substitute the following :—

"I (contractor's name) agree to use due diligence in the collection of all sums payable on this application, and to pay the amount collected to Government. I will submit to the Collector without delay lists specifying the names of any defaulters from whom I may, after due diligence, fail to collect, and I will be responsible for the sum due under this agreement, except such amount as I may be able to satisfy the Collector that, after using due diligence, I have failed to collect. I will give every assistance in my power to the Collector in any legal proceedings that may be instituted, and I further agree to be bound by the rules passed under the Canal Act."

The rules as now amended are published below.

RULES UNDER ACT III (B.C.), 1876.

1. The Collector, before awarding compensation under section 16, or for making a reference under section 17 of the Act, shall obtain the written opinion of the Superintending Canal Officer, which shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

2. Persons desirous of acquiring land for the construction of a village channel, or for having a village channel constructed by Canal Agency, shall prefer a written application to the Divisional Canal Officer, or to any other officer duly authorized by him to receive such application.

3. Ordinarily, no village channel shall exceed two miles in length from its head to the point of contact with the village boundary.

4. It shall be the duty of the Canal Officer to register all village channels after due notice has been given to the owner of his intention to do so; if the latter objects, no water will be given.

5. No alteration among the shareholders will be recognized, unless the sanction of the Canal Officer has been first obtained.

6. Persons desirous of taking water from a registered village channel shall, previous to doing so, prefer a written application (Appendix A) to the Divisional Canal Officer, Sub-Divisional Canal Officer, or any subordinate duly authorized by the Divisional Canal Officer to receive such application; and no water shall be taken until after the receipt of a permit (Appendix B) from competent authority.

7. Water shall not be granted where, in the opinion of the Canal Officer, waste is likely to occur.

8. An application under Rule 6 shall, if granted, and unless otherwise specially agreed upon, be subject to the following conditions:—

(a)—That the water supplied shall not be used for other purposes than irrigation without the written consent of the Divisional or Sub-Divisional Canal Officer.

(b)—That the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer shall, in consultation with the applicants, appoint a headman (to be called a Lambardar), known, or ascertained to be, a substantial person possessed of property, to attend to their interests, to receive and carry out the orders of the Canal Officers, and to distribute the water among the shareholders in the village channel according to their shares.

(c)—That in any case where the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer cannot agree with the applicants in the appointment of a Lambardar, the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer shall make the appointment himself, subject to the approval of the Divisional Canal Officer.

9. The Divisional Canal Officer is empowered to pay to the Lambardar appointed under Rule 81, the fees detailed in the rule next following, subject to the condition of satisfactory performance of duty.

10. The allowance to the Lambardar for duties connected with the village channel, such as arranging that it shall be kept in proper repair, reporting unauthorized irrigation, distributing the water to the shareholders, seeing that the outlet is closed according to the orders of the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer, and generally assisting the officers of the Irrigation Department, shall be half anna in the rupee on the amount of canal water-rates assessed on the lands irrigated from the village channel under his charge. The Divisional Canal Officer may retrench the whole or any part of the fees under this rule in the event of non-compliance with these conditions.

11. The Sub-Divisional Canal Officer may, by written order under section 76 (a), stop the supply to any village channel when he is satisfied, after inspection by himself or by one of his subordinates, that it is not maintained in proper repair; such order shall be recorded in the Sub-Divisional Office.

12. The Divisional Canal Officer may close the outlets in rotation, as he may consider necessary. Such closures shall not extend beyond ten consecutive days, and shall be notified to the Lambardars of village channels. For longer closures the authority of the Superintending Canal Officer is required.

13. Nothing in the above rules shall be taken to affect the power of the Superintending or Divisional Canal Officer to stop the supply of water in case of pressing emergency.

14. The water-gauges on distributaries or other channels shall be held to give authoritative data for all calculations of discharge required to verify claims for remission of water-rate on account of loss of water.

15. Claims to remission of water-rates under section 76(b) shall only be admitted on proof of actual loss caused by the stoppage of supply. On proof of such loss, the Divisional Canal Officer may remit the whole or any portion of the rates. All applications for remission of water-rates shall be made in writing by the parties concerned, either in person, or through their headman, to the nearest Sub-Divisional Canal Officer, at least seven days prior to the cutting of the crop. On receipt of such application, the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer shall, after due local enquiry, forward the application with his remarks to the Divisional Canal Officer for decision.

16. Before awarding compensation under section 76(c), the Collector shall obtain the written opinion of the Divisional Canal Officer, and such opinion shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

17. Contracts between the Divisional Canal Officer on the part of Government, and private individuals, for the use of water as a motive power, or for any other purpose whatsoever, not included in the published schedule of rates, shall, if for any period not exceeding one year, require the previous sanction of the Superintending Canal Officer. If proposed for longer periods, such contracts shall be submitted for the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor in the Irrigation Department.

18. Tanks may be filled with canal water without charge, and without reference to the area irrigated in any village, wherever water can be made available without injury to the cultivation dependent on any canal, under the following conditions:—

(a.)—No tank shall be so filled unless the water is to be exclusively used for domestic purposes or for watering cattle, or both.

(b.)—No tank shall be so filled from which irrigation is practised.

(c.)—No tank shall be so filled which, intercepting any line of drainage, is liable to overflow from accumulation of water derived from natural causes.

(d.)—No tank shall be so filled except on the written order of the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer issued on the written application of the parties concerned.

(e.)—No tank shall be so filled unless the village channel used to fill it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer to be in a sound condition when the application is made.

(f.)—The privilege herein accorded may, by written order of the Divisional Canal Officer, subject to revision by the Superintending Canal Officer, whose decision shall be final, be suspended for 12 months for breach of any of the above conditions.

19. Leases for terms of five years for the supply of water between the 25th June of one year and the 1st April of the following year will be given at the rates fixed in the Schedule, Rule 33; provided that land leased in any village forms one or more compact blocks, each of not less than 50 acres, defined by well-marked boundaries of such a nature as clearly to distinguish leased from the adjoining unleased lands, and to prevent the latter from being surreptitiously watered under cover of the lease.

20. Well-marked boundaries of the nature required by the foregoing rule generally exist. Village roads, bunds of ahrahs, village boundaries, and similar natural marks will be sufficient. If such do not exist, and it appears advisable to grant the lease, the villagers may, at the discretion of the Divisional Canal Officer, be required to make small bunds round the leased area, or mark its limits by the erection of cheap boundary marks, or cause to be carried out such arrangements as may suffice for the future identification of the leased area.

21. No restriction is placed on the description of crop to be grown under five-year leases, but no water will be given on these leases between the 1st of April and the 25th of June. The Superintending Canal Officer may relax this rule in the case of water being required for rice-seed beds.

22. If in the opinion of the Divisional Canal Officer it appears advisable to grant a lease for a block of less than 50 acres in area, he must refer the matter for the decision of the Superintending Canal Officer, at whose discretion the restriction as to area may be relaxed.

23. Present holders of three-year leases may at their option avail themselves of the terms offered to the holders of five-year leases, but without retrospective effect.

24. Leases for five years at the rates entered in Rule 33 may be given—(1) on the application of all the cultivators of the area proposed to be leased, on condition of their agreeing in such application to become jointly and severally responsible for the payment of all amounts due on account of water-rates; or (2) on the joint application of the cultivators and of some person hereinafter called the Contractor, who may agree to collect and pay to Government, under section 82 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876, all sums due under the agreement on account of water-rates. The agreement of villagers binding themselves jointly and severally will be in the form prescribed in Appendix C. The joint agreement of villagers and a water-rate Contractor shall be in the form prescribed in Appendix D. Every agreement under this rule must be signed by each applicant in the presence of at least one respectable witness.

25. Contractors shall be entitled to collect water-dues, at the rates given in schedule 4 attached to Rule 33, from the cultivators who have applied for the water supplied. Every due from a cultivator to the Contractor on account of water-rates shall be deemed to be a sum due to Government under sections 82 and 85 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876.

26. A Contractor (or in case there be more than one, each Contractor severally and jointly) shall use due diligence in the collection of the water-rates specified in the agreement from the cultivators, who have applied for the water supplied. In the case of his failure after due diligence to collect, he shall, without loss of time, submit to the Collector a list showing the names of the defaulters, with the sums due from each, and the Collector shall thereon proceed to realize the amount due from the said defaulters according to law.

26*a*. A Contractor (or in case there be more than one, each Contractor severally and jointly) shall be responsible for all sums payable on the agreement, except such sums as he may satisfy the Collector that he has been unable to collect after using due diligence.

27. No water shall be taken previous to the receipt of a permit (Appendix B) signed by the Divisional Canal Officer. When an agreement has been made for the collection of the rates by a Contractor, the Divisional Canal Officer shall under section 82 furnish such Contractor with a written authority to collect the amounts due by the cultivators according to a list furnished in the application, one copy of which is to be sent to the Collector.

28. Every Contractor shall nominate a headman, to be approved of by the Divisional Canal Officer, to perform the duties specified in Rule 10. Such headman or the contractor, according to the arrangement made at the time of contract, shall receive 5 per cent. on the assessment, but the Divisional Canal Officer may retrench the whole or any part of these fees if the duties are not properly performed.

29. All water-rates leviable under the above rules for five-year leases shall become due on the 31st December and 15th March in equal portions, and shall be paid within one month of such dates.

30. Under section 78 of the Act, the rates chargeable per acre for water supplied to the different description of crops up to 1st of April 1881, except in cases of three-year leases now in existence, will be as follow:—

SCHEDULE I.—Existing rates. (Annual.)

Note.—If water is taken for sugarcane in the hot months, in addition, under Rule 32, the total charge will be as follows:—

	Rs. A. P.
Under five-years leases per acre	2 0 0
During hot months " "	4 0 0
Total per acre ...	6 0 0

34. The statements of the amounts demandable for water-rates levied under the rules inforce shall be prepared under the supervision and signature of the Divisional Canal Officer in such form as shall from time to time be sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor.

35. All water-rates shall become due on the dates below stated, and shall be paid within one month of such dates:—

Water-rate on spring crops, wheat, barley, peas, poppy, &c. ...	15th March.
Water-rate on summer crops, cheena, &c.	15th July.
Water-rate on bhadoi crops, early rice, indian-corn, murwa, &c. ...	31st October.
Water-rate on annual and winter crops, sugarcane, aghani rice, jowar, &c.	31st December.

36. In the case of lands held in bhaoli, the water-rate shall be recoverable from both the cultivator and the person or persons in receipt of the bhaoli rents in the same proportion as the produce is divisible amongst them.

37. In the case of lands held in bhaoli, the zemindar shall sign jointly with the cultivators. (This rule only applies to the case of five-year leases.)

38. The area irrigated in any village shall be measured by an Ameen appointed for the purpose. The Putwari shall be present at the measurement, and shall at the time take a copy of the khasrah of the Ameen; if for any reason the Putwari is not present, the cost of preparing the copy will be charged against him. This copy shall be delivered to the Putwari, or, in his absence, to the Lambardar. Both the Lambardar and Putwari shall sign the khasrah.

39. When the measurement is completed, the khasrah shall be forwarded to the Sub-Divisional Canal Officer, who shall prepare the khatiani with all possible despatch. A copy of the khatiani, signed and sealed by the Zilladar, shall, as soon as it is prepared, be forwarded to the Putwari, who shall grant a receipt for the same. If the Putwari is not present, or declines to receive the khatiani, the Sub-Divisional Officer shall forward it direct to the Collector.

40. It shall be the duty of the Putwari, immediately on the completion of the measurement, to inform each ryot, on application, of the fields measured against him, and on receipt of the khatiani to supply each person charged with a percha showing the water-rates due. For these duties, and for attending the measurement and rendering such other reasonable assistance to the Canal Officer and Collector as may be required, an allowance of one quarter anna per rupee on the amount collected shall be made.

41. This allowance shall be paid to the Putwari by the Collector if he is satisfied that the work has been properly done.

42. The Canal Officer shall note on the khatiani whether the Putwari has given proper assistance during the measurement.

43. If a cultivator is dissatisfied with the entries made against him in the khatiani, whether as to the fact of the land having been charged "flow" instead of "lift" or as to the measurements and entries of classes of crops, he must lodge a complaint, either personally or through the Lambardar of his village channel, with the Divisional or Sub-Divisional Canal Officer within a month after the date of the demand being made on him.

44. The Zilladar shall submit his check measurements in a form (Appendix E) which shall be sent in for the inspection of the Divisional Canal Officer. The Sub-Divisional Canal Officer shall check the Ameens' measurements as often as he possibly can. If it be found that any ameen wilfully or frequently makes wrong measurements, he shall be punished by dismissal.

45. Collection of all water-rates shall be made by the Collector in accordance with the statement of demands furnished to him by the Divisional Canal Officer.

46. Objections to the demand addressed to the Collector, if preferred within one month after the demand has been made, shall, if remission be claimed on the score of short supply, or of any matter affecting the Irrigation Department, be referred for orders to the Divisional Canal Officer. The Collector shall have discretion to suspend collections by a written order in cases where (objections having been filed) it may seem advisable to do so.

47. Claims for remission, referred by the Collector and admitted by the Divisional Canal Officer, shall be reported by him for the sanction of the Superintending Canal Officer, except in cases where remissions are made on account of excess areas having been charged, or a wrong name entered in the khatiani.

48. If the Divisional Canal Officer reject the claim, an appeal may be made to the Superintending Canal Officer, provided that it is preferred within forty days from the issue of the order of the Divisional Canal Officer.

49. A remission statement, signed by the Superintending or Divisional Canal Officer, shall be sufficient authority for a refund by the Collector.

50. In special cases not otherwise provided in these rules, and in cases where water-rates are not recoverable owing to the absconding or bankruptcy of the defaulter, the Collector will obtain the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division to the remission of such sums as he may deem irrecoverable. The details of such remission shall be communicated at the close of each official year to the Divisional Canal Officer.

51. The Collector shall appoint a headman (to be called a Tehsildar), whose duty will be to collect and pay in, to the Collector or other duly authorized person, all water-rates leviable on the land irrigated.

52. The Tehsildar shall furnish security for the payment of all sums realized by him, the stamp and registration fees on security bonds being deducted from the percentage allowed, under the following rule.

53. The allowance to the Tehsildars of a village or villages for collecting the water-rates shall be fixed by the Collector, but the total amount to be paid in any one year to all the Tehsildars in a district shall not exceed half an anna in the rupee on the amounts actually paid in. If the Tehsildar shall satisfy the Collector that arrears have not accrued through any negligence on his part, it shall be at the option of the Collector to pay him the allowance on the whole or any part of such arrears.

54. If only a portion of a field be irrigated, the water-rate shall be chargeable on the whole field, unless such portion shall have been clearly demarcated, previous to the admission of the water, by a ridge not less than half a foot high.

55. When a portion of a field has been irrigated with canal water, and a portion with well or reservoir water, the whole field shall be liable for canal water-rate, unless a clearly distinguishable boundary exists between the two portions.

56. If well or reservoir water is conveyed in the same channel as canal water, the whole of the irrigation from that channel shall be liable to canal water-rate The Lambardar will be held personally responsible that any breach of this rule or of Rules 54 and 55 is duly reported.

57. Irrigation from escape channels, when the supply is permanent, shall be governed by the same rules as irrigation from other parts of the canal.

58. Irrigation from such channels, when the supply is intermittent, may be allowed at such reduced rates as shall from time to time be fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor.

59. Persons using water without a written permit, or taking water at times prohibited by proper authority, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding double water-rates on the area irrigated, and such charge shall be leviable at the time of report to the Collector.

60. The charge leviable for water suffered to run to waste on uncultivated lands shall be calculated at the highest rate specified in the schedule, on the area flooded; provided that in every such case the Divisional Canal Officer may impose a lower rate if he thinks fit. The Lambardar is to be held responsible for reporting such waste of water.

61. When the original crop sown in a field irrigated by canal water fails, and is ploughed up, and a fresh crop is sown in the same season, the water-rates shall be levied on the second crop.

62. No person shall, without the permission in writing of the Divisional or Sub-Divisional Canal Officer, pass, or cause any animal or vehicle to pass, on or across any of the works, banks, or channels of a canal or drainage work after he has been desired to desist therefrom, excepting by means of such bridges, fords, and ferries, and their approaches, as are provided by the Divisional Canal Officer.

63. No Canal Officer, unless specially exempted by the Lieutenant-Governor from the operation of this rule, shall have any interest in the distribution of water from any of the canals, or purchase or bid for any Government property sold thereon, either in his own name, or in the name of another, or jointly, or in shares with others.

Text-books in Vernacular Medical Schools.

IN the Resolution of the Government of Bengal, dated 13th December 1880, on the subject of text-books in Vernacular Medical Schools, it was notified that an Urdu text-book on medicine, an Urdu and a Bengali text-book on Midwifery, and an Urdu text-book on Medical Jurisprudence, were required; and it was announced that measures would be taken to procure, by public competition, translations of approved text-books in those subjects. In accordance with the orders quoted, persons intending to enter into the competition in any subject are now invited to submit specimen translations of one of the following series of extracts:—

(a) Roberts' Hand-book of Medicine (4th ed., 1880). The following passages to be translated into Urdu:—

Vol. I., pp. 345 to 365: "Physical Examination of the Chest." To be condensed in translation.

Vol. II., pp. 156 to 163: "Dysentery." A comprehensive resumé to be given of the most approved methods of the treatment of dysentery in India.

(b) Playfair's Midwifery (2nd ed., 1878). The following passages to be translated into Bengali or Urdu:—

Vol. I., pp. 306 to 322: "Mechanism of delivery in Head Presentations." To be condensed.

Vol. II., pp. 155 to 173: "Turning." To be condensed.

Vol. II., pp. 281 to 293. "Puerperal Eclampsia." To be condensed.

(c) Kanai Lal Dey's Medical Jurisprudence. The following passage to be translated into Urdu:—

Pages 314 to 329; "Poisons."

2. Those passages which are to be condensed in translation should be reduced to about one-third of their original length.

3. The specimen translations should be submitted, not later than the 1st October 1881, to Dr. R. C. Chandra, Professor, Medical College, the President of the Committee of Selection. Four printed copies of each translation should be sent for the use of the members of the Committee. Manuscript translations will not be received.

4. Each of the translators selected by the Committee will be required to finish, within a time to be hereafter fixed, the translation of the work which he has undertaken; and if he completes it to the satisfaction of the Committee, a reward of Rs. 500 will be paid him, and his translation will be adopted as a text-book. All the profits of sale will be left to the translator, but the selling price of each work will be settled beforehand in communication with the translator, and in consideration of the cost of production.

ANNUAL REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE JUTE WAREHOUSE AND FIRE-BRIGADE ACT IN HOWRAH FOR THE YEAR 1880-81.

No. 285, dated Chinsurah, the 20th June 1881.

From—J. BEAMES, Esq., Officiating Commissioner of the Burdwan Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department

I HAVE the honour to submit the accompanying printed report on the administration of the Jute Warehouse and Fire-brigade Act in the Howrah Municipality for the year 1880-81, drawn up by the Chairman.

2. The information furnished appears to be sufficient, and does not call for any remarks.

HOWRAH MUNICIPALITY.

Annual Report on the Administration of the Jute Warehouse Act V (B.C) of 1879 during the year 1880-81.

IN accordance with the provisions of section XXVII of Act V (B C.), of 1879, I have the honour to report on the working of the Jute Warehouse and Fire-brigade Act in this Municipality for the official year ending the 31st March 1881.

2. There were only 23 jute and cotton warehouses licensed during the year, instead of 38, which shows a decrease of 15 This was owing to the Act compelling the owners to take out licenses for the whole year, besides the fact that many of the dealers carried on their speculations in screwed bales, and only opened out for sale the quantity allowed by the Act to be kept without license There were no new warehouses established during the year.

3 The total income amounted to Rs 4,660 under the following heads:—

	Rs.	A.	P.

4. There has been a falling off in the income as compared with the previous year by Rs. 480-6-9, owing to many of the dealers having stopped work altogether through the necessity of taking out licenses for a whole year, whereas in previous years they were taken out for either quarterly or half-yearly periods, by which the dealers were at liberty to take out licenses for only the working season. No other fibres were warehoused except in such quantities as the Act admits of being kept without license.

5. A detailed list of jute warehouses for which licenses were granted is given in Statement No. I. In Statement II are given the particulars of the prosecutions instituted during the year for breaches of the Act, all of which were for using warehouses without license.

6. The expenditure on the inspection of jute warehouses amounted to Rs. 692-11-0 comprising—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Contingencies	1	0	0
Refund of license fee to Messrs. Anderson, Wright & Co. paid in excess in previous year...	91	11	0
Total ...	692	11	0

7. The establishment entertained for the working of the Fire-brigade continued the same as in previous years. Statement III shows that during the year only four fires occurred which were in bustees, and on every occasion the Fire-brigade was promptly in attendance.

Fire-brigade.

8. Fires were punctually announced by the watch kept on the kutcherry terrace; the engines were tested and men regularly practised at their work; the services of the firemen when off duty were utilized in looking after the yard, feeding the cattle, &c.

9. The following are the details of the expenditure in this branch:—

Establishment.

	Rs.	A.	P.
1 Superintendent at Rs. 100 per month	1,200	0	0
1 Tindal „ 10 „	120	0	0
1 Ditto „ 9 „	108	0	0
2 Ditto „ 8 „	192	0	0
21 Firemen „ 6 „	1,473	13	3
8 Extra firemen „ 1 each „	96	0	0
2 Syces „ 6 „ „	144	0	0
Repairs to engines	544	14	0
Feed and keep of horses	323	10	6
Contingencies	122	6	0
Total ...	4,324	11	9

10. The Municipality has for a long time enjoyed a special immunity from serious conflagrations, and, so far, the present brigade has done well in checking the small fires that have occurred; but considering the large quantity of valuable property there is in the town, it will not be sufficiently protected until a steam-engine is added to the brigade, but this does not appear to be practicable in the present state of the funds under this Act, and on account of the many demands upon them, it does not appear to be proper to appropriate any of the general funds to this purpose.

OFFICE OF THE HOWRAH MUNICIPALITY,
The 2nd June 1881.

C. E. BUCKLAND,
Chairman.

LIBERALITY OF BABOO MOHINI MOHUN ROY.

No. 351, dated Calcutta, the 25th June 1881.

From—C. S. Bayley, Esq., Offg. Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, General Dept.,
To—The Director of Public Instruction.

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your endorsement No. 4195, dated the 4th instant, with enclosure, reporting the offer made by Baboo Mohini Mohun Roy to invest a sum of Rs. 1,000 in 4 per cent. Government securities with a view to founding an annual prize of Rs. 40 to be awarded to an adhyapaka (teacher) of Smriti or Hindoo Law, whose pupil shall stand first in that subject among the successful competitors at the examination for Sanskrit titles. Baboo Mohini Mohun Roy wishes, subject to the discretion of the examiners, that the prize should ordinarily be awarded to a teacher who obtains no other prize at the examination.

2. In accepting this offer, the Lieutenant-Governor desires that an expression of his thanks may be conveyed to Baboo Mohini Mohun Roy for his liberality. The prize will be designated the "Khetra Moni Debya Prize" in memory of the mother of the founder.

No. 4195, dated Calcutta, the 4th June 1881.
Memo. by—The Director of Public Instruction.

Copy forwarded to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department, with the recommendation that the prize offered by Baboo Mohini Mohun Roy may be accepted, and an acknowledgment of Government be conveyed to him for this act of liberality and public spirit.

Dated Bhowanipore, the 31st May 1881.

From—Baboo Mohini Mohun Roy,
To—The Director of Public Instruction.

I beg to send herewith a four-per cent. Government promissory note of Rs. 1,000 for the purpose of founding an in-memoriam prize of the annual value of Rs 40, in connection with the annual examination for Sanskrit titles held in accordance with the resolution of Government, dated the 30th June 1878.

No. 132661 of 1865.

The prize shall be called in memory of my deceased mother the Khetra Moni Debya prize, and shall be awarded to an Adhyapaka of Smriti (Teacher of Hindoo Law), whose pupil may successfully pass the examination in that branch of Sanskrit learning. It shall ordinarily be awarded to an Adhyapaka who may not obtain any other prize of larger value awarded by Government or private individuals. But the Board of Examiners will exercise discretion in this matter, and may, if they think fit, award this prize in addition to another of large value obtained by an Adhyapaka of exceptional merit.

I request the favour of your recommending the Government to accept my offer and to receive the Government promissory note in trust, for the purpose of awarding the annual interest thereof as a prize in the manner and under the conditions aforesaid.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

FINANCE.

RESOLUTION.

CALCUTTA, THE 24TH JUNE 1881.

THE Lieutenant-Governor is now in a position to review the actual financial results of the year 1879-80, the regular estimates for the year 1880-81, and the budget estimates for the year 1881-82. The final accounts of the first year, with the report of the Accountant-General, have been received; and the Government of India have considered the estimates which the Lieutenant-Governor has formed of the financial position of this Government at the close of the past year, and of the money at its disposal during the current year. In the Resolution of 25th May 1880, the Lieutenant-Governor examined fully the character of the receipts and charges grouped under each of the major heads of the estimates. It will not now be necessary to enter into the same details again. But, as the contract under which certain heads of revenue and expenditure were made over for a term to the management of the local Government in March 1877 will expire with the current year, it will be convenient, after reviewing the budget estimates for 1881-82, to examine the general results of this experiment, and the effect which five years of extended decentralization have had upon the finances of Bengal. Before the next budget can be prepared, it will be necessary for the Government of India to decide on the experience before it what policy it will adopt for the future; whether the system of decentralization is to be contracted, to be maintained on its present footing, or to receive a further development; and how the shares of the Imperial and Local Governments respectively in the advantages of gain and the responsibilities of loss are to be determined and adjusted. The policy of decentralization in public works was adopted in 1877 without any limit of time; but the Lieutenant-Governor will take the opportunity of showing under this head also what progress has been made under the system of Provincial responsibility.

I.—ACCOUNTS OF 1879-80.

Provincial Services.—In the Resolution of 25th May 1880, it was estimated that the year 1879-80 had opened with a credit balance of Rs. 42,79,000; that the total amount available for expenditure had been Rs. 4,24,71,000; that the expenditure on all accounts had been Rs. 3,81,72,000; and that the year had closed with a credit balance of Rs. 42,99,000. The final accounts show much more favourable results. The amount available was really Rs. 4,31,17,081, while the expenditure was only Rs. 3,80,12,831. The closing balance was therefore Rs. 51,04,250. The following table shows the estimates and the actuals under the different heads:—

Regular Estimate, 1879-80.	Rs.	Actuals, 1879-80.	Rs.
Opening balance ...	42,79,000	Opening balance ...	42,79,027
Revenue ...	3,35,29,000	Revenue ...	3,41,66,269
Imperial allotment ...	46,63,000	Imperial allotment ...	46,65,654
		Contribution from Local Funds ...	6,131
Total ...	4,24,71,000	Total ...	4,31,17,081
Expenditure ...	3,66,22,000	Expenditure ...	3,65,17,163
Contribution to the Imperial Treasury ...	13,15,000	Contribution to the Imperial Treasury ...	13,15,000
Contribution to Local Funds ...	2,35,000	Contribution to Local Funds ...	1,80,668
Closing balance ...	42,99,000	Closing balance ...	51,04,250
Total ...	4,24,71,000	Total ...	4,31,17,081

There was an increase in the revenue of Rs. 6,37,269 over the estimates. An increase is shown under Excise of Rs. 1,76,768, under Railways of Rs. 1,13,766, under Law and Justice of Rs. 95,205, under Other Public Works of Rs. 1,07,326, and under Provincial Rates of Rs. 63,811. The Government of India also sanctioned the additional assignment for the administration of the License Tax to which reference was made in paragraph 6 of the Resolution. The receipts under the head of Assessed Taxes were thus increased by Rs. 1,24,344. There were also minor increases under other heads. On the other hand, a decrease is shown under Stamps of Rs. 70,784, under Registration of Rs 14,970, under Irrigation and Navigation of Rs. 94,697, chiefly in the collections from tolls on the Nuddea Rivers and Calcutta Canals, and under Education of Rs. 1,728. There was also a small falling off under the head of Unclaimed and lapsed deposits to the extent of Rs. 4,205. The receipts under this head are necessarily liable to considerable fluctuation. A small increase of Rs. 2,654 is observable under the head of Imperial allotment. This represents the value of books and periodicals supplied by this Government to the Government of Bombay, adjusted through this head of account. The sum of Rs. 6,131, shown as "Contribution from Local Funds," was the unexpended balance of a grant of Rs. 10,000 made to the Singbhoom District Road Account in 1878-79, which was refunded to Provincial in 1879-80.

The actual expenditure of 1879-80, compared with the regular estimate, showed a decrease of Rs. 1,59,169. This result could not have been arrived at had the Public Works and Irrigation Departments been allowed to spend to the full extent the amounts provided for in the regular estimate. There was a saving of Rs. 2,24,792 under Irrigation and Navigation, and of Rs. 2,72,599 under Other Public Works. The advances to local funds were also restricted, and there was a saving of Rs. 54,332 on this account. Land Revenue shows an improvement of Rs. 40,028, and Registration an increase of Rs. 46,203. This was the result of the transfer of the land registration charges from the former to the latter head. Similarly, a saving under Stationery and Printing is counterbalanced by an increase in expenditure under Stamps, the cost of stamps supplied to Provincial Governments being now charged under the latter head.

As was explained in the Resolution of 25th May 1880, the contribution to Imperial Funds is made up of a special contribution of 10 lakhs made to assist the Supreme Government in view of the pressure of extraordinary charges, and the sum of Rs. 3,15,000 expended from Provincial Funds on the Patna-Gya Railway. The latter sum is shown as a contribution to Imperial Funds. It is again shown as a part of the capital advanced by the Supreme Government for the construction of the work, but without interest.

The net result, as regards the Provincial Revenues, is an improvement of Rs. 8,05,250 on the regular estimate.

Incorporated Local Funds.—The receipts of the Incorporated Local Funds, including the grants-in-aid from Provincial Funds, aggregated Rs. 41,43,370, and the expenditure Rs. 43,91,205. There was thus a deficit of Rs. 2,47,835 instead of a surplus of Rs. 2,08,000 as originally estimated. There was a falling off in the receipts from fees and fines of the Inland Labour Transport Fund; the miscellaneous receipts of the District Road Fund and District Road Accounts aggregated only Rs. 94,287, whereas it was estimated that they would come up to Rs. 2,28,000; and the disbursements on account of Public Works amounted to Rs. 36,95,285, against the regular estimate of Rs. 34,74,000. The Lieutenant-Governor has already remarked that care should be taken to prevent any undue accumulation of funds which are raised for specific purposes of local improvement. The actual closing balance of these funds on the 31st March 1880 was Rs. 22,50,984, thus—

The position of the Inland Labour Transport Fund will be referred to further on.

II.—Regular Estimate for 1880-81.

The Regular estimates of the Provincial Services for 1880-81 as first framed by the local Government, as modified by the Government of India and as finally adopted by the Government of Bengal, are shown in the following table. The Accountant-General, in framing the figures of the regular estimate, submitted to this Government, proceeded on the actuals of the first six months of the year only.

Receipts.

Excise.—The Accountant-General estimated that the total receipts in 1880-81 would amount to Rs. 80,00,000; but the Lieutenant-Governor, with reference to the figures before him, and to the claim which has been made on the Government of the North-Western Provinces for Rs. 1,50,000 on account of duty on Shahjehanpore rum exported to Bengal, fixed the regular estimate at Rs. 84,50,000. The adjustment, if agreed to, will be made through the Imperial allotment. Meanwhile, the Government of India have accepted the estimate of receipts in Bengal at Rs 83,00,000. The receipts in March, however, have been unexpectedly large, and there can be little doubt that the gross estimate of this Government will be more than realized, and that the revenue of the year will amount to Rs. 85,50,000, even if the excess duty on Shahjehanpore rum is excluded from the estimate. This amount will accordingly be entered in the regular estimate for the year.

Assessed Taxes.—Under this head the amount, Rs. 3,50,000, taken in the budget estimate is unchanged, the Government of India having agreed to make a fixed allotment of this sum to meet all charges on account of license-tax for collection and refunds.

Provincial rates.—The budget estimate was Rs. 33,77,000. This was raised on the Accountant-General's regular estimate to Rs. 36,00,000, with reference to the actual receipts of the previous year. From the latest information, however, it would appear that the receipts will probably not exceed Rs. 35,25,000, and this figure will accordingly be adopted.

Customs.—The provincial receipts under this head comprise wharf rents, confiscations and penalties, and miscellaneous items. The budget estimate was Rs. 63,000. The actuals for the first six months justified the Accountant-General in increasing this to Rs. 1,14,000 in his regular estimate, and this figure was adopted. His revised estimate of Rs. 1,18,000 has been adopted by the Government of India. The figures which have reached this Government show that the receipts will come up to Rs. 1,30,000. This amount will be entered as the regular estimate.

Salt.—The local Government is responsible for a payment under this head of Rs. 2,20,000, the sources of income being rents of warehouses, fines and forfeitures and miscellaneous. The budget estimate for 1880-81 was Rs. 1,18,000. The Accountant-General in his regular estimate reduced the figure to Rs. 1,04,000, and he has now again adopted the original estimate. There has been an increase in the demand for warehouse accommodation, and the information before Government justifies the Lieutenant-Governor in assuming that the receipts will prove to have amounted to Rs. 1,35,000.

Stamps.—The Accountant-General's regular estimate of stamp revenue for 1880-81 was Rs. 1,16,92,000. It was reduced by this Government to Rs. 1,16,50,000. The Government of India has made a further reduction of Rs. 2,50,000. There was a decrease of stamp revenue in most of the districts in the closing months of the year. The Lieutenant-Governor will adopt the latest estimate.

Registration.—The regular estimate was Rs. 10,81,000. There has, however, been some falling off in the later months of the year. The actuals of 1879-80 were Rs. 10,29,000, and this amount will be entered as the regular estimate for the last year.

Minor Departments.—This head includes Colonial Emigration fees, Botanical Garden receipts, Cinchona Plantation receipts, and some miscellaneous items. The regular estimate was Rs. 1,58,000. The receipts from Cinchona Plantations were large towards the close of the year, and the estimate may be raised to Rs. 1,65,000.

Law and Justice.—The budget estimate was Rs. 19,81,000, of which Rs. 10,30,000 appeared under the head of Law and Justice proper, and Rs. 9,51,000 under that of Jails. In the regular estimate the figures for Law and Justice were increased by Rs. 15,000 under the sub-heads Sale proceeds of unclaimed property and Pleadership examination fees, with reference to the receipts actually obtained up to that time. There has, however, been a considerable falling off in the receipts from General fees, fines and forfeitures in the later months of the year, and the estimate will be reduced to Rs. 9,75,000. The payment to the Imperial Treasury is Rs. 8,00,000. Under the head of Jails the Accountant-General in his regular estimate reproduced the budget estimate figures, remarking, however, that it was doubtful if the estimate would be realized. The latest information shows that the receipts from jail manufactures, though larger than in the previous year, will be below the estimate. The regular estimate of receipts cannot be taken at a higher figure than Rs. 7,25,000. The Lieutenant-Governor will therefore accept the regular estimate of the Government of India under this general head, and enter Rs. 17,00,000.

Police.—The estimate of receipts under Police was raised from Rs. 4,57,000 to Rs. 4,69,000 with reference to the actual receipts of the first six months. There has been a considerable increase under the minor head of Fees, fines and forfeitures, which include Pound collections, and the estimate will stand at Rs. 4,85,000.

Marine.—The regular estimate has been raised by the Government of India from Rs. 11,85,000 to Rs. 12,00,000 with reference to the later figures before them. There was a large increase in pilotage receipts towards the close of the year, and the estimate will be raised to Rs. 12,40,000.

Education.—The latest figures show that the regular estimate under this head may be raised from Rs. 4,86,000 to Rs. 5,10,000. There has been a considerable increase under "Fees and Contributions."

Stationery and Printing.—The regular estimate will be increased from Rs. 1,10,000 to Rs. 1,20,000, the figure adopted by the Government of India.

Miscellaneous.—The regular estimate was fixed at Rs. 7,17,000 by this Government. The Government of India have raised it to Rs. 7,35,000. The principal item in the receipts under this head is Unclaimed deposits. The actuals were Rs. 6,47,700 in 1878-79 and Rs. 5,77,582 in 1879-80. It is probable that a further decrease will be observed in 1880-81. This is attributed to the closer scrutiny to which the deposit registers are now subjected, under which all items liable to objection are at once removed, and smaller amounts are left to lapse to Government. The Accountant-General remarks that some portion of the reduction will be met by larger receipts under Service heads, and ultimately by a decrease under Refunds. The details under this head are liable to considerable adjustment after the close of the year, and it is not possible to estimate the ultimate result with any certainty. The regular estimate of the Government of India will be adopted. The amount payable to the Government of India under this head is Rs. 7,92,000.

Railways.—The actual receipts under this head in 1879-80 were Rs. 25,13,766 against Rs. 17,53,100 in 1878-79. The first estimate for 1880-81 was Rs. 27,25,000, but the increase during the first part of the year was so marked that the regular estimate was framed for Rs. 30,28,000. The Government of India have reduced the estimate to Rs. 29,35,000, and it is now not probable that this sum will be exceeded. The estimate will be modified accordingly.

Irrigation and Navigation.—It was observed, in the review of the regular estimate for 1879-80, that there had been a serious falling off in the receipts from tolls on rivers and canals. The receipts were Rs. 6,75,564 in 1878-79. The budget estimate for 1879-80 was Rs. 7,82,000, the regular estimate was reduced to Rs. 6,97,500, and the receipts were only Rs. 5,75,192. For 1880-81 the budget estimate was Rs. 6,79,000, and this has now to be reduced to Rs. 6,35,000. There has been a falling off in the traffic by these routes during the year. The regular estimate is based on the actuals up to the close of December. Under the head of Productive works the regular estimate is only Rs. 10,00,000, against a budget estimate of Rs. 11,66,000. It is explained that the low prices ruling have induced the people to hold up their stocks, and that they have thus been without money to pay their irrigation dues in time. Orders on this point have been issued from the Irrigation Branch.

Other Public Works.—The receipts under this head are made up of receipts from ferries, &c., by civil officers, and miscellaneous receipts by the Public Works Department, chiefly on account of rents and sales of old materials. The actuals under the former head were Rs. 5,28,327 in 1879-80, the regular estimate for 1880-81 is Rs. 5,12,000. There has been a decrease in ferry receipts in the Rungpore district, owing to the extension of the Northern Bengal State Railway. The estimate under the second head has been reduced from Rs. 1,49,000 to Rs. 1,10,000, chiefly on account of a write-back from the profits of the Calcutta workshops on account of excess credits to revenues in previous years.

Imperial allotment.—This represents the gradually decreasing sum made over from the Imperial Treasury to enable the local Government to carry on the services entrusted to its management in addition to the revenues derivable from them. The allotment for 1880-81 was Rs. 39,88,000. A fixed addition of Rs. 12,000 is to be made on account of the loss sustained by the Provincial Revenues in consequence of the crediting of the fees and fines under the Salt Department in Behar to the Imperial Revenues. The allotment proper for 1880-81 is therefore Rs. 40,00,000. To this must be added Rs. 44,000, advanced from Provincial Funds in 1878-79, on account of the Salt Preventive Establishment in Orissa, as well as Rs. 5,000 and Rs. 50,000 claimable from other Governments and the Imperial Government on account of jail manufactured articles supplied and printing work done respectively. The total sum shown under this head will therefore be Rs. 40,99,000.

EXPENDITURE.

Interest.—The actual charge in 1879-80 was Rs. 34,92,057 against a regular estimate of Rs. 35,07,780. The last estimate for 1880-81, given by the Accountant-General, Public Works Department, India, is Rs. 36,22,000, and this must be adopted.

Refunds.—The charges under this head may be divided into three classes, according as they refer to refunds under revenue heads transferred to Provincial management—(1) before 1877-78 (Registration, Jails, Police, Education, &c.); (2) in 1877-78 (Excise, Stamps, Law and Justice, Marine, Miscellaneous, &c.), or (3) after 1877-78 (Provincial Rates and Assessed Taxes). There is no grant from the Imperial Treasury under the first head; under the second the grant is Rs. 4,91,000. The actual charges under the first two heads have been Rs. 6,05,424 in 1877-78, Rs. 6,30,023 in 1878-79, and Rs. 6,48,149 in 1879-80. Under the third, a special grant was made to protect the Provincial Revenues from loss on account of refunds of license-tax collections. In 1880-81, and the current year, the local Government takes a lump sum of Rs. 3,50,000 to provide for all charges on account of license-tax. The regular estimate under this general head was framed with reference to the actuals of the first six months of the year. It has been raised by the Government of India from Rs. 6,50,000 to Rs. 7,60,000, with reference to later figures. The Lieutenant-Governor considers, however, that Rs. 7,00,000 will be a sufficiently large provision.

Land Revenue.—The regular estimate under this head was Rs. 25,12,000. The actual expenditure in 1879-80 was Rs. 25,08,972. The Government of India have raised the estimate to Rs. 26,41,000. The charges under regular Revenue establishments, and those for the management of estates, show a considerable increase, and the estimate will be raised to Rs. 27,00,000.

Under Excise, Assessed Taxes, Customs, Salt, and Stamps, the regular estimate already adopted requires no modification. Under Salt, the budget estimate was Rs. 34,000. This has been reduced to Rs. 22,000, the amalgamation of the post of Superintendent of the Sulkea Salt Golahs having effected a large saving. Under the head of Stamps is now included the cost of stamps supplied to the local Government,—a charge which formerly appeared under Stationery and Printing.

Under Registration, the Government of India raised the estimate from Rs. 6,25,000 to Rs. 6,50,000. The latest information available shows that it will be sufficient to provide Rs. 6,40,000.

Administration.—The Accountant-General's regular estimate was Rs. 14,43,000, and this has been raised by the Government of India to Rs. 14,87,000. There has been an increase in the charges under Commissioners' establishments. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that it will be sufficient to raise the estimate to Rs. 14,70,000. The fixed grant from the Imperial Treasury under this head is only Rs. 12,61,000.

Minor Departments.—The principal charges under this head are Colonial Emigration, Cinchona Plantations, Botanical Gardens, Registration of traffic, and Provincial Museums. The Accountant-General's regular estimate was Rs. 2,71,000. The actual charges in 1879-80 were Rs. 2,79,766. So far as can be ascertained, there will be little difference in the amount expended in 1880-81. The regular estimate will accordingly be raised to Rs. 2,80,000.

Law and Justice.—The budget estimate under Law and Justice (proper) was Rs. 64,73,000. This was raised to Rs. 66,45,000 in the regular estimate, chiefly with reference to the increased charges for copyists, and to the general revision of establishments in courts sanctioned in Government order No. 4365, dated 18th September 1880. Under the High Court's Circular No. 35, dated 1st October 1880, fees for copying and examining documents will be paid in stamps, and the copyists will be brought upon the regular establishment. Under Jails the regular estimate was framed at Rs. 18,96,000 against Rs. 18,40,000, the actuals of 1879-80. The gross regular estimate was therefore Rs. 85,41,000. There have been savings during the later months of the year, and the Government of India have reduced the regular estimate to Rs. 84,40,000. From the latest figures last supplied by the Accountant-General, the Lieutenant-Governor does not think it necessary to make a larger provision than Rs. 84,00,000.

Police.—The sanctioned estimate for 1880-81 was Rs. 40,70,000. The regular estimate was reduced to Rs. 39,97,000 with reference to the actual outgoings in the first six months of the year. The Government of India reduce this to Rs. 39,95,000. The Lieutenant-Governor prefers to adhere to the figure already adopted.

Marine.—The actual expenditure in 1879-80 was Rs. 10,68,279, and the budget estimate in 1880-81 was framed for Rs. 11,99,000. The regular estimate was reduced to Rs. 11,45,000, and this has been adopted by the Government of India. The details under this head are liable to considerable adjustment after the close of the year; but looking to the latest figures reported, the Lieutenant-Governor considers that the estimate may be further reduced to Rs. 11,00,000.

Education.—The estimates for 1880-81 showed an increase on Rs 24,75,226, the actual cost in 1879-80, chiefly to provide for enhanced expenditure in Middle and High Schools, and on grants-in-aid and assignments. The Government of India have raised the regular estimate from Rs. 25,20,000 to Rs. 25,64,000, and this figure will be adopted.

Medical.—The expenditure under this head is showing a steady and satisfactory decrease. The actual charges were Rs. 14,86,050 in 1875-76, Rs. 13,62,918 in 1876-77, Rs. 13,84,869 in 1877-78, Rs. 12,31,000 in 1878-79, and Rs. 11,69,944 in 1879-80. The regular estimate for 1880-81 is Rs. 11,39,000. A reduction is shown under nearly every head except "Grants for medical purposes." The Government of India have raised the estimate to Rs. 11,48,000 The Lieutenant-Governor, however, considers that a provision of Rs. 11,25,000 will suffice.

Stationery and Printing.—The provincial items under this head are Stationery supplied from central stores, Stationery purchased in the country (provincial), Government Presses, Printing at private presses, and Rents, rates, and taxes. The budget estimate for 1880-81 included a provision of Rs. 6,41,000 for stamps and stationery supplied from the central stores. As has already been stated, the charge for stamps has now been transferred to the head of Stamps. In the regular estimate the provision was accordingly reduced to Rs. 5,21,000 on account of stationery only, and the gross estimate stands at Rs. 8,55,000. The Government of India have raised the estimate to Rs. 8,73,000 with reference to reported disbursements, and this figure will be adopted.

Miscellaneous.—The chief item under this head, besides rents, rates, and taxes on Government buildings, is "Miscellaneous and unforeseen charges." The gross charge is therefore liable to considerable variation. The actual expenditure in 1879-80 was Rs. 4,32,026, and the regular estimate for 1880-81 is Rs 3,66,000. The estimate includes a provision of Rs. 1,00,000 for Miscellaneous and unforeseen charges.

Railways.—The original estimate for the working expenses of Railways was Rs. 17,90,000. The regular estimate was submitted for Rs. 16,50,000. This has been raised by the Government of India to Rs. 16,85,000. On this estimate the net earnings of the Railways would be Rs. 12,50,000 in 1880-81. The budget estimate only anticipated net earnings amounting to Rs. 9,35,000. The net earnings have thus been Rs. 5,00,000 in 1878-79, Rs. 5,91,000 in 1879-80, and probably not less than Rs 12,50,000 in 1880-81. The position of the different lines in relation to capital expenditure and net earnings will be examined further on. The Government of India have added to the regular estimate under this head a sum of Rs. 3,26,000 which includes an expenditure of Rs. 2,20,000 on account of the Sonapore-Mugrah line.

Irrigation and Navigation.—Under this head provision was originally made for an expenditure of Rs. 21,60,000 on the Provincial account. The estimate was subsequently increased by the inclusion of a grant of Rs. 2,50,000 on account of the Jujooty Project. The revised budget estimate therefore stood at Rs. 24,10,000. The regular estimate amounts to Rs. 25,69,500, or in round numbers Rs. 25,70,000. It comprises an expenditure of Rs. 4,74,500 on the different provincial projects, including Rs. 76,000 for initial expenditure on the Orissa Coast Canal, Rs. 11,12,000 on account of working and maintenance charges of the Orissa Tidal Creeks, Circular Canals, and Nuddea Rivers, and Rs. 9,83,000 on account of working expenses of the Orissa, Midnapore, and Sone Canals. The receipts under the second head are estimated at Rs. 6,35,000 and under the third at Rs. 10,00,000.

Other Public Works.—The revised regular estimate provided for an expenditure under this head of Rs. 42,92,000. A further grant of Rs. 1,50,000 was made during the year, and the regular estimate stands at Rs. 44,42,000, including an expenditure of Rs. 39,000 by civil officers, chiefly on account of ferries.

Contributions.—Under this head appears the second instalment of the contribution of Rs. 20,00,000 made by the Provincial Government to the Imperial Treasury in 1879 in order to avoid the necessity of wholesale reductions in all departments of the Public Service, consequent on the difficulties of the Government of India. The "Contributions to local" include grants for roads to the Sonthal Pergunnahs, Chittagong Hill Tracts and Singbhoom, where the Cess Act is not in force, and to other districts to enable them to execute necessary works. It also includes the cost of collecting the Public Works Cess by the district establishments.

Budget Estimate for 1881-82.

The table appended to this Resolution shows the estimated revenue and expenditure in Bengal during 1881-82 under the heads of Imperial, Provincial, and Local. The gross revenue is Rs. 17,03,58,000; and the expenditure under the different heads in the province is only Rs. 8,00,83,000. The only heads of Imperial taxation under which the sum payable by every hundred of the population can be estimated are Land Revenue and Assessed Taxes (license-tax). The receipts under Customs and Salt include duty paid on goods consumed outside the province. The rate per hundred of population under Land Revenue and Assessed Taxes is Rs. 56·7 and Rs. 2·5 respectively. The rates per hundred paid under the Provincial heads of revenue are—Stamps Rs. 13·6, Excise (spirits, &c.) Rs. 11·4, Excise Opium Rs. 2·1, Provincial Rates Rs. 5·3 Registration Rs. 1·5. Under the Local head of Provincial Rates (road cess) the proportion is Rs. 5·5.

The following are the estimates of Provincial Revenue and Expenditure for the current year:—

Provincial Service Receipts.

Excise.—Under this head the Government of India have reduced the estimate from Rs. 87,00,000 to Rs. 83,00,000. The receipts for 1880-81 will probably not be less than Rs. 85,50,000, and the settlements for the current year are very favourable. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that the budget estimate for 1881-82 may safely be placed at 90 lakhs.

Customs.—Both the local Government and the Government of India estimate the receipts under this head at Rs. 74,000, against Rs. 1,18,000, the regular estimate for 1880-81. The regular estimate includes large confiscations of cotton-goods, and penalties for misdescription, most of which will have to be refunded by order of Government. The estimate of Rs. 74,000 will stand.

Salt.—The fees and fines of the Inland Customs Department, hitherto included under this head, have now been omitted, the Government of India agreeing to increase the Imperial allotment by Rs. 12,000, the amount which it was originally estimated this Government would derive from them. The budget estimate will be raised to Rs. 1,35,000, the figure adopted as the regular estimate for 1880-81.

Stamps.—The Government of India has reduced the estimate of receipts under Stamps from Rs. 1,20,00,000 to Rs. 1,16,00,000. As the stamp revenue has fallen off generally during some of the past few months, the original estimate of Rs. 1,20,00,000 may not be realized. There is, however, no reason to apprehend that the ordinary receipts will be less than in 1880-81. Indeed, there are signs of recovery since the year opened. In the estimate for 1881-82 a new head of receipts, "Sale of stamps for copies," has been included under the operation of the High Court's Circular No. 35, dated the 1st October 1880, prescribing rules for granting copies of records. The receipts from this source are expected to amount to Rs. 4,20,000. It will be safe, therefore, to estimate the total receipts for the current year at Rs. 1,18,00,000, and this amount will accordingly be adopted for 1881-82.

Registration.—If, as is anticipated, the Registration receipts in 1880-81 will not exceed the actuals of 1879-80, which were Rs. 10,29,000, the estimate for 1881-82 cannot be put at much a higher figure than Rs. 10,50,000, even after allowing for some increase of registration all over the province. The original estimate will accordingly be reduced to Rs. 10,50,000.

Law and Justice.—The falling off in the regular estimate for 1880-81 is due to Jail receipts not coming up to the anticipated amount. For 1881-82 there is a falling off under Law and Justice (proper), owing to fees for copying being levied by stamps. The extension of jail manufactures, however, is expected to lead to higher receipts. The estimate of Rs. 18,20,000, as originally passed, will stand.

Police.—Under a Resolution of this Department, dated the 29th April last, the receipts from Pounds situated within municipalities have in all instances been made over to the municipalities concerned. The receipts on this account, hitherto credited to the Provincial Services, averaged about Rs. 12,000 a year. The estimate of Police receipts will accordingly be reduced to Rs. 4,65,000.

Marine.—The original estimate is Rs. 11,75,000. This will be raised to Rs. 12,00,000 with reference to the recent increase in pilotage receipts.

Medical.—The receipts in 1879-80 were swelled by the payments of arrear contributions by the Calcutta Municipality for the Sealdah Hospital. The estimate of Rs. 1,65,000 for the year will stand.

Miscellaneous.—The falling off in the regular estimate for 1880-81, and in the estimate for 1881-82, is due to greater strictness with which deposits are scrutinized. Items that were formerly entered as deposits, and afterwards credited to Government as lapses, are now in many cases taken at once to service heads.

Railways.—The local estimate of receipts under State Railways has been reduced from Rs. 33,10,000 to Rs. 31,10,000 by the Government of India, Public Works Department. Looking to the steady increase in the traffic on the three principal lines, the Lieutenant-Governor considers that the estimate may safely stand at Rs. 32,10,000.

Irrigation.—The estimate under this head shows an increase of Rs. 2,38,000 on the regular estimate for 1880-81. There is an estimated increase of Rs. 47,200 from the Orissa Canals, of Rs. 62,600 from the Midnapore Canals, of Rs. 90,200 from the Sone Canals, of Rs. 22,000, from the Sarun Canal and of Rs. 16,000 from the Calcutta Canal and Nuddea Rivers.

Imperial Allotment.—The allotment for 1880-81 was, as has already been stated, Rs. 40,00,000. From this must be deducted the fixed sum of Rs. 3,75,000 on account of the growth of the revenue from Excise, Stamps, and Law and Justice proper, as provided in the contract of March 1877. The Imperial allotment for 1881-82 therefore stands at Rs. 36,25,000. Under this head credit should be taken for Rs. 2,00,000 on account of duty on Shajehanpore rum collected in the North-Western Provinces for the five years 1877—82. It is not probable that the claim of this Government will be settled in time for inclusion in the accounts of 1880-81. A provision of Rs. 10,000 should also be made on account of Jail and Printing charges against other Governments.. On the other hand, it will be necessary to provide for a payment of perhaps Rs. 25,000 to the Assam Administration on account of duty on Shahjehanpore rum consumed in that province.

Contribution.—A sum of Rs. 2,000 is entered under this head on account of contribution to Government for the services of executive officers of the Public Works Department for supervising district works.

PROVINCIAL SERVICE EXPENDITURE.

Interest.—The estimate of interest charges, adopted by the Government of India, is the one last advised by the Accountant-General, Public Works Department, and will stand.

Land Revenue.—The increase in Land Revenue charges has already been explained. The total charges in 1880-81 will probably amount to not less than Rs. 27,00,000, and the same amount will be required for the current year. There may be some reductions in the cost of sub-divisional establishments, but they will be counterbalanced by anticipated increases under other heads.

Refunds.—The budget estimate under this head is Rs. 6,46,000, and the Government of India have raised this to Rs. 7,81,000. The original estimate, however, was carefully framed. It includes an ample provision under the head of "Unclaimed or Lapsed Deposits," though, as has already been explained, a reduction under this head may be anticipated with the reduction under the receipt head "Miscellaneous." Local officers have also been instructed to exercise care in levying license-tax in doubtful cases, so that a decrease in the amount to be refunded under this head will probably be shown. The Lieutenant-Governor will adhere to the original estimate.

Excise.—The estimate is Rs 2,70,000 against a sanctioned grant of Rs. 2,60,000 in 1880-81. The increase is chiefly due to the appointment of two additional Inspectors for preventive work.

Stamps.—As has already been stated, this head now includes the cost of stamps supplied to Provincial Governments which was formerly shown under Stationery and Printing. There is an increase in the budget estimate from Rs. 4,24,000 to Rs. 4,34,000. As the revenue expands there must be an increase in the gross cost of the stamps and in the discount for selling them.

Registration.—As the estimate of receipts has been reduced, there will be a decrease in the estimated charges for commission. The original estimate of the Accountant-General was Rs. 6,32,000, and this will stand.

Administration.—The increase in the estimated expenditure, compared with the actuals of the last year, is due to provision made for the salary of the Examiner of Local Accounts and his establishment. There have also been increases in the Bengal Secretariat establishment.

Law and Justice.—The heavy increase under Law and Justice, compared with the estimates of past years, is due to increases under Jail manufactures, to the appointment of 25 additional Deputy Magistrates, and largely to the introduction of the new system under which copying fees are collected by stamps, and the copyists paid by Government. The Lieutenant-Governor would retain the original estimate of Rs. 91,21,000.

Police.—The increase in the estimate for 1881-82 is chiefly under District Executive Force, Village Police, and Special Police, as against a considerable decrease in Pounds. The refunds to constables of the balance of their clothing account are now taken under this head instead of Refunds. The cost of police employed in Government estates was formerly in some instances included in the grant for the management of estates. It is now shown under Police.

Marine.—The estimate for 1881-82 contains a provision of Rs. 1,00,000 for a pilot brig.

Education.—The estimate of expenditure is Rs. 26,90,000 against the regular estimate of Rs. 25,64,000 in 1880-81. The Lieutenant-Governor has added Rs. 1,00,000 to the grant for primary education. The grant under this head was reduced in 1876 under financial pressure.

Medical.—The budget estimate is Rs. 11,63,000, but this may be reduced to Rs. 11,25,000, the figure adopted for the regular estimate of 1880-81.

Railways.—The original estimate of working expenses of State Railways was Rs. 17,68,000. This has been raised by the Government of India to Rs. 18,90,000, provision being made for the purchase of four locomotives for the Calcutta and South-Eastern line. The gross estimate of Rs. 26,40,000 under this head also includes Rs. 7,50,000 for expenditure on the Sonapore-Mugra line. The net earnings from Railways were Rs. 5,91,000 in 1879-80, and probably Rs. 12,50,000 in 1880-81. It is expected that they will amount to Rs. 13,20,000 in 1881-82.

Irrigation and Navigation.—The budget estimate of expenditure is Rs. 40,00,000. This includes Rs. 10,00,000 for the Orissa Coast Canal, Rs. 2,50,000 for the Jujooty scheme, Rs. 50,000 for works and repairs on the Orissa Tidal Creeks, and Rs. 10,20,000 for works and repairs, comprising a new lock, on the Circular and Eastern Canals. The cost of establishment, tools and plant on these last works is estimated at Rs. 7,44,714. There will also be an expenditure of Rs. 30,750 on the Sarun Canal. The expenditure on the Orissa, Midnapore, Higellee, and Sone Canals will be Rs. 9,04,536. The estimate of receipts on these four canals is Rs. 12,00,000. The net earnings are therefore estimated at Rs. 2,95,464, against Rs. 1,73,614, the actuals of 1879-80.

Other Public Works.—The provision made under this head by the Lieutenant-Governor was Rs. 75,43,000. The Government of India have reduced the estimate to Rs. 57,93,000. The transfers to the head "Railways" amount to Rs. 7,50,000. The Lieutenant-Governor will allow the balance of the estimate, Rs. 67,93,000, to stand. He is satisfied that the Provincial Funds can bear this outlay without any undue reduction of the working balance, and numerous important schemes which have been postponed from time to time under the pressure of Imperial wants must now, in the interests of the administration of the province, be pushed forward to completion.

Contribution.—The amount provided for grants-in-aid to District Road Committees is Rs. 1,50,000, and to the three non-cess districts Rs. 45,000; the total is Rs. 1,95,000 This includes the grants made to the District Road Committees for the collection of the Public Works cess. The provision of Rs. 1,95,000 will accordingly stand.

Incorporated Local Funds.

The estimates of receipts and expenditure of Incorporated Local Funds, as passed by this Government, have been adopted by the Government of India. They are as follows :—

	Receipts.	Expenditure.
	Rs.	Rs.
District Road Fund	35,10,000	49,10,000
„ „ Account	5,000	59,000
„ Port Fund	2,95,000	3,02,000
Estates Improvement Fund	1,12,000	1,17,000
Inland Labour Transport Fund	1,27,000	78,000
Total ...	40,49,000	54,66,000
Add for rounding	.....	1,000
		54,67,000

The Inland Labour Transport Fund has been placed in deficit owing to the expenditure of its balances on the Emigration road from the Teesta. A sum of one lakh has been expended on the same work from Provincial Funds. Provincial Funds have also provided a steamer service and a tramway from Kownia to Kurigram. The Lieutenant-Governor now proposes to debit to Provincial revenues so much of the charges of the Labour Transport Fund as will enable it to start under the new Act with a credit balance of Rs. 20,000.

The working of the Provincial Contracts.

The scheme of decentralization which was initiated in 1871 received a remarkable development in 1877. Under the first essay of the system, the local Government was entrusted with the management chiefly of spending departments, such receipts as were connected with them being supplemented by large consolidated allotments for their maintenance. The only department in which the revenue exceeded expenditure was Registration; Police, Jails, Education, and Medical were services under which the receipts could never be expected to bear more than a very small ratio to the charges. It was therefore chiefly with a view to economy in administration that the Government of Lord Mayo determined to make the local Government responsible for the financial management of these branches of the Administration. In 1877 the system of decentralization took another step in advance. The Government of India, while handing over other great departments of expenditure to the local Government, also entrusted to its use and responsibility, on fixed terms of progressive payment, all the principal revenues which could be deemed capable of steady expansion under careful local management. The success of the earlier measure had been sufficient to ensure some extension of the principle; but the form which the extension took was in great measure determined by the decision to which the Secretary of State had come on the great question of famine relief. In his financial statement of March 1877, Sir John Strachey announced that it was the intention of the Government of India to meet charges for famine and unremunerative works out of revenue for the future. He proposed to place the Government in a position to do this, not by introducing any new Imperial taxation, but by extending the system of decentralization, and by making each local Government responsible for the management and charges of the great public works which had been constructed, and for the construction and management of those to be subsequently undertaken. He declared that the fundamental principle to be pursued in regard to public works was the enforcement of provincial responsibility only. The Government of India had not then sketched out any system of what was afterwards called "famine finance." It only wished to free its hands for the task of dealing with famine "by distributing between the various provinces the burden which now improperly rests on the Imperial revenues." Bengal was the only province, however, which was then considered able to carry the whole of its own burden. The charge for interest on productive public works was transferred to the Provincial account, and the Lieutenant-Governor was invited to raise by taxation the funds necessary to meet existing charges, as well as to provide for new works. The Public Works Cess Act of 1877 was accordingly introduced. Provincial responsibility for all productive works existing and future was definitely assumed, and the policy which the Secretary of State had affirmed was, in regard to this province, carried into effect. It may here be remarked that in other provinces the policy enunciated in 1877 was still incomplete when the "famine policy" was proclaimed in 1878. It thus came to pass that, while in other provinces it was expressly declared both in the "License" and the "Local Rates" Acts of 1878 that the taxes raised under them were to be at the unrestricted disposal of the Government of India for the relief of famine, in Bengal only the License Act contained such a declaration. The Bengal Public Works Cess Act of 1877 had been passed, and decentralization in regard to Bengal Public Works had been consummated before the scheme which underlay the legislation of 1878 was matured. The Bengal Cess was simply a link in the chain of decentralization. It was only connected with "famine finance" in so far as the payments for interest on Public Works capital by the local Government improved the general financial position of the Government of India, which had hitherto borne this charge, and placed it in funds to meet extraordinary expenditure for famine or any other exceptional demand, and in so far as any productive works must operate to protect the province from the effects of failure of its crops.

The decentralization measures of 1877 were of a threefold character—(1) certain departments of revenue were made over to Provincial management, some for fixed payments, some for progressive contributions to the Imperial Treasury; (2) certain departments of expenditure were made over to it with fixed allotments; (3) the public works which had been or were to be constructed with borrowed money were made over to it without any assignment. These arrangements were mutually inter-dependent. The first and second were connected, because, though fixed allotments only were made for expenditure, it was well recognized that expenditure could not be fixed, but must be progressive, and it was intended that the necessary increase in charges consequent on improved administration should be met out of the profits which the Provincial Government might derive from the assigned revenues over and above the amount of its contribution. The first and third were connected, because it was similarly recognized that the large responsibilities assumed by the local Government in regard to public works should be merged in the aggregate of its ways and means. It was only reasonable therefore that the progressive contributions under the heads of assigned revenue should be so fixed as to leave the local Government a margin for the discharge of its actual responsibilities, as well as for the improvement of the province. This was definitely recognized by the Government of India when it declared that the contracts were to be absolute for a term of five years. It said: "Inasmuch as a considerable burden is being now imposed upon the province of Bengal in order to guarantee to the Imperial revenues the interest on the capital spent in Bengal on the construction of canals and railways, the Government of India has consented for the present to abstain from claiming any part of the further increase which may be expected to these revenues in consequence of the greater attention that they will now doubtless receive from the Local Government."

Before the details of the contract of 1877 are examined, it will be convenient to state briefly how the arrangements made in 1871 then stood. Under the Resolution of 14th December 1870, Lord Mayo's Government entrusted the Government of Bengal with the financial management of the Departments of Police, Jails, Registration, Education, Medical, Printing, Roads, and Civil Buildings. The original assignment which, with the receipts obtainable under some of these heads, was to enable the local Government to administer the departments, was Rs. 1,16,85,920. Some additions and deductions were subsequently made, the principal modification being the deduction of Rs. 13,30,000 on the separation of Assam from Bengal In March 1877 the provincial allotment on account of these services stood at Rs. 1,10,59,000.

Under the contract of March 1877 the local Government was further entrusted with the management of the following heads of revenue: (1) Excise, (2) Customs (Miscellaneous Receipts), (3) Salt (Minor Items); (4) Stamps; (5) Law and Justice (proper); (6) Marine, and (7) Miscellaneous; and of the following heads of expenditure: (1) Refunds of the assigned revenues; (2) Land Revenue; (3) Excise; (4) Customs, (5) Salt, (6) Stamps, (7) Administration, (8) Minor Departments, (9) Law and Justice, (10) Marine, (11) Miscellaneous, and one or two smaller items. The allotment made under the heads of Expenditure was Rs. 1,34,70,000, and the total, including the existing allotment under the heads previously transferred, was Rs. 2,45,29,000. From this was deducted, on not very intelligible grounds, a lump sum of Rs. 5,90,000, and the net consolidated grant was thus reduced to Rs. 2,39,39,000. The payments to be made on account of the assigned revenues in the first year amounted to Rs. 1,91,07,000, and this was to be increased every year by Rs. 3,75,000 under the heads of Excise, Stamps, and Law and Justice. The balance represented the Imperial allotment to the Provincial revenues. It was thus to be Rs 48,32,000 in 1877-78, Rs. 44,57,000 in 1878-79, Rs. 40,82,000 in 1879-80, Rs. 37,07,000 in 1880-81, and Rs. 33,32,000 in 1881-82. Adjustments under various heads, however, always operate to modify these figures.

The following table shows at a glance the progress of the Provincial revenue and expenditure during the five years. The revenue side of the account includes the proceeds of the Public Works Cess and the receipts from Railways and Canals. On the expenditure side appear the charges for interest on the capital expended and the cost of maintenance. The sum entered as a receipt under "Assessed taxes" is simply the grant made to the Provincial revenues to meet the cost of collections and refunds on account of the License-tax.

This statement would show that the Provincial revenues have increased from Rs. 2,69,11,000 to Rs. 3,68,28,000 during the five years, while the expenditure on all accounts has increased from Rs. 3,08,60,000 to Rs. 4,40,95,000. The year 1877-78, however, cannot properly be compared with the succeeding years. In the first place, the whole amount of the Public Works Cess could not be levied during that year. This circumstance affects both sides of the account; for, though the charge for interest for which the local Government was liable in that year on account of capital expenditure on public works up to the close of 1876-77 was Rs. 27,47,000, the Government of India in consideration of the short levy of the cess only insisted on a payment of Rs. 20,00,000. Moreover, the accounts of the Provincial Services for this year do not include several important items which were afterwards shown under the heads of "Police," "Irrigation and Navigation," and "Other Public Works" on the abolition of the "Provincial Reserve." From 1878-79 the income from Pounds and some smaller receipts appear under "Police," receipts from tolls on the Nuddea Rivers and Calcutta and Eastern Canals appear under "Irrigation and Navigation," and receipts from ferries, rents from Strand Bank, and other items appear under "Other Public Works." Finally, there is no entry under assessed taxes in 1877-78 as the license-tax had not then been introduced. It may be observed, though this has no bearing on the aggregate figures, that the receipts shown under "Land Revenue" in the accounts of this year, consisting of record-room receipts and land registration fees, were subsequently transferred—first to "Miscellaneous" and then to "Registration." The receipts which, from 1878-79, were shown under a new heading "Minor Departments" were previously shown under other heads, chiefly "Miscellaneous."

From 1878-79, however, accurate comparison of the condition of the finances in the different years is possible. The gross revenue was Rs. 3,20,78,000 in 1878-79; it is estimated that it will be Rs. 3,68,28,000 in 1881-82. In other words, the revenue has increased at the rate of about 16 lakhs of rupees a year for the three years, though there has been no new taxation in the interval. Of the sum of Rs. 47,50,000, by which the gross estimates for 1881-82 exceed the actuals for 1878-79, Excise contributes 20 lakhs, Stamps 10 lakhs, Jails 3 lakhs, Railways 14½ lakhs, Irrigation and Navigation, 3½ lakhs. On the other hand there is a decrease of over ¾ of a lakh in Provincial rates, of about 1¼ lakh under Law and Justice proper, and about 1½ lakh under Miscellaneous. The chief increases in expenditure are—Interest 5½ lakhs, Land Revenue 1½ lakh, Stamps 2 lakhs, Law and Justice 4 lakhs, Jails 4 lakhs, Education 2 lakhs, Railways 17½ lakhs, Irrigation and Navigation 25 lakhs, and other Public Works 29 lakhs. A decrease of nearly a lakh is shown under Stationery and Printing, corresponding with a part of the increase under Stamps.

The progress of the revenue under EXCISE is one of the most satisfactory features in the Statement. While the revenue has increased from 70¼ lakhs in 1878-79 to 85½ in 1880-81, and 90 in 1881-82, the cost of collecting it has declined from Rs. 2,83,000 to Rs. 2,70,000. This is the result partly of the extension of the outstill system, and partly of the great prosperity of the province during this period. There can be no question that the outstill system is the only system under which an excise on spirits can be properly administered in rural tracts in this country. Under the sudder distillery system, all spirits that paid duty were manufactured at a Government distillery. Each licensed vendor kept a still within the limits of this establishment; he had to maintain servants to work it; he had to journey in most cases long distances backwards and forwards between his shop and still, to spend money in conveying the manufactured spirits to the place of sale, to secure the good-will of the distillery staff, and to undergo various other expenses and inconveniences. It cannot be doubted that in many cases he only distilled publicly and paid duty on a sufficient quantity of spirits to enable him to keep up the necessary appearance, and that he supplemented this by a supply of illicit liquor, or adulterated it to increase his profit. The preventive establishment, if only from its weakness, was altogether unable to cope with the illicit distillation that went on all over the country. Under the outstill system each vendor purchases the right to manufacture and sell spirits within the area commanded by his shop. He makes the spirits with his own rude appliances, and suits it to the taste of his consumers, while, as it is his interest to suppress competition, he and his agents act as preventive officers throughout the tract. The revenue is protected, while the people are provided with wholesome liquor which is reported to be weaning them from the use of ganja and other deleterious drugs. The liquor is cheaper than the distillery spirit previously sold, but a series of experiments has shown that it is also weaker by from 23 to 24 degrees; so that the price according to alcoholic strength is much the same. The fact that during the current year the number of shops has been reduced, while the price paid for the licenses has largely increased, shows that the system is being carefully administered, and that there is no danger of undue cheapening of liquor. That there has been an increased consumption of liquor is very probable, but this is the result, not of undue facilities for obtaining liquor, but of increased facilities for obtaining duty paid liquor, and, no doubt, of increased power to purchase it. A succession of good harvests with high prices has provided the people with money to spend on luxuries, and among these exciseable articles, in this as in all countries, hold a high place. There has been a large increase in the consumption of duty-paying liquor where the sudder distillery system has been maintained, and there has been an increase in the consumption of excise opium, of piece-goods, and of everything on which prosperous peasants are disposed to spend their surplus funds. The revenue from excise opium was Rs 12,49,000 in 1877-78, Rs. 13,35,000 in 1878-79, and Rs. 13,62,000 in 1879-80, and it is estimated to amount to Rs. 13,95,000 in 1880-81. The price has been increased, but the increase in consumption still proceeds, and the receipts will probably not be less than Rs. 14,30,000 in 1881-82. The increased consumption of piece-goods also bears unmistakable testimony to the increased prosperity of the country, and confirms the view that the excise revenue has been to a great extent improved by the greater spending power of the people. The value of these goods carried to Bengal or Behar districts by the Eastern Bengal and East Indian Railways was Rs. 6,44,31,000 in 1879-80, and Rs. 6,91,16,000 in 1880-81.

The incidence of the excise revenue on the people is very small. The rate per hundred of the population of the province was only Rs. 11 in 1879-80. In Calcutta it was Rs. 174, in Bhagulpore Division Rs. 13, in Orissa Rs. 12 (chiefly from opium), in Dacca Rs. 6, and in Chittagong Rs. 5. The revenue from country spirits, according to the latest figures available, was only Rs. 7 on every hundred persons in the Patna Division, and Rs. 6 on every hundred in the Bhagulpore Division. In Durbhunga and Mozufferpore, both in the Patna Division, it was only Re. 1 and Rs. 2 respectively. That the revenue produced bore any close relation to the quantity of spirits consumed is quite incredible. The increase in the revenue that has followed, especially in these divisions, on the extension of the outstill system, largely represents revenue which was lost through illicit distillation under the old system.

The excise revenue was made over to the management of the Provincial Government for a payment rising from 64 lakhs in 1877-78 to 68 lakhs in 1881-82. The gross profit made by the Bengal Government has thus been, roughly, 4½ lakhs in the first year, 5¼ lakhs in the second, 6 lakhs in the third, 18½ lakhs in the fourth, and 22 lakhs in the fifth. The fixed grant for managing the revenue is Rs. 2,92,000. The actual cost was Rs. 3,06,000 in 1877-78. This has been reduced by careful management to Rs. 2,70,000 in 1881-82. Thus in 1881-82 the excise receipts will exceed the estimated receipts of 1877-78 by no less than 26 lakhs of rupees, while the expenditure for collecting the revenue and managing the department will show a reduction of Rs. 22,000.

Under STAMPS the increase has been less rapid than under excise. It has nevertheless been very satisfactory and sustained. The actual receipts in 1876-77 were Rs. 95,48,000, and the revenue was made over to the Provincial Government for a payment rising by 2½ lakhs a year from Rs. 98,50,000 in 1877-78 to Rs. 1,08,50,000 in 1881-82. In 1877-78, however, there was a large increase in receipts owing to the operations under the Land Registration Act, and the actual revenue collected was Rs. 1,08,15,000. In 1878-79 the receipts were Rs. 1,07,85,000. In 1879-80 the receipts rose to Rs. 1,14,99,000, and in 1880-81 this advance may be said to have been sustained. In 1881-82 there will be a still further increase, probably to Rs. 1,18,00,000. The increase in the estimated receipts, however, will be the result of a change introduced by the High Court in the procedure for obtaining copies of documents, and there will be a corresponding decrease in fees formerly credited to Law and Justice, and an increase in the cost of establishments debitable to the same head. The steady and substantial increase in the Stamp Revenue from Rs. 95,48,000 in 1876-77 to Rs. 1,14,00,000 in 1880-81 is undoubtedly to a great extent the result of increased circulation of wealth in the country, and increased facilities for obtaining justice. But much of the increase is also due to improved administration of the department and special measures taken to discover and check fraud in the use of stamps. The gross profit of the Provincial Government has been roughly 9½ lakhs in 1877-78, 6¾ lakhs in 1878-79, 11½ lakhs in 1879-80, 8 lakhs in 1880-81, and 9½ lakhs in 1881-82. The fixed grant for managing this department of the revenue is Rs. 2,38,000. The actual cost was Rs. 2,48,000 in 1877-78, and Rs. 2,51,000 in 1878-79. It is estimated to be Rs. 4,34,000 in 1881-82. The increase in the first years corresponds with the increase in the receipts. Larger sales of stamps must be attended by increased charges for discount. The increase in the later years is due to the transfer of the actual cost of the stamps from the head of "Stationery." The fixed grant under "Stationery" for both stamps and stationery is Rs. 4,98,000. The actual expenditure on both was Rs. 6,89,000 in 1878-79. The expenditure on stationery alone is estimated to be Rs. 6,23,000 in 1881-82, while the charge for stamps supplied from the stores is estimated to be Rs. 1,60,000. These are charges which must be expected to grow as the different branches of the revenue and of the administration are developed.

Under REGISTRATION the receipts have steadily increased, though the progress has not been so rapid in the later as it was in the earlier years. The figures from 1878-79 include Record-room receipts and Land Registration fees transferred from Land Revenue. The Registration receipts proper were Rs. 6,61,000 in 1877-78, Rs. 8,70,000 in 1878-79, Rs. 9,09,000 in 1879-80. No advance is expected in 1880-81, and only a slight advance in 1881-82. They were only Rs. 3,66,978 in 1871-72, the first year that the revenue was under Provincial management. With increased receipts there is naturally an advance in the charges for commission on fees, by which most of the Sub-Registrars are remunerated.

LAW AND JUSTICE is the third of the branches of revenue surrendered in 1877 for a progressive payment. The actual receipts in 1876-77 were Rs. 7,30,000. The revenue was surrendered to the Provincial Government for a payment rising by ¼ lakh a year from Rs. 7,25,000 in 1877-78 to Rs. 8,25,000 in 1881-82. The actual receipts have been Rs. 8,05,000 in 1877-78, Rs. 10,52,000 in 1878-79, and Rs. 10,80,000 in 1879-80, and they are estimated to be Rs. 9,75,000 in 1880-81 and Rs. 9,20,000 in 1881-82. The increase in the revenue was chiefly under the head of fees, and corresponded in some measure with the increase under Stamps. The falling off in the later years is explained by the new procedure already alluded to in connection with stamps. The expenditure under Law and Justice shows a large increase from Rs. 63,77,000 in 1877-78 to Rs. 68,69,000 in 1881-82. The fixed grant for this service under the five years' settlement between the Imperial and Local Government is Rs. 62,97,000. There has thus been a heavy charge on Provincial Funds. It was, however, precisely in order that the local Government might have the means of providing for improved administration, involving increased expense, that improvable revenue was made over to it. The Lieutenant-Governor has been able to strengthen the Subordinate Executive Service, and he has been able to increase the number of moonsifs to meet the growing wants of the country in the administration of Civil Justice.

Under JAILS the receipts were Rs. 6,89,000 in 1877-78. They are estimated to amount to Rs. 7,25,000 in 1880-81 and Rs. 9,00,000 in 1881-82. The charges on the other hand rose from Rs. 16,51,000 in 1877-78 to Rs. 18,41,000 in 1879-80. For 1880-81 they are estimated at Rs. 17,00,000, and for 1881-82 at Rs. 22,52,000. A great part of the increase in the current year will be incurred in the purchase of raw materials for jail manufactures. It is necessary to explain that the actual receipts shown to the credit of Jails in the accounts do not represent the outturn of the work of the prisoners. Only cash payments are shown: work done for the Jail Department itself and for other departments of the public service is only acknowledged by departmental credits. The importance of the work done by the jails in supplying clothing, oil, and other requirements of the public service is increasing every day.

The fixed grant for the charges on account of LAND REVENUE made in 1877 was Rs. 22,62,000. With the charges which this was intended to cover have been amalgamated others, chiefly for sub-divisional establishments, which were originally Provincial. The gross cost of all in 1876-77 was Rs. 23,53,000: The growing wants of the administration, however, have since carried the expenditure far beyond this limit. A grant of Rs. 1,80,000 has since been made for the management of Government estates. The estimate for each of the years 1880-81 and 1881-82 is Rs. 27,00,000. Establishments have been strengthened and made more efficient, and additions have been made to the staff of Deputy Collectors.

For the charges recorded under the head of ADMINISTRATION the Imperial Treasury allows a fixed grant of Rs. 12,61,000. The cost now exceeds this by 2 lakhs a year. The difference is met from Provincial funds.

The expenditure on EDUCATION was Rs. 19,58,000 in 1871-72. This included the charges in Assam. In 1875-76 the expenditure in Bengal amounted to Rs., 26,32,000. In the next year Sir Richard Temple under financial pressure reduced the expenditure to Rs. 24,48,000. Sir Ashley Eden has now been able to make full provision for the needs of this important department. He has been able to replace one lakh of rupees reduced from the grant for Primary Education in 1876-77, and the gross expenditure allowed for 1881-82 is Rs. 26,90,000.

In the MEDICAL administration important savings have been made. The management of the Metropolitan Hospitals has been reformed, and much waste of public money has been prevented. Government aid to dispensaries in the interior no longer takes the form of a free supply of expensive instruments and drugs, and careful management has ensued from the responsibility thus thrown on the directing Committees. The charges which amounted to Rs. 14,86,000 in 1875-76, Rs. 13,63,000 in 1876-77, and Rs. 13,85,000 in 1877-78 were reduced to Rs. 12,31,000 in 1878-79 and Rs. 11,70,000 in 1879-80. In 1880-81 and 1881-82 the estimate is Rs. 11,25,000. With this reduction in cost there has been an increase in the number of persons actually receiving medical aid.

It will be convenient to consider together the figures under PUBLIC WORKS and the figures of the INTEREST payable on the capital invested in them. In 1877 the following works were made over to the management of the Government of Bengal with the responsibility for the payment of the interest charges on the capital expended on their construction :—Northern Bengal Railway, Tirhoot Railway, Nalhati Railway, Orissa Canals, Midnapore High Level Canal, Hidgellee Canal and Sone Canals. The Calcutta and South-Eastern Railway was also made over; but as this line had been making barely sufficient to cover the working expenses, no interest was charged on the capital. The amount of capital expenditure on which the Provincial Government was liable for interest up to the end of 1877-78 was—

	Rs.
Railways	2,10,17,000
Canals	4,56,43,000
	6,66,60 000

The sum due for interest on this capital was Rs. 30,00,000; but, as has already been explained, the Government of India only took Rs. 20,00,000 in this year. In 1878-79 the capital expenditure on Railways was Rs. 66,41,000, chiefly on the extension of the Northern Bengal line and the construction of the Patna and Gya line. The expenditure on Canals was Rs. 25,44,393. In 1879-80 the expenditure was Rs. 22,12,000 on Railways, and Rs. 16,14,000 on Canals. Of the first sum, however, Rs. 3,15,000 was provided from Provincial Funds in order to expedite the completion of the Patna-Gya line. It does not bear interest; but, under the rules of the Government of India, it must be shown as advanced from Imperial Funds, the charge being adjusted in the Provincial accounts as a contribution to the Imperial treasury. The regular estimate for 1880-81 provides for a capital expenditure of Rs. 9,08,000 only on Railways, and Rs. 15,00,000 on Canals. The budget estimate for 1881-82 provides from the funds at the disposal of the Supreme Government Rs. 29,98,500 for expenditure on Railways, chiefly for the extension of the Tirhoot line to Bettiah on the west and Peepra Ghât on the east, and Rs. 11,50,000 for expenditure on Canals. The Lieutenant-Governor has more than once represented the insufficiency of the allotment for capital expenditure on Railways in Bengal. Several schemes, which would enormously benefit the country and at the same time bring in a large revenue to the State, have been examined and matured, but the Government of India has felt itself bound by the orders of the Secretary of State not to exceed a total expenditure of 2½ millions sterling in India; and the claims of other provinces have been held to be more pressing than those of Bengal.

In 1877-78 the receipts under RAILWAYS amounted to Rs. 7,32,000 and the charges to Rs. 6,26,000: while the charges for interest amounted to Rs. 8,26,000. The Northern Bengal line was only opened from Poradah to Julpigoree in January 1878; and the extensions from Parbutipore to Rungpore and from Siligoree to Julpigoree were only ready for traffic, the former in July and the latter in November 1878. The Patna-Gya line and the extension of the Northern Bengal line to Kownia on the Teesta were opened for traffic in June 1879. In 1880 the Lieutenant-Governor was permitted by the Government of India to begin, as a provincial work, the construction of a line from Sonapore, on the Calcutta and South-Eastern line, to Mugra Hât, an important mart in the 24-Pergunnahs district, and a sum of Rs. 2,20,000 was expended upon it from Provincial Funds. This line is being constructed on the broad gauge, and it is hoped that it may be extended to Diamond Harbour. The estimates for 1881-82 include a charge of Rs. 7,50,000 for expenditure on this line. Provision has also been made under Other Public Works for the expenditure of Rs. 4,50,000 for preliminary work on a line to connect Parbutipore on the Northern Bengal Railway, with the important town of Dinagepore, and of two lakhs for raising and bridging the road from Mugra to Diamond Harbour to make it available for railway extension.

	1877-78.	1878-79.	1879-80.	1880-81, regular.	1881-82, budget.	REMARKS.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Gross receipts	7,32,000	17,53,000	25,14,000	29,35,000	32,10,000	*Includes cost of four new locomotives for Calcutta and South-Eastern line.
Working expenses	5,69,000	12,53,000	19,23,000	16,85,000	*18,90,000
Net profits ..	1,63,000	5,00,000	5,91,000	12,50,000	13,20,000

If the receipts of the Calcutta and South-Eastern line, on account of which no interest is payable, are excluded, the net receipts for 1880-81 would be Rs. 11,95,000, and for 1881-82 Rs. 13,70,000. The amount of interest payable on the capital in 1880-81 is estimated to be Rs. 13,50,000. The following table shows at a glance the capital expenditure on each of the three principal lines up to the close of 1880-81, with the percentage which the net earnings for that year bear to it. The sum entered opposite the Patna and Gya line includes Rs 3,15,000 spent from Provincial Funds:—

	Capital expenditure.	Net earnings.	Percentage.
	Rs.	Rs.
Northern Bengal ...	2,10,79,000	7,75,000	3·6
Patna and Gya ...	35,78,000	2,10,000	5·8
Tirhoot ...	56,57,000	2,25,000	3·9

It is estimated that in 1881-82 the Northern Bengal line will pay 4 per cent., the Patna and Gya line 6 per cent., and the completed portion of the Tirhoot line over 5 per cent.

It has been a matter of great regret to Sir Ashley Eden that so little has been done during the past four years to extend railway communication in this province. The financial success of any well designed railway in Bengal is a matter of certainty. The country teems with produce, which only seeks the means of communication with the great highways of commerce. It was once feared that the Gya line would not pay the interest charges on the capital expenditure, and it was with some difficulty that Sir Ashley Eden succeeded in obtaining sanction to the work. Yet in the first complete year during which it was opened the line made a clear profit, and it has already had an important effect on the prosperity of the tract south of the Ganges. The great increase in indirect revenue from the Behar districts has been largely the result of the opening of this line and of the Tirhoot line, whereby the people have been enabled to reap the advantages of favourable seasons. The gross traffic carried by the Tirhoot Railway has risen steadily from 7,75,000 maunds in 1877-78, 9,79,000 maunds in 1878-79, and 15,52,000 maunds in 1879-80, to 19,81,000 maunds in 1880-81, and there is reason to believe that the figures for the latter year are incomplete. A great improvement in the condition of the people and in the general revenues is similarly noticeable in the districts through which the Northern Bengal line passes. The development of the traffic on this line is very remarkable. Though the system of feeders has only just been commenced, the gross weight carried rose from 17,26,000 maunds in 1878-79 to 26,57,000 maunds in 1879-80 and 32,26,000 maunds in 1880-81. The following figures show the progress of the downward and upward traffic in some of the principal staples :—

There is still a vast field for railway expansion in Bengal, and it is a matter of great satisfaction to the Lieutenant-Governor that private enterprise is entering it. The success of the State lines shows that large profits await the investment of capital in these works. Sir Ashley Eden has for some time past been urging that as the State could not find the capital for a sufficiently rapid extension of railways, it was false economy to refuse to allow private companies to take up some of the lines under proper security for their future management. He will always welcome any project for the development of the country by the agency of private capitalists where the State is unable to do what is wanted within a reasonable time. In the meantime, however, he trusts that the agency of the State will not be idle, and that it will be possible to provide funds for the construction of some of the lines which have already been approved. A line from Bhugwangola through the districts of Moorshedabad and Nuddea to join the Eastern Bengal Railway; a line through Dacca to Naraingunge and Mymensingh; a line to connect the Tirhoot and Northern Bengal System, and thus encourage emigration from the North-Western Provinces and Behar to Assam; a line from Tirhoot to the Ganges opposite Patna; and a line to Diamond Harbour; are projects which hold out promise of excellent results in every respect. Some of these may no doubt be made from Provincial Funds; others from capital the interest of which is guaranteed by provincial funds; others by private companies.

The CANALS which were taken over by this Government in 1877 were financially of a very different character from railways, and there was, and still is, no hope of their being in a position to pay the interest on the capital invested in them for many years to come. The construction of the Orissa, Midnapore, and Hidgellee Canals was originally undertaken in 1863 by the East Indian Irrigation and Canal Company, with the most extravagant expectations of profit. Five years after the work had been begun, the Government of India purchased the canals from the Company for Rs. 1,17,28,560, and proceeded to develop a modified scheme. Up to the present these works have been a heavy drag on Provincial resources, which have to bear the charges. The receipts from irrigation on the Orissa and Midnapore Canals, however, are steadily increasing; leases are taking the place of yearly agreements; and, as the system of distributaries is extended, the revenue will gradually develop. There is no doubt that one great reason why these canals pay so little is that they were prematurely stopped under a false notion of economy. The head works and canals were finished, while the distributaries have never been constructed; the water is there and the people are ready to use it, but expenditure having been suspended, the water cannot be distributed. The new Coast Canal will increase the navigation receipts on the Orissa and Hidgellee works. The opening of the Sone Canals has given a great impetus to the extension of sugarcane cultivation, and has caused a considerable increase in the agricultural wealth of the tracts supplied. The Commissioner, in 1879-80, estimated the increase of profit derived from this source by the people of Shahabad at Rs. 4,73,000 per annum. The people are also beginning to use canal water as motive power in sugar and flour-mills. The cause of the decrease in revenue in 1880-81 has already been noticed. It is believed that the circumstances are exceptional, and that the Sone system will ultimately prove both economically and financially successful though this will be a matter of time.

The following table shows the net receipts from each work since 1877-78, with the interest charges payable in each year:—

	1877-78	1878-79	1879-80	Regular, 1880-81.	Budget, 1881-82.

Apart from these schemes, the Lieutenant-Governor has undertaken other irrigation and canal works from Provincial Funds. A sum of Rs. 6,28,000 has been spent on a canal to connect the river Gunduck with the principal water-courses of the Sarun district. A still more important work has been the Joojooty Scheme, whereby a constant supply of pure water from the river Damoodah will be poured into old channels in the Burdwan and Hooghly districts. The silting up of these channels was undoubtedly for many years the cause of much disease and suffering throughout a large tract of country, and the introduction of a copious supply of pure water for drinking and irrigation purposes has already had a marked effect on the health and prosperity of the people. With the admission of the river water there has been an almost entire disappearance of the epidemic which so long raged among the villages situated on the banks of the silted-up channels in the Hooghly district. It was calculated that nearly nine-tenths of the inhabitants of these villages were swept away in the epidemic which prevailed before 1877. The beds of these water-courses were studded with pools of stagnant water, which, as the dry season advanced, became more and more fœtid and noxious, and spread disease and death among the people who consumed the fluid. At the same time the drainage of the country was obstructed by the endeavours of the people to collect and retain water for agricultural purposes. The new work has already effected a complete change in the condition of this tract of country, and with its completion a great permanent improvement in the public health of the Burdwan and Hooghly districts is confidently anticipated. The cost of this scheme will be Rs. 6,91,000.

The condition of the Calcutta canal has hitherto been very unsatisfactory. The storm-water loaded with the sewage of the town discharged into it; boats grounded at low water, causing numerous accidents and hindering traffic; and the channels silted up, entailing very heavy annual expenses in maintenance. These defects will now be remedied. Large locks of 40 feet in width, with capacious basins, are being constructed, and it will thus be possible to maintain a sufficient depth of water in the canal. The canal has at the same time been widened, and ample accommodation has been provided for the traffic. A large intercepting sewer in the line of the Circular road to receive the drainage and storm-water of the town, and discharge it into the Salt-water Lakes will at once be constructed. In order to supply fresh water to the canal, and to afford the means of flushing the lower end of the new drainage channel, a large inlet is in course of construction at the Hooghly entrance of the canal. The Lieutenant-Governor has long urged on the Municipality of Calcutta the necessity of providing works for the exclusion of the storm-water of the town, and they have now consented to bear half the cost of this work. The other half will be met from Provincial Funds. It is expected that the total expenditure on the canal from Provincial Funds will have amounted to 14 lakhs by the end of 1881-82.

Finally, the Lieutenant-Governor has obtained sanction to the construction, from Provincial Funds, of a navigation canal to connect the existing tidal canal in Hidgellee with the Orissa system. This is a work of the first importance. Orissa is at present dependent on the sea for its communications with Bengal; the coasting trade can only be carried on by large vessels; the ports are bad; and if any serious failure of the crops were to occur, it would not be possible to throw a sufficient supply of food into the province. The projected canal will bring Orissa into direct inland communication with Bengal, steamers and country boats will be able to ply at all seasons of the year, and while the province will be protected from famine, a large expansion of trade may be confidently expected. The work is estimated to cost 33 lakhs of rupees, and has been commenced. Provision has been made in the budget for an expenditure of ten lakhs in 1881-82.

It is not possible to make any useful comparison of the expenditure under OTHER PUBLIC WORKS before and after the contracts of 1877. The expenditure on works during the scarcity of 1874 was abnormal, the provincial balances were exhausted, and the Government of India found it necessary to accept the outlay, and to make the local Government a net grant of five lakhs with which to begin the year 1876-77. The expenditure on Ordinary Public Works during that year was Rs. 25,59,000. In 1877-78 Sir Ashley Eden found it necessary to proceed with extreme caution in the matter of expenditure. The charges thrown upon the Provincial revenues on account of Productive Public Works were very serious; the full outturn of the Public Works Cess could not be obtained during the year; and he recognized the necessity of securing a substantial working balance to provide for emergencies. The expenditure in this year was therefore restricted to Rs. 25,12,000. In framing the revised estimates for 1878-79, the Lieutenant-Governor found it possible to make provision for various important and useful schemes that had been left in abeyance for want of funds; but in this year and the next the expenditure was, under instruction, kept down in consequence of the financial difficulties which famine, war, and adverse exchange had brought upon the Government of India. In 1879 the Government of India found itself compelled to call upon local Governments to make all possible reductions in expenditure. The orders went so far as to direct that no new work estimated to cost more than Rs. 2,500 should be commenced even though it might have already received the sanction of Government. In order to avoid the necessity of peremptorily putting a stop to works, the Lieutenant-Governor offered a special contribution of 20 lakhs to Imperial Funds. Under the influence of the same policy of retrenchment unduly low estimates were made for 1880-81, but the Lieutenant-Governor was afterwards permitted by the Government of India to increase the grant by 20 lakhs, and the expenditure during the year was Rs. 44,42,000. For the current year the Lieutenant-Governor has decided to make ample provision from the funds at his disposal. It seems to him wrong that large balances should be allowed to lie idle while the revenue is increasing and numerous works of improvement remain to be executed. The provision for the year is Rs. 67,93,000. It includes, besides miscellaneous improvements on buildings, and on the construction, bridging, and metalling of provincial roads, provision for new court-houses at Sealdah, Jessore, Mymensingh, Dacca, Ranchee, Gya, Durbhunga, and Motiharee, for various sub-divisional buildings and Moonsiffs' Courts, for new Jails at Julpigoree, Bogra, Pubna, Gya, Durbhunga, and Motiharee, for a college at Rampore Beauleah and a Railway school at Kurseong, and for the completion of the new Secretariat buildings and the new Obstetric Hospital at the Medical College.

That the system of decentralization has been thoroughly successful in Bengal is sufficiently clear from the foregoing sketch. The revenues have rapidly increased, independently of any new taxation; useless expenditure has been curtailed; and funds have been made available for improvement under all branches of the Administration. All grades of the service have shown the deepest interest in increasing the resources of Government, under the belief that the surplus revenue would be available for the good of the province. The three heads of improvable revenue made over to the management of the Provincial Government, with an income of 165¼ lakhs in 1876-77, will stand with an income of not less than 217¼ lakhs in 1881-82. In the meanwhile, the Lieutenant-Governor has been able to carry out numerous works of improvement on his own responsibility, many of which, under the previous system, would have been indefinitely postponed. Besides making a special contribution of 20 lakhs to the Imperial treasury in time of need, he has been able during these five years to increase the staff of executive and judicial officers; to provide increased facilities for the administration of justice; to increase the grant for education; to make grants-in-aid of district communications and of works of drainage, sanitation, and municipal improvement; to build schools, colleges, and hospitals; to replace the huts in which the public business was transacted, or prisoners were confined, by substantial masonry court-houses and jails; to spend 20 lakhs on railways which will bring in a large return, 5½ lakhs on tramways, ¾ of a lakh on a steamer service to improve communications with Assam, and 2 lakhs on a road to develop the trade with Thibet; to spend 11 lakhs on the first portion of a work which will develop the trade of Orissa and protect it from famine; and to spend 3¾ lakhs on improving navigation and providing a supply of pure water for the people. While 77½ lakhs have thus been expended on great measures of material improvement, and the expenditure on Ordinary Public Works has been increased from Rs. 25,12,000 in 1877-78 to Rs. 63,53,000, exclusive of expenditure on preliminary works of railway construction in 1881-82, and while no legitimate outlay has been spared to strengthen every department of the Administration, the five years' period, which opened with a credit balance of Rs. 2,88,000 only, will close with a credit balance of at least Rs. 14,46,000. When it is recollected that under the system which prevailed before 1871 every new charge required the sanction of the Imperial Government, that the decision on the demands of each province took no cognizance of the extent to which it had contributed to the general Exchequer, that nothing was to be gained by economy, because money left unspent by any one Government was practically lost to it and only went to increase the amount to be scrambled for by all, some idea may be gained of the advantages which Bengal has reaped from the control of its own finances. There is no department of the service which has not felt the benefit of the financial independence conferred on the Government immediately responsible for its administration.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the above Resolution be submitted to the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department, for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Board of Revenue, to the Accountant-General, and to all Departments of this Government, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON CHARITABLE DISPENSARIES IN BENGAL FOR 1880.

MEDICAL AND MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL.

Calcutta, the 27th June 1881.

RESOLUTION.

DURING the year 1880 the work of revising the system on which these institutions are maintained was steadily pursued. The reports of inspecting officers, and the researches of the Medical Committee, had left no room for doubt that on the one hand the public usefulness of most of the outlying dispensaries, as gauged by the figured statements of work submitted by them, had been greatly exaggerated, and on the other the assistance afforded by Government had been given on such a principle as to invite careless management, and a diversion of the public money from the charitable objects for which it was intended. Systematic enquiries were therefore made to ascertain what was the actual amount of charitable relief afforded by each dispensary, what was its financial position apart from the Government aid, how far its resources were properly and economically employed, and what hope there was that local charity would maintain the dispensary efficiently with the aid which Government has undertaken to grant. The general result is thus stated by the Surgeon-General:—"It has been found that in some places there has been accumulation of invested money, while the poor have been unrelieved; that in others promised subscriptions have remained unpaid, and while Government has continued to support the medical officer, he has been rendering no public service worthy of mention; that subscribed funds have been devoted to the payment of servants who have been useless for any legitimate purpose, serving mainly to enable the native doctor to absent himself from his dispensary without causing complaints; that apart from irregular fictitious entries, the attendance of patients has been multiplied designedly and on regular system, in order to present a plausible tale of work; that medicines have been issued confessedly to persons who had no right to them." In order to ensure some sort of supervision and some tangible responsibility for contributions, the dispensaries have, wherever this was possible, been transferred to the management of municipalities. The supply of medicines from the Government stores on free indent has been absolutely stopped. Medicines have been given, as in other provinces, at cost price, and in some cases a money grant has been made in support of the dispensary funds. It has been distinctly laid down that Government aid can only be continued if it is shown that proper economy is exercised in the administration of the charitable funds of the dispensary. Enquiry has shown that great extravagance has been exercised in some dispensaries in the maintenance of establishment Where the legitimate work of the dispensary was only sufficient to give employment to the Hospital Assistant and one menial, compounders and other servants were employed. The object of this was clear enough. The compounder looked after the dispensary, while the Hospital Assistant attended the richer subscribers at their homes, or sought private practice elsewhere It appeared to the Lieutenant-Governor that there could be no justification for applying the public revenues to the support of a charity, so long as the funds which they aided were diverted to other than charitable objects. It has accordingly been laid down that Government will only continue to pay a portion of the salary of the medical officer, and to contribute to the support of the dispensary, where the Managing Committee agrees to apply its funds to the bonâ fide charitable objects which alone Government has consented to assist.

2. The circumstances which these enquiries have brought to light show very clearly that the number of aided dispensaries in Bengal has far exceeded anything that Government had in view when it first consented to contribute to them, and that the convenience of the well-to-do, rather than the medical relief of the poor, has been promoted under a system which, in its origin, was intended to be purely charitable. In 1849 the Government of Bengal proposed to assist Baboos Joykisson and Rajkissen Mookerjee, zemindars of Ooterpara, in establishing a hospital and dispensary at that place. The proposal was that Government should pay half the cost of erecting the necessary buildings, and allow Rs. 100 a month for the maintenance of the institution, together with English medicines and instruments. In reviewing this proposal, the Government of India declared that, "as far as any general principle is concerned, it is certainly opposed to grants of the kind, inasmuch as it is beyond the recognized province of a Government to provide medical aid for the great body of its subjects." The letter went on to say that, though the British Government in India has for special reasons granted assistance of this nature to the people, that assistance had till then, with one exception, "been exclusively confined to towns at or in the neighbourhood of which a Government medical officer is stationed." "There are obvious objections to extending the privilege much further. As long as it is so restricted, there is a distinct line drawn, and the Government are able to discern the extreme extent to which it is possible that the State may be taxed for the purpose. This would of course cease to be the case if the privilege were once extended indiscriminately to every large town or village, the inhabitants of which might be desirous to avail themselves of it. Another very important objection also to generally extending the privilege (though not applicable to the present case) would be the absence of any supervision by European officers over the dispensaries, were they to become commonly established throughout the country. On these considerations, then, the President in Council would not ordinarily feel disposed to comply with an application for aid towards the establishment of a hospital at any place where there are no Government establishments and no Government officers." Nevertheless, as the President in Council was "most reluctant to oppose any obstacles in the way of these generous and humane efforts on the part of the wealthy members of the native community to improve the social condition of their countrymen," and as he apprehended that "unhappily such applications are likely to be very infrequent," the Government of India sanctioned the proposals on the distinct understanding that the grant was not made "upon any recognition of the general propriety of affording assistance from the State to such undertakings." Experience has shown that the Government of India entertained a just view of the dangers of multiplying dispensaries in the interior. The number of dispensaries has enormously increased in Bengal of late years, not because "generous and humane efforts" have been made by wealthy members of the native community to provide their poorer brethren with medical aid, but because Government has afforded undue facilities for obtaining European instruments and drugs, and the services of medical officers, at the public cost. In 1860 the total number of dispensaries was 57. In 1864 Government issued a set of rules under which it bound itself to defray a portion of the medical officer's pay and to accept other charges in the event of subscriptions to a certain amount being guaranteed, without any reference to the situation of the proposed dispensary. The apprehensions expressed by the Government of India in 1849 have been fully justified. The State has been taxed under the pretence of medical charity to an extent which was never contemplated. The number of charitable dispensaries increased from 57 in 1860 to 135 in 1867; in 1873 it was 198; in 1879 it was 255. It was sufficient for a few well-to-do persons to give a guarantee of subscriptions to a certain amount. A "charitable dispensary" was at once established. They were supplied with an Assistant Surgeon or Native Doctor, half, and in many cases the whole, of whose pay was defrayed by Government, with an expensive equipment of European instruments which were intended for the poor, but were never used, and an equally expensive equipment of European drugs which were also intended for the poor, but were chiefly used by themselves and their families. The results of the absence of supervision by European officers have markedly justified the objection of the Government of India. Dispensaries which receive State aid on the assumption that they relieve the sick poor, and which supply returns showing large numbers of patients, are found to do little more than afford medical attendance and drugs to the subscribers. Enquiry has shown that the returns are quite fictitious, and that they represent numbers far exceeding those actually relieved. The complaints that have been made indicate the object with which the subscribers originally contributed; and if a free supply of European medicines is not forthcoming, subscriptions are frequently withdrawn. In one place, it is complained, the supply of medicines, though sufficient for the dispensary patients, is "not sufficient for the amlah of the Nawab, the supporter of the dispensary." It is clear that the system has developed into something quite different from what the Government of India contemplated in 1849, and that, whether the provision of charitable medical relief is or is not an object in aid of which the funds of the State may properly be expended, a great part of the charge, thrown upon Government for the support of these dispensaries does not represent charitable relief at all. In one respect, however, though perhaps at too heavy a cost, the system has done good. It is reported that the people have learnt to appreciate European medicine and European treatment, and that the richer classes, finding that they can no longer obtain medicines gratuitously, are willing to purchase them from the dispensary stores. This, however, cannot be permitted. Medicines can only be supplied at cost price from Government stores for strictly charitable purposes. Private practitioners are now sufficiently numerous to supply medicines for those who are able to purchase them. The policy which the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to follow in regard to these dispensaries was stated in the Resolution on the last report. He is unwilling to take any active measures to contract the system generally. Wherever a dispensary, classed under the old rules, is found to be serving really charitable purposes and to require assistance, the existing arrangements will be maintained so long as the conditions of the rules are fulfilled. Only where this is not the case will the dispensary be closed. As regards the future, the Lieutenant-Governor considers that the principles of the Government of India's orders in 1849 should be observed. It is no longer necessary for Government to assist in the establishment of dispensaries with the view of introducing European medicine to the people. In the event of any epidemic, Government will of course, as it has always done, take special measures of medical relief, and where a Government medical officer is stationed, arrangements will always, as hitherto, be made for the relief of the sick poor if any necessity exists. But for ordinary purposes the existing system of dispensaries is more than sufficient, and it will be recognized in the new rules that Government will not bind itself, as a matter of course, to any fixed scale of aid for the establishment of new dispensaries.

3. The number of dispensaries open on 31st December 1879 was 255. Of these, 9 were removed from the list during the year. Some were closed because subscriptions were not forthcoming. The supporters of one were unwilling to recognize any control from Government after the privilege of a free supply of instruments and medicines had been withdrawn. It is very satisfactory to observe that the number of first class dispensaries,—that is of dispensaries which are entirely self-supporting,—has increased from 21 to 33. One dispensary was established in December. Returns are given from 251 dispensaries, as some were not closed till late in the year. Of the total number, 158 received in-door patients against 155 in 1879. The in-door work of most of these, however, was very trifling. Altogether 30 received less than 25 patients during the year; 80 received less than 100; and 126 less than 250. The in-door department of many of the smaller dispensaries has now been closed with the concurrence of the Committees. Dr. Payne, however, points out that arrangements for the reception of house-patients must be maintained in the dispensaries on pilgrim routes.

4. There was some improvement in the supervision exercised by the Managing Committees during the year. The number that met once a month or oftener was 39 against 26 in 1879. The number of Committees which held no meetings fell from 39 to 24. The number of visits paid by Civil Surgeons shows a reduction. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with Dr. Payne in thinking that it is not as a rule desirable that Civil Surgeons should leave their important duties at the head-quarters of the district to visit small dispensaries more frequently than twice a year. It is not satisfactory, however, that as many as 24 dispensaries received no visit of inspection during the year.

5. The recorded number of patients treated shows an increase on the previous year. As was stated in the last Resolution, however, there can be no doubt that the figures are utterly unreliable. It is to be hoped that careful scrutiny of the monthly returns, and proper enquiries on the occasion of inspections, may gradually induce some improvement; but the evidence of the Civil Surgeons makes it quite clear that in very many cases the Dispensary books are systematically written up without any reference to the number actually treated. It is impossible to distinguish trustworthy from imaginary figures, and no deduction regarding the condition of the public health or the usefulness of the dispensaries at large during the year can be drawn from the statistics. The following are the figures given for the past five years:—

1877	899,585
1878	956,256
1879	890,842
1880	911,662

The district figures present results similar to those noticed in the last Resolution. It may be inferred, from the remarkable absence of variation in the figures, that each dispensary continues to return what has been settled as its established number of patients. The divisional percentages of patients treated to the total population are—

	1879.	1880.
Burdwan	2·5	2·4
Presidency	2·29	2·29
Rajshahye	2·05	2·36
Orissa	1·54	1·44
Dacca	1·37	1·41
Chittagong	·58	·55
Patna	1·61	1·69
Bhagulpore	·87	·92
Chota Nagpore	·57	·51

No less than 13 districts show the same figure to one place of decimals as in the previous year.

6. The general death-rate of all the dispensaries is given as 15 per cent. Boda in Julpigoree and Aurungabad in Gya had 50 per cent., Raneegunge 41·15, Sherepore in Bogra 40, Barrackpore 37·2, Ranaghat 33·3, Deoghur 32·7, Serampore 29·9, Jajpore in Cuttack 29·4, Burhee in Hazaribagh 29·5, and Pooree 29·3. In some of these cases the high death-rate is explained either by the very small number treated, or by the class of patients received. Thus Boda and Aurungabad had 2 patients only during the year, and in each case 1 died. Sherepore treated 10 with 4 deaths, and Ranaghat 21 with 7 deaths. Raneegunge, Deoghur, Jajpore, Burhee, and Pooree come under the second category. They receive large numbers of pilgrims, of whom many only go to hospital in the last extremity of illness or debility, and thus they always show a large death-rate. The high death-rate at Barrackpore in 1878 and 1879 was noticed in the last Resolution. This dispensary has now been closed. At Serampore 417 patients were treated, and of these no less than 125 or 29·9 per cent. died. The Surgeon-General reports that the fatal cases occurred among pilgrims and starved people brought by the police.

7. The Surgeon-General has properly omitted the table purporting to show the proportion which the principal diseases bore to the total quantity of sickness returned. If the gross returns are useless because they are exaggerated, the particular returns of classified disease are doubly useless from the combination of want of truth and want of knowledge on the part of some of their compilers. Dr. Payne remarks: "Of the previous tables, it may be said that hereafter, if any approach to a true record should be made, they may serve to show the magnitude of the error which had to be corrected; but for the table which I now omit, even this inglorious future cannot be predicted, because, though dispensary records should come into relation with the public sickness of the day, proportions of disease, as named by most of the native doctors of 1880, will never be accepted even as types of error." This is severe criticism, but it is fully justified by facts which have been ascertained beyond doubt.

8. The increase in the consumption of cinchona febrifuge among the people is interesting. There is no reason to suppose that the increased demand was caused by any increase in the prevalence of fever. The figures for the last three years are—

	Quantity.			Value.
	lbs.	oz.	dr.	Rs.	A.	P.
1878-79	67	1	8	1,252	5	0
1879-80	103	9	12	1,885	15	0
1880-81	163	9	10	2,885	8	3

9. The number of major operations performed by Civil Surgeons as Superintendents of dispensaries was 513, against 492 in 1879 and 426 in 1878. The number performed by medical subordinates was 2,037, against 2,110 in 1880 and 2,274 in 1879. The total number of minor operations, including those remaining over from the previous year, was 46,696. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to see a steady increase in the number of operations performed by Civil Surgeons, and, if the decrease shown in the number of major operations performed by medical subordinates is genuine, he considers it a matter for regret. The Lieutenant-Governor does not doubt that Dr. Payne is justified in holding that the returns of minor operations are not trustworthy. Some of the facts which have been reported show that the figures cannot be accepted as a record of work really done; but it does not appear that the use of the new form of inspection report has lead to any great fictitious increase. The form was only introduced in 1879, and the total number of minor operations under treatment was 46,683 in 1879 and 46,696 in 1880. There was a decrease, it is true, in the number of cases at sudder dispensaries; but the increase at outlying dispensaries is only a part of the general increase in attendance that the returns exhibit, and it does not call for special remark. Fictitious returns under this head are merged in the great aggregate of fictitious returns. The pettiness or importance of the operations is a different question. So long as the actual importance of the petty operations returned is as correctly gauged as it is at present, no one is likely to be misled by the returns. But the mere fact that the operations are in many cases petty, affords no ground for excluding them altogether from the returns. On the whole, it seems to the Lieutenant-Governor that an increase in the returns of minor operations calls neither for special commendation, nor for serious denunciation. As regards major operations, the Lieutenant-Governor repeats what he has said on previous occasions, that the prosecution of surgery is one great means of obtaining the confidence of the people, and thus popularizing European treatment generally; and he will be glad to see an increase in the number of major operations performed.

10. The new forms of Financial Statement have only recently been introduced, and it has not been thought desirable to delay the report for the incorporation of the accounts of the different dispensaries. A separate report is promised by the Surgeon-General on this branch of the administration of the year.

11. Dr. Payne concludes his report with a detailed statement reviewing the working of each dispensary during the year. This statement will be very valuable for purposes of comparison hereafter. Meanwhile, it will serve to show Magistrates and Civil Surgeons the work done in other districts. Dr. Payne draws special attention to the interest displayed by Mr. Anderson, Magistrate of Bankoora, in the management of the dispensaries in his district. The Lieutenant-Governor believes that civil officers can do very much, with little trouble to themselves, to improve dispensary management and encourage the medical officers. The assistance of the police has been freely given with much advantage, in testing the statements on which hospital assistants base their applications for leave.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE HOOGHLY BRIDGE TRUST FOR THE YEAR 1880-81.

No. 813C.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL, P. W. DEPT.—COMMUNICATIONS.

Calcutta, the 21st June 1881.

READ—

Report of administration of the Hooghly Bridge Trust for the year ending 31st March 1881.

Read again—

Public Works Proceedings, (A) Communications for October 1880, Nos. 1-2, being the report of the administration of the Hooghly Bridge for the year 1879-80, together with the resolution passed thereon.

RESOLUTION.—The total receipts and expenditure on the Hooghly Bridge for the year 1880-81, including adjustment entries, &c., amounted to—

	Rs.
Receipts	4,55,141
Expenditure	4,05,811

The actual receipts and expenditure, excluding book adjustments, as compared with the estimated amounts, were as follow :—

	Estimated.	Actual.	More.	Less.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Receipts	3,72,387	3,93,741	21,354	.....
Expenditure	3,49,479	3,38,801	.....	10,678

2. At the close of the year, the aggregate of contributions, since 1874-75, towards repayment of loan amounted to Rs. 4,81,800, leaving Rs. 17,60,000 still remaining. The reserve fund invested in Government paper amounted to Rs. 3,35,989.

3. The receipts from railway traffic are in excess of the estimated and actual receipts of the previous year; but the receipts from local traffic are below the amount received in the previous year. This is owing to Messrs. Burn & Co. having paid for the lease of the tolls at the rate of Rs. 8,250 monthly, or Rs. 937 less than the amount paid by the former lessees. The railway and local traffic receipts are as follow :—

	1879-80.	1880-81.
	Actual.	Estimated.	Actual.
	Rs	Rs.	Rs.
Railway traffic	2,40,305	2,39,112	2,56,251
Local „	1,09,348	99,000	99,997

4. On the expiry, at the end of February 1881, of Messrs. Burn & Co.'s lease of the bridge tolls, new tenders were called for, and that of Baboo Jamuna Narain Tewary was accepted. This gentleman was placed in possession of the toll-bars on the 1st March current, and he has entered into an agreement, upon the usual security deposit, to pay Rs. 9,246-10 per mensem for the tolls. No alterations have been made in the schedule of tolls for the year 1881-82.

5. The ferry traffic has been maintained throughout the year by the new steamer Buckland. The steamer Howrah, which it was reported would be thoroughly overhauled and repaired, so as to fit her for a reserve vessel for the ferry traffic, was, upon examination, found to be in so bad a condition that it was not considered advisable to spend on her a sum of money to the extent that would be required to put her into serviceable order. Experiments were then made to ascertain whether the new steamer Hetty could not be utilized for the ferry service in the event of the Buckland being laid up for repairs or survey, but her deck space being too limited for the requirements of the traffic, it was found that she could be handled with the Howrah lashed alongside as a flat. The engines and boilers of the Howrah have therefore been sold, and the hull has, after thorough repairs, been converted into a flat for the ferry service in case of need. The vessel is now available as a reserve, in conjunction with the Hetty, for running the crossing traffic.

The steamer Hetty has been in constant requisition for towing vessels through the bridge, and has earned Rs. 16,848 during the year. Her dredging machinery has not been much utilized for want of a second hopper barge, and the arrangements for the blowing-out apparatus not having succeeded, she cannot be employed in dredging unless barges are in attendance. She will, however, be more fully utilized as a dredger during the current year as soon as the new hopper barge, now under construction, is finished.

6. Although 205 sea-going vessels passed up and down during the year, not one collided with the bridge. There were, however, 113 collisions of inland and country boats as follow :—

	In collision.	Sunk.
Inland steamers	2	...
Small launches	3	...
Country and cargo boats	108	4
Total ...	113	4

No lives were lost during the year.

7. The bridge appears to have been maintained in thorough repair during the year, and, with the help of the new break winches, which were completed during the year, the arrangements for opening and closing its movable sections are now far more perfect than they were when the structure was first opened for traffic.

ORDERS.—Ordered that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Bridge Commissioners for information.

Ordered, also, that this resolution be published in the Supplement of the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

The mean pressure, temperature &c. are deduced from the traces of the barograph and thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III. IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the traces of Beckley's anemographs.

o overcast, g gloomy, p passing temporary showers, d drizzling rain, t thunder.

N.B—In the Weekly Report from 12th to 18th June 1881, insert 114, 127 and 110 miles as daily movements of the wind on the 14th, 15th and 16th, and 16 miles as the highest velocity of the wind in one hour during the seven days in that week.

NOTE.

Barometric Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page, by adding the weight of a column of air of the temperatures given in column 18. For stations above 500 feet elevation the reduction is made by Captain Allan Cunningham's table, "Prof., Papers on Indian Engineering, No. CXIII." The temperatures at the sea-level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 18 on the preceding page, by adding 1° Fahrenheit for every 450 feet.

Wind Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and its comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance of the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Cloud.—This column gives the average proportion of clouded sky, a cloudless sky being indicated by 0, and one completely overcast by 1·0.

The above, being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which will show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

Report of Fluctuation of Traffic on the Tirhoot State Railway for the month of May 1881.

The total quantity of goods carried during the month of May 1881 aggregated 3,09,083 maunds, as compared with 2,42,000 maunds carried during the corresponding period of 1880, and 2,58,603 maunds carried during the previous month showing an increase of 67,083 maunds in the one case, and 50,480 maunds in the other. 15,637 maunds of railway material carried during the month for the Eastern and Western Extension of Tirhoot State Railway have been taken into account.

Of the several increases and decreases, the following are the prominent ones and worthy of separate explanation :—

Increases.

	Mds.
Coal.—This depends on work under construction in the district	9,007
Food-grains.—This traffic is now reviving from the check it sustained from the abundance of the crops everywhere	1,9.9
Garlic or Lussoon.—This is a temporary traffic and the increase cannot well be defined	5,121
Iron.—Due to the construction of a tramway by an indigo concern in Mozufferpore district ...	15,517
Lime and Kunkur.—Previous month's remarks are applicable to this	8,103
Piece-goods, English.—Last month was the season of Hindoo marriages and hence the increase ...	10,037
Railway material.—Due to the construction of the two extensions of the Tirhoot State Railway ...
Salt.—The business done during the month is very satisfactory and the reduction of rate was not out of place. A further and very much larger increase is expected next month	2,701
Stone ballast and wares.—This depends on work under engineering department	1,260
Sundries.—The increase is steady and satisfactory	17,9.3
Tobacco.—The late crop was favorable and hence the steady increase. In addition to this a little canvassing done at Durbhunga has drawn more of this staple over the railway than last year	25,041

Decreases.

Fruits, fresh.—Previous month's remarks are applicable to this also	4,359
Gunny-bags, empty.—This is due to the variation in quantity of monthly import or export ...	2,440
Hides and horns.—The decrease is due to the improved health of cattle in the district ...	1,651
